

HBH Chapter 787

Chapter 787 The Truth Comes Out

The people sitting on either side of the hall were silent, each bearing different thoughts in their minds.

“Since you’ve found out the cause, how do you plan to solve this matter, Prince Dominik?” Matthew, who was sitting beside Veronica, demanded sternly.

He removed his makeup in the side hall, but he re-applied the makeup before going to the main hall. Therefore, no one knew his true identity except for Eleanor and Veronica.

“Uh, I...” Dominik stammered. “Miss Veronica, although it was an accident, we would take responsibility for my brother’s reckless actions. May I know what compensation you want, Miss Veronica?”

Veronica felt the exchange was highly ironic. Could they truly compensate her in any way she wanted?

“Give me money. I’m an ordinary person, and I love money.”

After she arrived at the Hidden Clan, Crayson and the others were in charge of her finances. She could only spend when they deigned to give her some. If they didn’t give her any, it sucked.

heard someone snicker and secretly mocked her, but she the Hidden Clan. When she went to Crayson and asked for her items to be returned, he merely told her that he had left them in Castron. What else could ordinary people.” Dominik chuckled in amusement thoughts as she kept her. “Miss Veronica, please accept this as a token of our apology, and we thank you for your magnanimousness. When Liam wakes up, I’ll he gave her was a special black card. Passwords were not required, and she could withdraw money from specific banks. This kind royal family, who were more concerned about their reputation. Since it would not be good for this matter, so the best way to solve the problem was to it on receiving a beating. Fortunately, Liam didn’t two left, the rest began to sip before asking lightly, “Dominik, asked flatly as

just came off the