" at first I thought that it was just a game but I didn't think that he will defy the rules that he established just for a lowly human like her " the lord chuckled as thought about that looking at the man in front of her Sara suddenly became curious about something

" may I ask you why do you hate? her I understand that you hate her mother but she is your daughter your flesh and blood " Sara asked

" I don't know why either " the lord replied

Sara suddenly became scared that man is more crazier than she thought she continued sipping on her drink quality and didn't speak more she doesn't care about who will get hurt as long as that girl dies, the title of queen it belongs to someone like her, not some lowly human it's just a matter of time before everything is done she reminded herself

" I'm very sorry it's just that it's too hilarious the poor man " Althea continued laughing having enough of this Hana decided to leave she can't tolerate this more

" No no please stay I'm sorry I will stop laughing, " Althea said as she pulled Hana towards the mansion going to the kitchen

" are you hungry? do you want to eat something specific? " Althea asked as helped Hana to sit on the chair

the reason why Hana came today because she fought with her husband after finding out that she was pregnant with their fourth child and right now they bearly can support themselves and their children and having another child at this time will be very difficult to support but Althea didn't stop laughing after Hana told her that she hit her husband with a cooking bowl

" good evening Althea, I haven't seen you the whole " the lord said as he organized the thick pile of papers

" well Hana came today and a lot was going on with her so I couldn't just leave her " Althea replied

" I asked her to stay for the night, I hope you don't mind " she was a bit hesitant when she spoke watching him as he walked towards her, she has asked her to stay without asking him first but couldn't let her go in her current state

cupping her face he kissed her forehead " you can ask anyone to stay but I'm a bit disappointed I thought that I will be able to spend more time with you " he spoke faking his sadness

Althea smiled at his childish behavior she wondered if anyone expect her have seen this side of him

" she is a bit sick that's why I asked her to stay but is leaving tomorrow morning," Althea said comforting him knowing that he was faking his sadness

" is it something serious? " the Lord asked tagging a hair strand behind her ear

" no nothing serious, she is with a child so it's normal " Althea explained as the lord sat on the chair walking towards the window she looked outside " my mother used to tell me that having a child is the most beautiful thing a woman experience, but having me cost her her health sometimes I feel guilty that she is sick because of me " the Lord heard her say there was a hint of sadness In her voice looking at his reflection in the window she saw him coming towards her

" and she brought the most beautiful thing into this world and for that, I am very grateful to her " he whispered in her ear

" do you want to have children? " the Lord asked suddenly

Althea was shocked hearing this how did they get into this

" I d... I don't know " Althea replied feeling her cheeks starting to redden she never thought about it, having children she suddenly became very embarrassed when she understood the lord meaning

if she would have children it will his she failed to understand it quickly pushing the lord away she wanted to escape before things get more detailed

" I'm going to sleep, goodnight " with that she runs out of the room the lord chuckled at her attempt to escape she looked no less than a scared little cat she was very adorable when she all flustered
