

HC Chapter 711

“Buzzing-”

Ye Jingzhan’s mobile phone suddenly vibrated.

Four or five pairs of eyes looked at him at the same time.

He glanced at the caller ID and pursed his lips, “It’s K calling.”

Ye Yunla let out a sigh of relief, it seemed that nothing had happened to K. She said in a light voice, “Answer it, ask how the situation is.”

As soon as the call was answered, the man’s cold voice came from the other end, “I have K. If you want to save him, come and see me yourself.”

As soon as the words were finished, the phone was hung up violently.

The living room was extremely quiet.

Only after a long time did Ye Jingzhan say, “Mummy, it seems that I have to go there myself.”

Ye Yunla pursed her lips.

K had been caught, and if Jing’er went again, he would definitely be in danger as well.

She got up and said, “Let me go, I have a way to get Karl out.”

“Mummy, Terebei and I count as friends, if I let K go instead of me, it’s the same as lying to him once, if you go again instead of me, it’s lying to him a second time.” Ye Jingzhan said seriously, “Even between family members, after cheating has a third time, the relationship will be fractured, let alone between ordinary internet friends.”

Ye Yunla fell silent.

She had to admit that what Jing’er said was right.

If she hadn’t insisted that Karl make the trip instead, perhaps Jing’er would have made the deal with Terebei by now.

But if she had to do it again, she would still make that choice, right?

Something had already happened to Terry North, and she couldn’t put any more children in danger

“Mummy, believe me, I have this certainty that Terebei will let Carl go, and I also have the certainty that I will get myself back safely.” Ye Jingzhan’s dark eyes were firm to the core, “Just wait at home for me to return without worry.”

Ye Yunla’s lips opened, completely unsure of what to say.

If she insisted on going with her, it might be bad again

Because she and Terebei had met more than once

Appearing as the mother of the boss of the Ye family again, it was possible that everything Jing'er had ever done had become ulterior motives to Terebei.

"Mummy, I'll go with Jing'er." Fu Ziyang, who had been silent, spoke up, "Although I haven't known Terebei for long, I should be able to talk, so don't worry about it with me around, mommy."

Ye Yunla: "....."

She's even more worried alright

Two four year olds, going to meet the big devil in the eyes of every news media reporter in the world

"Yara, that's all that can be done." Feng Chengyu spoke, "It's safer for the two of them to go alone than for you to accompany them."

Ye Yunla sighed, "Then you two must be careful, make sure you look out for each other, rescue Karl and then hurry up and leave, I will think of another way to find your daddy."

Amidst Ye Yunla's worries, Feng Chengyu sent two bodyguards to send the two children to H-land.

This was the first time the two children had gone out since they had been here for three or four days.

On the road, cars and people came and went, and there was no sign that this was the birthplace of evil.

The car was stopped by two guards at the entry point.

The two bodyguards escorted Ye Jingzhan and Fu Ziyang towards the core military area and were stopped again when they reached the entrance.

Ye Jingzhan opened his mouth in fluent English, "I am the boss of the Ye family, this is little Ling Ling who loves milk, tell Terry North that we are here."

The two guards looked at each other and one of them hurriedly went in to report.

Not long after, the escort hurriedly came out, "The boss is having a meeting, you guys sit in the living room and wait for a while."

Ye Jingzhan nodded and went inside with Fu Ziyang, while the two bodyguards were stopped outside.

The two children walked into the villa's living room with expressionless faces and unperturbed waves.

Isabelle was sitting on the sofa in the living room peeling grapes, she was throwing one into her mouth when her afterimage saw the two children walk in through the doorway.

Her gaze froze violently.

These two children, they looked too much like Terry North

HC Chapter 712

Although she had only seen Terry North's face just once, the outline of the man's features was already etched into her heart

The eyes, nose and lips of the two children in front of her The two children in front of her had the same eyes, nose and lips as Terebei.

It can't be Terebei's illegitimate children

A strong hostility emerged in Isabelle's eyes.

Ye Jingzhan and Fu Ziyang acted as if they didn't see her and sat down straight on the sofa.

"Who are you?"

Isabelle crossed her legs and asked in a cold and wary manner.

Fu Ziyang spoke in a light voice: "And who are you?"

Arrogant, cocky and cold and Terry North's aura was at least eight points similar.

Isabelle took a deep breath: "I am Terebei's fiancée"

Before she could finish a sentence, a cold, stern voice came from behind her, "Since when do I have a fiancée?"

Isabelle stiffened.

Although the entire H-land community knew that her father intended to marry her to Terry North, the man had never agreed to it.

It was only behind his back that she dared to say she was his fiancée.

I didn't expect to be overheard just in time.

She smiled dryly, "I'm not joking with the two children, Terebei, these two children are?"

Terebei's gaze fell on the two children and there was a moment of bewilderment.

That sense of familiarity, it was back

"You get out." Terebei turned his eyes, "Don't come here without my orders in the future."

Isabelle was so angry she almost exploded.

She kept taking deep breaths before she calmed down and said, "I won't get in your way, I'll just stay here and play with the two children."

"I want to talk to them about business, you want to play go out and play yourself." There was a hint of impatience in Terry North's voice.

Isabelle's expression really tensed up a little.

What business could there be to talk about with two fart-sized kids?

This man was deliberately kicking her out!

Before, when August was in power, she could come and go whenever she wanted.

Now that a yellow-skinned Asian was in power, why should she be in a lower position?

She turned her head and stomped off in a huff on her high heels.

Terebei looked at the two children again, "Who is the elder of the Ye family and who is the little milk-loving Lingling?"

Fu Ziyang felt that the voice was vaguely familiar.

But since it was in English, he didn't think too much about it and calmly said, "Little Ling Ling who loves to eat milk is me."

Terry North shook his head, "Not quite."

With a name like that, he should be an outgoing and lively person.

The child in front of him was mature and old-fashioned, not quite fitting the temperament of the name.

"It is indeed us." Ye Jingzhan spoke blandly, "We're here, can we let K go?"

"How do I know if you guys are impostors." Terebei rubbed his chin, "Unless you guys can prove yourselves."

Actually, he was already seven or eight percent convinced.

But it was still unbelievable that these two four or five year olds were famous hackers on the Darknet.

Ye Jingzhan nodded: "Do you have a computer here, just have a match and we'll see."

Terebei gestured and instructed his men to get ready.

HC Chapter 713

Ye Jingzhan and Fu Ziyang had worked together to breach the villa's firewall in just five minutes.

Terebei's eyes sank a few points.

After he had lived in the house, all the surveillance intelligence systems were programmed and debugged by him, so it was impossible for ordinary hackers to break in.

But now, two four-year-old children, in front of him, had cracked his defence and control system.

If these two children were used by the local forces, his life would be on the edge of life and death at all times

Terry North opened his mouth indifferently and ordered, "Someone, let Karl out."

The guards in the villa went to the back and took Carl out of the small dark room where people were kept and threw him directly outside the villa.

Ye Jingzhan and Fu Ziyang also stood up, "Then we'll leave first too."

"Just leave?" Terebei said indifferently, "There should be another purpose for having K impersonate you to meet me, aren't you going to talk about it?"

The tone of his voice, and the light coming out of those eyes, made Fu Ziyang slightly baffled.

He paused in his steps and murmured, "Do you speak Mandarin?"

Terebei froze and then said in Mandarin, "Yes, why, is something wrong?"

His voice struck Fu Ziyang straight in the heart.

His eyes widened and he looked incredulously at the man in the golden mask in front of him.

Although this voice was hoarse and low, he had grown up with this voice since he was born.

It couldn't be wrong, he would never hear it wrong

He took a deep breath and said slowly, "Can I ask why you're wearing a mask?"

Terry North spat out two words coldly, "I can't."

His Asian face would have turned many who would have followed him back on their heels, and this scar on his face would have conjured up images.

Mystery is a great weapon to create a certain kind of power affiliation, so he will not remove his mask to those outside the power

A strong disappointment surfaced on Fu Ziyang's face.

But this voice, it really is daddy's voice

He looked at Ye Jingzhan, anxiety showing in his brows.

Ye Jingzhan gave him a reassuring look and said in a light voice, "We came to see you this time because we want to ask you a favor."

Terebei sat down on the sofa, nodded his head and spoke, "To be honest, you are also responsible for my being in this position, so if you want me to do you any favour, just ask."

The three men sat opposite each other.

Although the two children were not very old, Terebei treated them with the utmost respect and did not see them as children to be bullied at will.

Ye Jingzhan lowered his eyes and spoke, "The reason we came here is to look for our father who has been missing for a month."

Why did this sound familiar?

Terebei's brow furrowed for a moment, thinking carefully, but he couldn't remember where he had heard it before.

Fu Ziyang continued, "We have found the list of people coming in and out of H-land, and we can't find our father's name in all the Asians, so we suspect that our father was most likely programmed into the military, so we want to ask you if you can give us the list of Asians who have recently joined the military?"

As he spoke, he kept his eyes on the man opposite him.

But all that could always be seen was those dark eyes.

When the man across from him didn't speak, he didn't feel the slightest sense that this man was anything like his daddy.

But the moment he opened his mouth, it was as if he heard Daddy's voice.

HC Chapter 714

In the world, could there really be two people with such similar voices?

If this person was really daddy, why was he not surprised at all after seeing him and Jing'er?

So, it was him who was mistaken

It was because he missed daddy too much, so he hoped this person was daddy right?

Fu Ziyang forced back the tears that had surfaced and said in a low, hoarse voice, "Our father's name is Fu Beijue, I wonder if you've ever heard of this name?"

Tui Bei's entire body was stunned.

Fu Beijue

How did he seem to have, once heard it somewhere

Where was it It seemed to be in a dream, or somewhere else

For a moment, he couldn't remember exactly where he'd heard the name before, and he said faintly, "I'll start by giving you the list of Asian soldiers who have recently joined the army."

His fingers crackled on the keyboard.

Fu Ziyang's gaze swept over to look at the well-knitted fingers, the knuckles littered with wounds, old wounds not yet healed and new ones added.

His daddy's fingers were white, long and slender like jade, they were not like this at all.

So, it was his mistake

Fu Ziyang hung his head lowly

"Remember to destroy it after you've finished reading it." Terebei handed over a hard drive.

Ye Jingzhan took the hard drive and put it in his pocket, saying seriously, "Thank you Mr. Terebei."

Terebei hooked his lips, "No need to thank you, you have helped me too."

At that moment, a man suddenly walked in the door of the living room.

An old man wrapped in a black robe rushed over, speaking in a gibberish foreign language: "Terebei, you are really good, how did you know that I was looking for children everywhere recently, these two milk dolls are really good looking, thank you!"

Upon hearing this, Fu Ziyang couldn't afford to be sad and quickly shielded Ye Jingzhan behind him.

The two children stared at the old man who had suddenly entered with eyes wide open and alert.

"Eldest Elder, next time you come in here, remember to have someone inform you, otherwise, I will have the guards throw you out." Terebei opened his lips coldly, "These two children are my friends, you'd better not get any evil intentions."

The First Elder licked his lips, those sinister eyes staring at Ye Jingzhan and Fu Ziyang, lowered his voice and said, "You also know that my health is not good lately, the doctor said that I must eat the kidneys of ten boys to get better I don't know who spread the news, all the virgin boys in our area disappeared overnight, what do you think I can do I'm getting sicker and sicker now, if I don't get my boy boy back, I'll die."

Terry North's fingers slowly closed, his knuckles glowing with a cold greenish-white light.

He said coldly, "It has long been prepared for you in the kitchen, I will have someone present it to you now."

He suppressed the strong dislike in his heart and waved his hand at the servant.

In a short while, the servant brought up a plate of bright red kidneys

"Terebei, you are too kind to me." The Grand Elder sat down at the table, without taking his chopsticks, he directly threw the food into his mouth with his hands, smiling sarcastically, "It's fresh, I feel like I'm getting better all of a sudden, you prepared this for me, I don't even know how to thank you."

Watching this scene, Fu Ziyang's hand shook for a moment.

Ye Jingzhan lowered his voice and said in Mandarin, "Don't be afraid, that's a yellow cow's kidney."

Terebei's eyes swept over, he was a little surprised that this child was so smart, he could even recognize this

He spoke in a light voice: "Someone, send them both back safely, if anything happens to them, you will see them with your heads."

"Yes!"

The guards led the order and took the two children out.

HC Chapter 715

Just as the two men went out, the Grand Elder couldn't wait to pour a plate of kidneys all into his mouth.

He licked the blood from his lips and said with great satisfaction, "It should be a boy of four or five years old, it tastes good."

There is an old saying that what you eat is good for you, and when you eat a boy's kidney, his kidney will become stronger and stronger.

A face under Terebei's mask had turned cold to the extreme, his fingers tapped the tabletop impatiently and said in a cold voice, "The Grand Elder didn't come here on purpose just to eat this, did he?"

The Grand Elder wiped the corner of his lips with a tissue and lifted his chin, "I'm here to discuss with you the future direction of the Black Party's operations."

He took out a stack of papers, "All these industries, you have to block them, I have no objection. But these few, like the casinos There's no killing or arson and no heavy weapons trade, and they're legal in many countries, so why must you block them?"

Terry North spoke indifferently, "Other countries and regions have mature legal systems to support them, while here no proper laws have been issued, which is why so much evil has been fostered. This casino may not seem any different from other countries on the surface, but in fact there is so much that can be done in it that it can easily spill over from gambling into other profiteering"

Impatient to hear this, the Grand Elder interrupted Terebei: "But do you know how much impact the rash closure of so many industries has had on the local economy? The money in our treasury has already been reduced by half in the last month, and at this rate, the army can't even be fed"

"I've got the project for the town's redevelopment in hand." Terebei said in a light voice, "This project will inject new life and vitality into H-land, the economic aspect will not need to be a concern for the Grand Elder."

He blocked back nonchalantly, infuriating the Grand Elder who almost spat out what he had just eaten.

He had been operating in this area for forty to fifty years and had long since formed his own network of influence. After August's death, his influence had been affected, but fortunately he had realised the situation in time and bent his knee to submit, only then had he been able to keep the remaining family businesses.

Unexpectedly, after only a few days of peace and quiet, this yellow-skinned pig was thinking of reform.

All their family's industries were profitable and dark, and once reformed, it would mean that he would no longer have a source of money in future.

It would be a fatal blow to a family.

Fortunately, the economic lifeline of the military in this region was also under his control, and he did not need to bow down to Terebei for the time being.

The Grand Elder grunted, "The profits from the town's redevelopment project won't arrive for at least a year, and I'd like to see how you appease the military in this coming year."

With a wave of his sleeve, he waved his hand and left.

As soon as he reached the door, Isabelle greeted him, "Father, how did it go, did you speak to him?"

The Grand Elder frowned, "Said what?"

“Didn’t I tell you to speak to him plainly about the marriage contract?” Isabel stamped her foot, “Now everyone knows you are going to marry me to him, but it is a great humiliation to me that he will not acknowledge me as his fiancée.”

“Belle, I am reassigning you a task.” The Grand Elder lowered his voice, “If you get the chance, kill him.”

Isabel looked around warily, alarmed, “Father, you are mad, how can I possibly kill him, he killed August, he is so powerful, I was a little worried he would kill me.”

“If you don’t kill him, just wait until our family falls apart.”

The Grand Elder said with a huff.

He had previously planned to marry his daughter to Terebei just to consolidate the family’s power.

But now it seemed that even if his daughter became the chief’s wife, it would not change Terebei’s decision to reform.

So there was only one way to do it, and that was to make Terebei disappear.

“Belle, you are my favourite daughter, this task can only be left to you.” The Grand Elder said at length, “If you do, I will be the next chief, and then whatever men you want, Father will find them for you.”

Isabelle paused for a moment.

With a status like hers, any man she wanted was not a problem.

HC Chapter 716

The point is, if Terebei dies, will there ever be another man who makes her heart flutter like this?

Of course Terebei had to die for going against her father, but before he died, he had to give her a taste of what this man was like.

“Father, don’t worry, I’ll find a way.”

Father and daughter walked away as they spoke.

Terebei sat on the sofa in the living room, his cold eyebrows piercing with a murderous aura.

If the Grand Elder did not have the economic lifeline of the H-land realm in his hands, he would have had everyone in the Grand Elder’s family thrown into prison long ago.

Now that he was not firmly established, he could not touch the top brass within the Black Party for the time being.

The only thing he had in his hands now was military power.

Political power and economic power go hand in hand, one cannot be without the other.

If he really wanted to implement the reforms here successfully, then he had to take over the economic power.

The words of the Oriental woman came to Terebei’s mind

What she said was not without merit.

He had read the news that the Chinese were good at economic strategy, and perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea to let that woman help him.

"Come on man."

The guards hurried over, "Present."

"Will" Terebei had just opened his mouth, but realized that he didn't even know the woman's name.

Perhaps the woman had introduced herself, but he had absolutely no recollection of it.

"The Oriental woman who came over here the day before yesterday, does that ring a bell?"

The guard nodded, "Yes, I remember, and Louis even went to check where this woman had landed"

Terebei's eyes suddenly chilled, "What was he doing checking up on that woman"

"Just, that" The guard suddenly became embarrassed and coughed, "It's rare to see an oriental beauty in this area, and everyone is a little bit stupid, so Louis went to spy for everyone"

Terebei's gaze grew colder, "Explain, no hitting on that woman, she's my partner."

The guard was startled, he was secretly glad he hadn't just said anything too much, otherwise the boss's eyes would have turned into steel knives and stabbed him to death.

He took a deep breath and said, "Copy that, I'll go and account for them."

"After the explanation, invite that woman over."

After instructing indifferently, Terebei walked up to the study on the first floor with his hands folded.

The guards at the villa had long heard of Ye Yunla's beautiful name from Louis, and other than not knowing where the woman was from or what her name was, all other information was almost clear.

Ye Yunla waited anxiously, and finally a car pulled up in front of the villa.

The two children and Carl got out of the car one after another.

Only after the car drove away did she impatiently rush out and take the two children into her arms, "Little Yan Yan, Jing'er, are you all right?"

HC Chapter 717

"Mummy, we're fine."

"Mummy, we've got the stuff."

The two children opened their dark eyes and looked at Ye Yunla in a docile manner.

Her heart, which was hanging high in the air, finally fell safely back into her stomach.

Holding one in each of her left and right hands, she led the two children into the house.

Carl changed his shoes at the entrance to the foyer, sniffed his nose and exclaimed exaggeratedly, "Wow, that smells good, is this Chinese food, it looks like it's delicious."

In the time it took for the two children to meet Terebei, Ye Yunla had cooked a table full of food.

Four children and three adults sat down at the table.

Carl kept praising as he ate, "Mama Ye, your cooking is really good, no wonder your son is so smart, it must be because your cooking is so delicious!"

"So much food can't even stop your mouth." The corners of Feng Chengyu's mouth twitched, this man looked almost thirty years old, how come he couldn't do anything right.

After he was half full, Karl rubbed his chin and said, "Why do you think Terebei is wearing a mask?"

Fu Zi Ling blinked her big eyes and said, "A lot of heroes on TV wear masks, like Superman, Oddjob Kid, Ninja"

"When you say that, I'm embarrassed to say he's ugly." Carl said dryly, "I think, his face should be very ugly because he was injured during the last assassination of August, so he doesn't show his real face."

Ye Jingzhan suddenly remembered the abnormality of Fu Ziyang when he was just over there.

He twisted his head and said, "Big brother, did you notice anything?"

Fu Ziyang opened his lips, still suppressing that absurd thought in his mind.

If he said that Terebei's timbre was similar to Daddy's, would it give Mummy and his younger siblings some vain illusions?

The greater the hope, the greater the disappointment would be in time.

"I do think that Terebei is not as bloodthirsty and ruthless as the legend says." Fu Ziyang spoke up, "And he was quick to give us the list."

Feng Chengyu moved the computer over, "Let's see exactly what list he gave first."

After the hard drive was connected to the computer, a folder automatically popped up, and it was indeed an internal document from the military department, a list of Asian personnel who had joined the army in the last month.

Ye Yunla pursed her lips and said, "One by one, look carefully, pick out all names with the same sound, names with the same monosyllables."

The seven men divided up the work, and each one was given over a hundred names.

In less than twenty minutes, all seven people had finished retrieving the names on hand

There were only less than ten names with any of the syllables of the three words Fu Beiji, and the age areas of those ten people were all incorrect.

In other words, Fu Beiji was not even in the Black Party camp.

Everyone's face turned serious.

If they couldn't find him among the ordinary people in the H area, and they couldn't find him in the army, did that prove that Lord Fu Beiji had

As soon as this thought came out of her mind, it was pressed down hard by Ye Yunla.

She was incredibly convinced that there was no way Fu Beiji would die.

Even for her sake, for the sake of the children, he would definitely try to stay alive

She felt the tip of her nose sore and a mist floating up from the bottom of her eyes, she hurriedly turned her head and wiped the corners of her eyes to force the tears back.

"Bang, bang, bang!"

The villa's front door was suddenly knocked hard.

Ye Yunla hurriedly got up and walked to the door. Her face turned a minute colder when she saw two guards in green military uniforms outside the door.

She turned her head and said in a low voice, "Cheng Yu, take the children upstairs."

Feng Chengyu pursed her lips, "You and the children go upstairs and hide, I'll handle this side."

HC Chapter 718

"I don't want to involve you, just take care of the children for me."

Ye Yunla walked out of the living room without a word, shutting the door tightly behind her.

She walked to the iron fence at the entrance of the villa and looked at the two cold-faced guards, "Is something wrong?"

"Our boss, Terry North, wants to see you, you come with us."

Ye Yunla's eyes flickered.

The last time they had met, this man had said he needed to think about whether or not to cooperate, had he thought this through?

The children had clearly come to a dead end on this path, so it was still up to her.

She curled her lips into a sweet smile, "Good, I'll go in first and change my clothes."

The two guards knew that this woman was their boss's partner and did not dare to push too hard, waiting respectfully at the door.

As soon as Ye Yunla entered, the four children gathered around, "Mummy, is everything alright?"

"Terry North should have agreed to work with me." Ye Yunla smiled, "I'll go over and talk to him about the details of the cooperation."

Seeing the few children's sad faces, she said seriously, "Little Yanyan has also said that Terebei isn't actually too scary, so don't worry about it."

The corners of Carl's mouth twitched.

So now, of all the people in this room, he was the only one who found Terebei particularly frightening?

He opened his mouth, but swallowed the words back.

He was already less intelligent than this boy Ye Jingzhan, and he must not be pressed past this aspect of his guts.

“Cheng Yu, you take care of the children for me, I’ll be back soon.”

Ye Yunla changed his clothes, calmly walked out of the villa and got into the military car.

The car drove smoothly down the road and drove straight into the H-land boundary, finally stopping at the entrance of the villa in the core area.

An escort came over and respectfully pulled open the car door for her.

After nodding her thanks, Ye Yunla stepped on her high heels and walked towards the inside.

Just as she entered, a group of people came out.

It was a group of old men wrapped in black robes, and she remembered the information she had looked up, that the internal structure of the Black Party was an elder system.

There were nine elders in total, each with greater or lesser power in their hands, in charge of the area
.....

The group of elders spoke to each other as they walked out of the living room, and as they passed by Ye Yunla, several people cast surprised glances at her.

Ye Yunla walked past with downcast eyes, trying to reduce her presence as much as possible.

Only her features were so outstanding that even with her head lowered, she drew the attention of bystanders.

The Grand Elder sneered, “Stand still.”

Ye Yunla simply ignored it and continued to walk inside.

“I told you to stand still, didn’t you hear me?” The Grand Elder coldly gave a wink to the guard behind him, and that guard stepped forward to stop Ye Yunla’s path.

Ye Yunla raised her eyes, her gaze clear and bland.

“Is it you, this Oriental woman, who has been pestering Terebei?” The Grand Elder snorted coldly, “You have some good looks, but do you think you can become the chief’s wife just because you are beautiful, you are simply dreaming! Men, escort her to my carriage, today I will teach her to behave properly.”

If Terebei had such a bewitching bitch by his side, how else would his daughter find the opportunity to assassinate?

Such a woman, after playing with her, should be thrown into the slums and left to be slaughtered.

Several guards stepped forward, one left and one right towards Ye Yunla.

Her eyes were cold, her left foot had built up strength and she was about to lift it when a familiar voice came from behind her.

“What, is the Grand Elder trying to move one of my people?”

HC Chapter 719

The man in the black trench coat walked down from the first floor with a natural aura.

Looking at such a Trebei, the Grand Elder’s face turned a few shades colder.

When August was in power, he would always carry a lot of weight whenever he spoke at meetings, but after the change to Trebei as the chief, his speeches at meetings were always ignored.

No matter what he said about important proposals, Trebei would not respond at all.

Today, for example, his proposals for economic development were not taken seriously, let alone given any feedback.

He felt more and more that he, the Grand Elder, was being scorned.

The Grand Elder looked at the man who approached him and said in a cold voice with his walking stick, “This woman obviously has ulterior motives, I am only trying to help the chief to get rid of the hidden problem around me, and this is wrong?”

Trebei said coldly, “Does the Grand Elder have ulterior motives or does she have ulterior motives, do I need to make that clear?”

When he was disliked in public, the Grand Elder was very embarrassed.

He flung his sleeve, “I have fought with August to build this area, and every area has my heart and soul in it. Whether you blame me or want to banish me, I must get rid of this woman today!”

“Men, arrest her for me!”

The Grand Elder gave the order coldly.

Ye Yunla: “.....”

She had been here for less than a week and had been to the core area less than three times, what did the survival of the H-land realm have to do with her?

This Grand Elder was really good at pulling the flag to achieve his own unseen selfish intentions.

She wrinkled her eyebrows coldly and stared at the guards who were getting closer and closer not far away.

Before she could make a move, the man standing beside her took something out of his sleeve and threw it.

The four guards brought over by the Grand Elder instantly fell to the ground, their lives unknown.

At this, the Grand Elder’s face stank even more.

He finally understood that it was not luck but ability that had enabled Terebei to take the chief's position.

There was still a long way to go if he wanted to kill Terebei and take his place.

"Good, very good!"

The Grand Elder was so angry that he couldn't say a word, and he waved his sleeve and left.

The few elders behind him were all the Elders' followers and all followed along.

The villa was instantly quiet.

Ye Yunla pursed her lips and said in a light voice, "Thank you for what you did just now."

Terebei said in a light voice: "If it weren't for me, the Grand Elder wouldn't have targeted you.

He turned around and walked upstairs with his hands folded.

Standing behind him, it took a slight tilt of the head to see all of him, the way he walked, the swing of his hand It was so familiar

The figure of Fu Beijue came to Ye Yunla's mind.

Then, she snorted again.

Because she missed that man so much, did she think it was him when she saw anyone who resembled him

She pushed the mess of emotions down and marched not to follow upstairs.

The study was large, with huge rows of bookshelves containing all kinds of foreign language books, all ancient books of some years old.

"The cooperation you proposed to me earlier, I agreed."

The man sat down in his office chair, a pair of dark eyes sweeping in blandly.

"However, I also need to see what you can do first."

Ye Yunla rippled and said in a light voice, "What do you think it will take to see what I can do?"

Terebei pulled open the locked drawer and threw a stack of books on the desk, "These are the Black Party's revenue books from last year, there are problems in many places, if you can find ten problems, you will win."

HC Chapter 720

Ye Yunla took the account book over to her, and she sat at the other end of the desk, flipping through it carefully.

She hadn't recruited an accountant in the early days of the company, and she was responsible for all the financial work, so reading the books wasn't too difficult for her at all.

Moreover, this account book was not made by a professional, it was probably a handwritten account book written by a relative or a close friend of August's. There were many loopholes in it.

Before she had even read a third of it, Ye Yunla had already found at least ten mistakes.

She walked over with the ledger and pointed to the first page and said, "This is very substandard accounting ledger, this first line is wrong"

Terry North listened very carefully.

He had seen these books on his first day in office and a casual glance through them showed that there was something very wrong.

He just knew there were problems, but he couldn't say so many professional words, it seemed that this woman was really good at this.

The second elder had always been in charge of financial matters, and if the books were wrong, then the second elder could easily be pulled down

Terebei's fingers tapped rhythmically on the tabletop, and in his mind he had already laid a trap to get the second elder to step down

After Ye Yunla finished speaking, she waited for a reply, and when she raised her eyes, she saw the man in front of her in deep thought.

From her angle, she could only see the curve of the man's side face.

His hair was black, and at a glance, he was a purebred Chinese

On his body, there seemed to be a vaguely familiar smell.

Ye Yunla's entire mind was suddenly empty.

She uncontrollably moved a step to the side of the man, and the two of them got even closer.

That smell reminded her of that night five years ago, of every night she had been entangled before her marriage

It was a smell that only Fu Beijiu had.

Ye Yunla's heart couldn't stop beating wildly.

She once again recalled this man's figure and height, his facial contours, those eyes of his, the tone of his voice

An absurd thought floated up from Ye Yunla's heart.

She slowly raised her hand and moved it little by little towards the man's golden mask

However, just when her hand was less than a centimeter away from the man's face, the man suddenly raised his hand and squeezed her wrist.

"What are you doing?"

The thick, low voice caused Ye Yunla's heart to shake again.

When they first met, she had felt that this voice was familiar, so why hadn't she thought of it in that way

She steadied her trembling voice and spoke with a strong sense of composure, "Can I see what you look like?"

The two were too close together.

Trebek saw her long, dark, curly eyelashes, the tiny hairs on her face, her lips crimson and moist

For some reason, a sudden heat swept through the small of his back.

The knot in his throat rolled heavily and he lifted his hand and wrapped it around the woman's uncomfortably slender waist.

"If you see my true face, you have to be my woman."

The man's husky, seductive voice rang out in her ears, clearly suppressing some sort of emotion.

Ye Yunla only felt the hand on her waist getting hotter and hotter, a familiar heat that she could not give birth to any rejection.

If this was really Fu Beijue, then it was her husband, so her body did not reject his touch.

But if it was really Fu Beijiu, why did he pretend not to know her?

So, was she overthinking?

Was she so desperate and eager to find Fu Beijiu that she had developed delusions of grandeur?
