

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 15 - 15 - Pregnant?

Hallym University Medical Center Hospital

In the afternoon, it was confirmed that Kim Nam was allowed to go home.

Even though Soo Yin hadn't fully recovered yet, she insisted on going to the hospital. She couldn't wait to meet her father.

Dae Hyun walked side by side with Soo Yin, wearing glasses and a mask to cover his face as Soo Yin's request.

She thought that as his husband was a public figure, surely Dae Hyun would be in the spotlight of many people, if he didn't wear a disguise.

"You will suffer more if you don't divorce me right away," Soo Yin whispered as they passed the hospital corridor.

"Then let me show everything so that everyone knows you are my wife." Dae Hyun was about to remove the sunglasses that were perched on his eyes.

It didn't matter to him if he had to acknowledge his relationship with Soo Yin publicly.

"Enough! I don't want to be accused of being a mistress," Said Soo Yin as she pulled Dae Hyun's hand.

She glanced at her husband with a sharp gaze.

When entering the room, Kim Nam was getting ready. He already changed his clothes.

"Daddy, I miss you." Soo Yin hugged Kim Nam's body.

"Oh, honey. You look thinner!" Said Kim Nam after releasing her hug.

"Ah...yes. These past few days, I have no appetite to eat," Soo Yin replied. She didn't say what really happened.

"Dae Hyun said you are going on vacation? Where did you go?" Kim Nam asked.

"We went... went... to Japan, Daddy. To enjoy the cherry blossoms," Said Soo Yin, stammering.

"Isn't it winter?" Kim Nam asked, frowning.

"It's more beautiful if we go on a honeymoon in winter, Dad. It's more romantic," Said Dae Hyun with a smile.

'I really lost my mind! Huh, honeymoon? Seriously?!' Soo Yin thought to herself as she glanced at Dae Hyun with a sharp gaze.

This chapter upload first at

This chapter upload first at

"You are right. The honeymoon will be beautiful in winter," Said Kim Nam with a smile.

Soo Yin pinched Dae Hyun's waist tightly, making him grin in pain.

"Soo Yin, immediately check your health to a doctor while we are still in the hospital! Maybe you are pregnant at this time," Said Kim Nam.

Soo felt choked to hear what her father just said. She wanted to throw up right now.

Never mind getting pregnant, staying with Dae Hyun was even worse.

She didn't want to have a child from a player like Dae Hyun. Besides, she didn't want to end up like other women out there.

Dae Hyun had a wife. Soo Yin thought that if he got bored, he would come back to his wife.

In the end, she would be abandoned.

She imagined that she was pregnant and left by the side of the road. It made her shudder with horror.

"No!" Soo Yin suddenly shouted, making Kim Nam and Dae Hyun look at each other.

"Honey, what's wrong with you?" Dae Hyun asked.

"Ah...no... it's okay," Said Soo Yin while scratching her head. Her face was now flushed.

"Dad, we better go home," Said Soo Yin. She didn't want to linger over nonsense things.

They immediately returned to Pyeongchang-dong villa.

It was much safer from the public because the distance was quite far.

-
-

Pyeongchang-dong Villa

As usual, they would always be greeted by Auntie Xia, a middle-aged woman who had worked in the villa for about five years.

No one knew that Dae Hyun had owned this villa for a long time.

Soo Yin led her father to a room on the lower floor where they didn't need to climb the stairs. She didn't want her father to be tired when he went upstairs.

Soo Yin went to the room that she used to occupy. She walked back and forth while biting the tip of her nails.

The bedroom door opened. It turned out that Dae Hyun had just entered.

This chapter upload first at

This chapter upload first at

"Why haven't you slept yet? Are you waiting for me?" Dae Hyun asked with a crooked smile.

"I don't want us to sleep in one bed," Said Soo Yin bluntly.

"Okay, I'll sleep on the sofa," Said Dae Hyun and then went to the bathroom.

Soo Yin thought that Dae Hyun would refuse the idea of not sharing the same bed. This was really unexpected.

She felt terrible if she slept on the bed while the man slept on the couch. After all, her status in this house was just a guest.

Before Dae Hyun was done cleaning up, Soo Yin took out a blanket from the closet, arranged it on the sofa to make it more comfortable.

"Hoaam." Soo Yin yawned, her eyes were sleepy. The last few nights, she couldn't sleep because she was looking for ways to get out of Dae Hyun's house.

In the end, her efforts were now in vain.

Dae Hyun got out of the bathroom, looking at the empty bed.

He then glanced at the sofa and found out that Soo Yin was already asleep wrapped in a blanket like a cocoon.

Soo Yin rolled over, forgetting that she slept on the sofa. She then fell down.

"Ouch!" Soo Yin shouted. Her head hurt when she hit the floor.

She slowly tried to sit up half-consciously.

"Didn't I tell you? I'll sleep on the sofa," Said Dae Hyun, frowning.

He was still wearing a waist-down towel, showing his abs that were like torn bread.

"I'm staying in this house. It's not appropriate for me to sleep on the bed." Soo Yin shuffled to her feet half-consciously. She then dragged the blanket back to the sofa.

Unintentionally, the blanket lower part flew upwards, showing the girl's smooth thighs.

Moreover, it was only clad in light green lingerie with transparent material, so it looked very sexy.

Soo Yin was forced to wear it because all the clothes were the same.

Dae Hyun blocked Soo Yin, and grabbed her wrist. He really wanted to do something to Soo Yin right now.

But he then let out a long sigh, not wanting to do anything before Soo Yin wanted it willingly.

"What's wrong?" Soo Yin glanced at Dae Hyun while enduring sleepiness.

"No, go to sleep!" Said Dae Hyun.

He returned to the bathroom again, sticking his head under the cold running water to eliminate the pain he felt.

A normal man would not be able to do anything if he lived with a woman— and that woman was his wife.