

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 61

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 61

Chapter 61 The counsellor's question "Alpha Dominic, what's the point of calling this meeting after how you insulted us last time?" One of the seniors asked with a frown.

His tone was cold and mean, anything near mature which irked Athena. But she kept quiet to continue her game of being invisible which she was playing well. Just the constant glare from Stacey across the room was getting on her nerves. They both were sitting opposite each other while Dominic sat at one of the ends of the table while the most senior sat on the other end.

The meeting just started but they entered the room around twenty minutes ago. The seniors were having their own conversation till now.

Athena looked up at Dominic to see what he would say now and found him having a big deep frown on his face. As if feeling her eyes on him, he looked at her way. The moment their eyes met, the frown left his face and it was replaced with a soft look. She could swear she saw the corner of his lips lifting up as well but it was gone faster than it appeared.

She didn't know what suddenly came up on her and she nodded her head a little toward him. It was supposed to be an encouraging nod and he looked surprised seeing that but it seemed to do the work. He suddenly looked as if he had everything under control again. He looked at the front with confidence.

"Gentlemen, first of all I would like to apologise if you felt offended by what happened a few days ago, in the party. I had my reasons and I have called you all to gather here to inform you about the reason only." Dominic stated in his usual cold and intimidating tone while making eye contact with everyone in the room.

"What is the reason and what's going to happen to Stacey now? What you did not only insulted her and her pack, hurt her badly as well. Do you realise that, Alpha Dominic?" Another one asked with a scowl while giving a small look at Stacey. Stacey gave him a small smirk. The interaction didn't go past Athena's sharp eyes. She immediately knew why the man was talking like a puppet because he was a puppet in actuality. Of Stacey.

Was Stacey that powerful to make a senior follow her words? She has always heard that she was an alpha's daughter from a powerful pack. Not as powerful as Dominic's pack but still powerful enough to hold some serious authority. But Athena never heard the name of her pack. At that moment, the curiosity increased to another level as she looked at her with a frown.

“I believe that was an alliance between me and her father’s pack where we didn’t include anyone else. So, when the alliance is broken from both parties, I don’t want anyone to get involved in this as well. Just to let you know, I have offered them peace. If they agree by the terms and conditions, it will still bring good to them if not to my pack. But they know better than going against me. Isn’t that right, Stacey?” Dominic asked with a raised eyebrow while looking at Stacey who had a smirk until then on her lips, looked at him with a small sad look She put on an innocent and helpless face as she looked at the counsellors, trying to act strong.

“Respected counsel members, I would request you all to not mention the topic again. It’s indeed hurtful for me as I almost considered this pack as my own family. But I don’t want to blame Dominic for what happened. He treated me the best while I stayed here, with respect and love. He must have his reasons to take this decision. But I just hope the reasons are not something wrong which he would regret in future.” Stacey said the last sentence while looking at Athena with a venomous look on her face.

Athena glared at her in anger and frustration. She couldn’t express what she felt at that moment toward that woman!

“Such a mature woman you are!” One of them praised before settling his eyes back on Dominic. “So, Alpha Dominic, what is the reason for which you have declined to accept Stacey as your mate?” He asked in a blank yet distant tone. Dominic looked at Athena and found her looking at Stacey with a glare. “One of the most important reasons to take that step was my mate. Everyone knows I didn’t find my destined mate at that time when I announced to take Stacey as my mate. But I don’t find that reason valid anymore after I found MY mate. So, I don’t see a reason to go with that thing anymore.” He said in a casual yet serious tone. Everyone looked at him in shock as soon as they heard her. They immediately started to murmur things among them. Everyone heard everything due to their werewolf hearing sense. Dominic gave them time to settle down as well as gave time to Athena to prepare herself as well.

“Who’s your mate? Is she present in the room at this moment?” The oldest and experienced one asked with a frown while looking around and his eyes fell on Athena, a new face.

Immediately a look of realisation settled on his face as he looked at Athena. Soon that look was replaced with another expression, an expression of pure shock and disbelief.

“Who are you?” He asked in a shock filled tone, taking everyone’s attention toward her in a blink of an eye.

She was shocked as well, feeling everyone's eyes on her. A nerve-wracking feeling settled inside her as she looked at Dominic in panic. He was taken back a little as well hearing the tone the man used. It was as if he knew Athena from long and whatever he knew was something that will change a lot of things. "My mate. She is my mate." Dominic announced and the man looked shocker than ever hearing him.

"Which pack are you from? Who's your father?" The man asked in a desperate tone, confusing everyone.

But Athena went blank after hearing the question.

Her pack? Her father?

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 62

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 62

62 CHpater Stacey's game "Which pack are you from? Who's your father?" The man asked in a desperate tone, confusing everyone.

Athena looked at him blankly, not knowing what to answer. He wanted to know about her identity. But what identity did she have other than Ace's mother and Dominic's rejected mate?

Nothing!

Dominic, Nathan and Justin, they all were caught a little off guard by the question as well. It was his tone which was responsible for it, more than the question. So, even before anyone could think of anything to answer, Stacey took the initiative to answer.

"Oh sir, you are asking about her identity?" Stacey asked in a taunting tone before letting out a dry smile. "How would she answer that because she doesn't have any identity! She is a rogue! Nothing else." Stacey snapped, making everyone look at her in shock and anger, mostly Dominic and the other two men.

"What? A rogue?!" The council members, excluding the most senior one, shrieked out in shock and displeasure. "Stacey! What the hell are you talking about? Can you shut up?" Dominic hissed at her in frustration and annoyance while the other two glared at her. "What? Am I telling a lie? Athena? You tell me, am I lying? Can you deny anything that I just said?" She asked, taking everyone's attention toward Athena.

At that moment, she was put into the spotlight. So, anything she says will be held against her in future. She has to choose her answer carefully. But what could she tell them at that moment other than telling the truth? Because she doesn't know her real identity yet. She doesn't know who she is yet. So, she still bears the identity of being a rogue. So, she decided that she was going to tell that only, because she was not ashamed of being a rogue earlier, nor was she going to be now. She thinks that she was a warrior not a rogue. Because surviving in this dangerous community without any support is no less than fighting a battle.

"No, I can't deny what you just said because that's the truth. I am a rogue. I have been a rogue as long as I could remember.", She stated with her chin held high, with pride.

"No, that's not possible. You can't be a rogue because... because your blood...." The old man started to stammer as he was trying to make sense of everything he just got introduced with.

He wasn't holding such a special and powerful position for no reason. He had some specialty in him which made him worthy of that position. Those specialty came from experience and blessing from the moon goddess. He could say that Athena was something different using that specialty only. "No, sir. That's the truth. She is a filthy rogue which even she couldn't deny and I have something else which she won't be able to deny as well. Can I request for the permission to bring that here?" Stacey asked while glaring at Athena. She had a mean smirk on her lips which didn't give Athena any good feelings. It didn't give anyone any good feelings. She could feel that something was up and that something was the bad thing which she was feeling since morning.

"Stacey! What are you doing? What is this thing you are talking about?" Dominic asked with gritted teeth, he couldn't explain how much irritation he was feeling at that moment on Stacey.

He made a promise to himself to make her pay if she causes any trouble to HIS Athena!

He swears to the goddess! "It's something that will prove how filthy she was and how much she doesn't belong here! It will prove how much she is a danger for our community!" Stacey snapped while glaring at Athena, making Dominic growl. "Stacey, don't you dare to cross your limit!" Nathan growled out this time, unable to bear any more insult toward his future Luna. He would do anything to protect the respect of his Luna.

"He is right, don't you dare to say another word against her." Justin was the next to oppose against her as he growled at her threateningly as well. Athena looked at both of them in shock and gratefulness. She felt a warm feeling getting all over her heart, making her eyes teary. All her life, she had no one to fight for her or stand for her defense. It was always herself and then Suzanne came into her life and shared the responsibility a little. She felt a little special seeing the guys doing that.

“You guys can’t threaten her like that. If she got something to say, she will say that. We will take actions against you two if you try to scare her by threatening her.” The man who was taking Stacey’s side earlier, spoke up in a warning tone, making Stacey smirk.

“Thank you, sir! May I have the permission to bring my guest which will prove all the things I said about her earlier?” She asked once again while looking at Dominic this time. Because no matter how powerful the counsellors were, they were still in Dominic’s territory, they can’t do anything but abide by his commands here.

He looked at Athena to find her already looking at him. He asked for permission through his eyes and a small yet firm blink from her was enough for him. He nodded back at her before looking at Stacey with dark eyes and gritted teeth.

“I give you the permission to present whatever you have to show us.” He gritted those words out while his hand was fisted tightly under the table to keep his wolf in control. He was having a hard time doing that. “Thank you, Alpha Dominic. Trust me you won’t regret it.” She said with a smirk before standing up from her chair. She gave Athena a triumph look before clapping her hands to signal something “You can show yourself now.” She said, making everyone confused but soon they saw a shadowy figure coming into lights, taking a figure of a human body.

A witch!

Not some regular witch but someone who’s connected deeply with Athena and... Ace!

(Hello, everyone! Hope you enjoyed the chapter! How did the event take a different turn? I thought it was time for Athena’s identity reveal! Just kidding, that still got time! But don’t worry, something really important is going to get revealed now! Who’s interested to know what’s going to happen next?! Make your dear author happy and leave 5 new reviews-ratings. I have thirty six reviews now, I will make you happy with double updates if it becomes forty one! So, now you know what to do! Leave me a rating at the start of the book under the synopsis! Love you all!)

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate Chapter 63

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate

Chapter 63

63Chapter

Look of betrayal Stacey couldn't explain in words how powerful she felt at that moment. She felt as if the whole world was under her control at that moment. It was actually.

If Athena slowly started to become the Crescent Mystery Pack's world and she had the control over Athena's situation, doesn't that give her the same vibe? She hated Athena beyond imagination and she even won't be able to explain this in words as well.

She was so happy that she followed Athena and Patricia in the basement when they went there. The whole day when they were enjoying their time with the pack members, she used the time to find something against Athena. But she didn't know she would find that down the basement.

Robert!

Yes, she followed Athena inside the basement when Patricia was looking the other way. She couldn't hear much as Patricia was giving a hard guard but what she heard was enough for her to understand that Robert was Athena's enemy.

And an enemy's enemy is always a friend. So, what she did after they left was go inside and talk to Robert. It took a lot of coaxing and bribes to bring some information out of his stomach. She even had to promise him to set him free.

Even though she doesn't have the power to do that, she would think about that later as she got what she wanted already.

And that's how they were standing there at that moment. Because it was Stacey who pretended to be someone from the pack and called the meeting this evening only as soon as she got a hand on what she wanted.

"A witch! What's a witch doing here, Stacey? Don't you know witches are forbidden from entering any wolf's territory?" One of the counsellors asked with a deep frown, immediately opposing the idea of being in the same room with a witch.

"I am very aware of that, sir. I am also aware of how much of a big crime it is for werewolves to use a witch's magic for something, for any personal gain. If I am not wrong, one has to serve a big punishment for havin ving any kind of connection with a witch that involves magic, Is that right, sir?" Stacey asked with a smirk while looking at Athena.

Athena looked at her with widened eyes which were not filled with her regular confidence. This time they were filled with anxiety and that worried Dominic as he saw the look on her face.

“Yes, based on the magic they performed, the punishment sometimes can lead to death as well. “One of them confirmed which broadened Stacey’s smirk. “Yes, now let’s come to the point about how this is connected to this rogue, Athena.” Stacey spat the last two words like it was something disgusting in her tongue before turning toward the board members.

“Sir, as all of you are just introduced to her, none of you might know that she has an almost three years old pup.” Stacey stated and waited to let this information get synced with their brains. Immediately a commotion started between the board members as they started shooting questions toward him. “Alpha Dominic, you said that you just met her! Then how could she have a child?” “Is it your child?!” “Who does this child belong to?”

“Not only is she a disgrace by being a rogue already, now she mated another wolf as well!” “Bring the pup here!” They all demanded one after another while glaring at Dominic. They were furious after finding out this new information about Athena. They will never accept disrespect toward the sacred bond like a mate bond. If one wolf mated another wolf who is not her or his destined mate without any very important and specific reason, just to satisfy bodily need, that’s an insult toward the bond. And getting pregnant by another wolf is like a sin compared to that. They are never going to accept that in the pack which is supposed to be one of the role models to other packs out there.

“Calm down, gentlemen.” Dominic used his Alpha tone to silence everyone while glaring at Stacey.

Out of all the things he regretted in his life, letting Stacey live in his pack after that day was one of them. He couldn’t imagine what he would do to her if things got out of control. Oh even better, he would just leave her on Athena’s mercy. He has full faith in her that she will show Stacey her rightful place.

Soon someone knocked on the door and a guard came inside with Ace in his arms. Athena immediately stood up from her chair in shock and disbelief. The guard wasn’t holding him any softly and the child looked scared out of his mind that he went completely silent. But he cried out immediately after he saw his mother.

“Mommy!” He instantly started to fight the guard to get out of his hands but he didn’t move at all.

“Leave my child right this moment!” Athena let out a growl which was so forceful and powerful that it even made the counsellors to look away right that second. The moment the guard heard her command, as if he was forced to leave the baby down slowly. Ace ran toward Athena immediately after he was released from his hold and she scooped him up in her safe embrace. She hugged him tight and hid him away from everyone's eyes. "You can't shut us up like this, alpha Dominic. Answer is, does that child belong to you?" One of them asked, in a tone that said as if he already knew the answer.

Dominic gritted his teeth hard while looking at Athena who was already looking at him with a sorrowful expression. She was in a miserable state at that moment and she didn't know what to do. On the other hand, Dominic's state wasn't any better. He didn't know how to answer that question. He started to love Ace a lot from the time he entered his life. Imagining his life without that little boy seems as impossible as living it without Athena now. They both are now a really important part of his life even though he knew Ace wasn't his child and he knew that everyone else there knew that as well. Though it feels as if Ace was his own. But Athena made it wasn't clear a lot of times earlier.,

But did he care? No! Not anymore! "D... Dominic..." Athena whispered with a pained look on her face. He looked at her and it looked as if she was trying to say something to her. As if she was trying to convey something to him. But it was too late. She didn't have any more time to say anything at that moment. Now it was time to let things happen just as it was happening because she lost control over it long ago. Dominic looked away from her to the little guy who was peeking at him from her mother's neck. He clenched his jaw and looked at the front, at the counsellors.

"No, he.... is...not..." He couldn't even complete his sentence when it was snatched away from him by the mean board member, angering him for the disrespect. But he held it at that moment with a lot of difficulty. It was actually Nathan and Justin who held him from both sides.

"Obviously he isn't! We can't find your blood's scent in him. We can't find anyone's blood scent in him. Why's that?" The man scowled while looking at Ace with squinted eyes. Ace hugged her tighter, feeling his gaze. The motherly instinct kicked inside Athena once again and she growled at him slowly as a warning. He immediately looked away. That was noticed by the oldest member and he looked at Athena with a thoughtful look on his face. It looked like he was still trying to figure out something about her.

"I will answer that question on their behalf, sir." Stacey spoke up while looking at Athena with a sinister smirk It looks like she was really close to her goal. "It's already clear that pup isn't Dominic's. Because she absolutely doesn't have any reason to hide him from Dominic. So, he must belong to a really lower ranked werewolf, or worse, a rogue. That's why, to hide his scent, Athena used this witch's magic. She did some magic on him to hide the scent." Stacey said with a smirk and everyone looked at Athena in shock.

"Using a witch to hide scent?! That's absurd!"

“She was trying to hide something really big!”

“What is it?!”

“How would we know to whom this child belongs?” They all shouted together once again, suddenly making Athena feel really small in front of them. She was feeling suffocated and wanted to run away from there because she knew that the time wasn't far away when she would lose everything in her hands. Things would get more messed up than ever and she wasn't prepared for it yet. Dominic was looking at her in shock, disbelief and confusion as well. He couldn't believe that as well. He thought Ace really belonged from a lower rank which is why he didn't have any scent. But finding out that his scent was hidden with some intention, it was not settling well with him.

Different thoughts roamed around his head now. Mostly about what's going to happen when the magic will be removed. What if he is put in front of another hard truth which is going to be too hard for him to handle? What is he going to do then? “We can find that out now. By the same witch. The moment she removes the magic from him, his scent will be revealed which everyone can have no matter what his father's rank is. So, are you guys ready?” Stacey asked while looking at everyone with a different level of excitement. “Yes, tell her to do the magic soon. We want to know.” Everyone said the same thing over again. Stacey nodded at them and just when she was going to turn toward the witch who had been waiting patiently for any commands till then, without making any noise. She wasn't a stupid to pull any stunt in the room full of powerful wolves. “No!” Athena suddenly shouted while taking a step away from the table while holding Ace tighter as she glared at everyone. “No one will come to my son! I am warning you all! Stay away from me and my son!” She growled in a threatening tone. The tone was powerful enough to let them know she wasn't joking.

She could feel that happening again. She could feel the beast inside her, or it could be her wolf as well, raising up. She felt something heavy taking over her as her body started to shake. She looked down at her hand to see her nails slowly coming up. She was sure that her eyes changed colour as well.

At that moment she knew what was happening to her. The same thing that happened with Stacey. But like last time she felt more confidence with the sudden overpowering presence of something inside her. She knew she wasn't going to lose control this time.

“What's happening to her?” One of the members asked in shock while looking at Athena with widened eyes.

Her hair was flying while her eyes glowed bright red with a shade of orange, like a fire. A black smoke gathered around her as well, as if letting everyone know her territory. “Her monster is coming out, everyone. She doesn't have any wolves, instead has monsters. She doesn't have any control over it. It is so dangerous to kill people! She even tried to kill me! Do something before it loses control again.” Stacey shouted in a panicked tone, raising anxiety in the room.

“Guards! Hold her imprisoned before she can do anything!” One of the board members ordered the guards they brought with them. They are usually more powerful than normal guards. Athena won't have a chance in front of six of them if she doesn't do anything fast.

But what?!

They all kept advancing her but before anyone could even reach anywhere near her, they heard a loud growl which almost shook the whole room. Within a blink of an eye, Dominic was standing just in front of Athena and Ace with a protective posture. He guarded them from everyone's eyes.

“Alpha Dominic, what are you doing?”

“No one will even look at my mate and son, forget about touching them! Do you understand?” He growled out loud which made the guards bow down and immediately scurr away to their previous positions. “Alpha Dominic, he is not your son.” Stacey snapped in frustration. She couldn't believe Dominic said such a big thing. He called Ace his son and she just couldn't accept that after all the things she did. “I don't care!” Dominic announced in an authoritative tone. “But don't you wanna know as well? What if this child belongs to the rogue king whom you are looking for?” Stacey tried to provoke him by attacking his weak point. She knew it worked when she saw the confused frown on his face.

“Whatever it is, it can be done without touching her or imprisoning her.” He stated while looking at the board members. “What if she attacks us?” One of them asked with a frown. “She won't, I guarantee.” He announced while looking at her over his shoulder and saw her getting calm down slowly. “We are trusting you, Alpha Dominic.” The oldest one spoke up before looking at the witch with a serious look. “Take the magic down.” He ordered and she gave him a blank nod.

“For sure.” She mumbled before bringing something from her stash.

It was a glass piece with a small drop of dried blood on it. It was Ace's blood and everyone knew that. She closed her eyes and started to chant something in a low tone. Everyone waited for something to happen and soon Ace cried out loud, taking everyone's attention toward him.

“Mommy! It hurts!” He cried and immediately something happened.

A scent filled inside the room and they immediately knew to whom it belonged to. Dominic closed his eyes with a frown as he took a big sniff to analyse the scent. He opened his eyes with horror in them as he turned around to face her who was already looking at him. He took a few steps back, away from her with a look of betrayal in his eyes. “What the hell, Athena?!”

(Tadaaaa! Here is the chapter! Thank you so much for the reviews! I have 42 reviews! You guys are real sweethearts! Love you a lot! As promised you will get a double update today! The next chapter is coming in the next two hours! I won't mind if I can get a few more new reviews * wink* you know what I mean, right?! Let me know what you think of this chapter! Love you all once again!)

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 64

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 64

64Chapter

Alpha's blood "No! It's not possible! It's not possible! Hey, you witch! What magic did you do?! It's not possible! Break the freaking magic!" Stacey shouted in fury while looking between Dominic and Athena in That hopelessness was coming from the anger she was feeling at that moment.

"I didn't do any magic. I just did what you told me to do. Now don't tell me about anything. If the result is not satisfying for you, you should have asked me about it beforehand and tell me to change it according to your preference. It's not like I ever denied your commands. Now don't come at me." The witch snapped back at her, without realising what she was talking about. Stacey looked at her with widened eyes in shock. She just gave off that Stacey used her before for her magic. "Shut the hell up!" Stacey shrieked out loudly. At that moment, Dominic turned around to glare at her with his eyes turning red with unshed tears.

"Nathan, Justin, imprison these two. Do not let them escape." He ordered in a cold growl which passed a shiver through both their spines. But before any of them could make a run for it, Nathan and Justin were already out of their chairs, following his orders. As if they were waiting for that order only.

"Nathan! What are you doing?! Leave me! Why are you holding me instead of her who did such things?! Let me go!" Stacey shouted and struggled to set free but she couldn't even move a muscle in front of Nathan's strength. "Why are you guys holding me?! Whatever happened it's their fault, I just did what I was asked. Leave me!" The witch shouted but she couldn't get free as well. "You interacted with wolves and agreed to do what they asked you to do is enough to get you where you are at that moment. Better prepare yourself for your punishment." One of the board members snapped at her which made her frown in anger but shut her up.

“Alpha Dominic? What are we going to do now?” The oldest member asked while looking at Dominic who was looking at Athena with an unexplainable look on his face.

It was filled with anger, betrayal, agony, hurt and one more thing which no one could explain. While Athena was looking down guiltily, unable to meet his accusing eyes. “We will come to my mate and what she did, why she did that later. First I would like to know what Stacey did with the help of the witch.” Dominic spoke up with gritted teeth while looking at Stacey with a dark look on his eyes. Stacey looked visibly nervous and scared seeing the look on his face.

“D... Dominic! Trust me. I didn’t do anything. I... I just brought her here to reveal the truth of Athena. Nothing else. I don’t know what she was talking about. You have to trust me. Whatever else she is going to say is a lie. You have to trust me.” She shouted but shouting wasn’t taking her anywhere. “Tell us, what did she use you for if you want the best for you.” Dominic growled at the witch in an intimidating tone, using the best of his tone and it even made the witch bow in front of him.

“She...she... I am the same witch Alpha Derrick used to mess with your mate bond... I had to do that by capturing her wolf using my magic. That’s the reason her wolf is unable to respond to her calling. But what just happened with her, I don’t know what’s happening. I think her wolf is really powerful and is trying to free the magic and due to that, it’s possible that her power is unleashing. I don’t know what’s happening but I couldn’t think of anything other than this.” The witch explained.

“Alpha Derrick? How is he connected to her?!” Nathan asked with a deep frown.

“If I tell you, will you guys let me go? I promise to leave this territory forever. Will you let me go?” The witch asked in a hopeful tone. It was her only chance to escape and she was going to use it no matter what.

“You can’t do that! You won’t do anything like that!” Stacey hissed at her in anger and frustration but the witch didn’t even look at her. Her eyes were on Dominic who was thinking of her offer.

“Okay. I will let you go. Now tell me the truth.” Dominic said in a blank tone. But the witch wasn’t sure yet. “You are giving your words, alpha Dominic. I am going to trust you. I know the word trust doesn’t suit me. I am a witch. I can never be trusted but you are an alpha. Don’t put me down.” She played with her words to get the assurance she wanted. Dominic looked at her in annoyance.

“You have my words. The moment you tell me the truth and free my mate from every possible magic, I will set you free. But you will leave the territory as well. Because I give you another set of my words, if I ever find you anywhere near me, I am going to punish you by following all the rules. Is that clear?" Dominic asked in a dark tone and the witch immediately nodded at her.

"Okay. So, here's the truth. This woman right here, Stacey. She is nothing like she shows herself to everyone. She is a vicious woman filled with lies from head to toe. She is the one who teamed up with Alpha Derrick to kidnap your mate. She initially planned to kill your mate by magic but then alpha Derrick demanded for your mate for some reason which is why they made a deal to get her away from your life together. That's the part I know about." She took a breath to let everyone get familiar with what she said before continuing again.

"But there's more of her. But I am not going to tell you about it. You have to find it out on your own. But just know, she is worse than a vicious snake or witch, none of them is better than the other." The witch said while looking at Stacey disgustingly. She has never met a woman like Stacey who's filled with so much nastiness inside her.

"LIES! LIES! IT'S ALL LIES! I WILL FUCKING KILL YOU!" Stacey shouted like a mad dog. Her fur was coming out along with her canines as she glared at the witch. She shifted half way through in anger and defence because she knew that she didn't have any other way out of it now.

"Respected counsellors, you all have been a witness of what happened here. Now I don't want anyone to interrupt my decision regarding a backstabber of my pack. Because I hold the right to do anything for the safety of my pack and my mate." Dominic announced while looking at Stacey with nothing but hatred and disgust. None of the board members dared to say anything. "Following that, I announce to imprison and throw Stacey to the cell right away without any delay. Nathan, you know what to do. Throw her in the cell and make sure she can't escape and after that prepare to call a meeting with the alpha of South, her father." Dominic ordered and Nathan nodded at her, immediately knowing what to do. He started dragging Stacey out with him regardless of the fight she was trying to put in. "No! No! Dominick! You can't do that to me! You can't! I did all these for you! I love you, Dominic! You can't do this to me!" Stacey shouted like the pathetic woman she was but no one paid any attention to her anymore as she was pulled outside the room completely by Nathan and a few other guards. "We still can't believe how an alpha's daughter can act like that. She is a pure disgrace." The same man who was talking on Stacey's behalf till then spoke up. "Alpha Dominic, we should do something about alpha Derrick before he gets out of hand. We have received many complaints about him." Another board member spoke up with a thoughtful look on his face. "Yes, I will handle him as well as he made a direct attack on my pack as well." Dominic said with gritted teeth before looking back at the witch who was waiting for his attention as well. "Now, start your thing and take your magic back from her. Then you are free to go." He said in a blank tone before moving away from a silently standing Athena.

“Sure but get the child away from her otherwise it might affect him.” The witch said and Dominic turned around to look at her with a blank look on his face. She looked up at him with a sad yet worried look as she unknowingly took a step back from him. Her hold around a sleeping Ace got tightened as well. “Do... Dominic –...” She couldn't complete her sentence when Dominic reached her with one long step and took Ace out of her hold without any word and she couldn't even protest. He held Ace protectively in his arms and stepped away from her again. “Do it now.” He ordered the witch while looking at Athena blankly. “Okay.” The witch said and just like last time, she closed her eyes and started murmuring something while coming and standing in front of her. Everyone was waiting eagerly for something to happen just like the last time. They were preparing themselves to get a shock just like the last time. “Ahhhhh! Stop!!!” Athena shrieked out of nowhere, making everyone look at her in shock. She took a few steps back and took a support of the wall as she clutched her head. She howled in pain and pulled her hair with one hand and clutched her chest with another. “What's happening?” Justin asked in worry when he saw how Dominic wasn't showing any reaction. “The magic is breaking free.” The witch said as she stood there, looking at Athena to see the process getting completed. Athena's canines came out and red fur started to rise on her body. Her eyes turned red and orange again, looking like fire. Everyone looked at her in astonishment with widened eyes. “She is a red wolf!” They all shrieked out and suddenly her screams stopped. Everything stopped. Her canines and fur went back. Her eyes turned normal again as she stood there lifelessly, motionlessly. Her hair was hiding her face.

“What happened?” Justin asked once again while looking worriedly.

“She is free from any kind of magic now.” The witch said and immediately after that they saw Athena falling down, losing her balance.

But before she could fall down completely, Dominic caught her by the waist at the right time with Ace still in his arms.

“You are free now as well. Leave this territory right this second.” Dominic said while not looking at her as his eyes were fixed on Athena's half opened eyes.

“Thank you, Alpha Dominic.” Saying that she vanished with the thin air within seconds.

“Do... Dominic...” She mumbled tiredly while raising her hands up slowly to touch his cheeks.

“Alpha Dominic, so is this child...?” The oldest member trailed off without completing his sentence.

“Athena?” Dominic called her name for the first time after Ace's scent was revealed.

“Hmm...” She could only hum at that moment as her whole body was paining. She was feeling as if she was shifting for the first time ever.

“Is Ace-...” He started asking with a frown which Athena took away from him.

“Your child? Yes. Ace is your son, Dominic, whom I kept hidden for years.”

That was it. She couldn't say anything else after that and ended up losing her consciousness in his arms. He closed his eyes tightly as soon as he heard her and the pain on the wound on his chest intensified out of nowhere.

The moment the magic was taken away from Ace, he instantly knew Ace was his son but hearing that from the mother of his child hit differently. He didn't know what to do or feel at that moment. He felt numb at that moment. The pain on his chest was the only thing he could feel at that moment. “Alpha Dominic, I think it's best if we give you sometime. We will take your leave now. I think we will meet soon. But before I leave, I would like to tell you something which I think you should know.” The oldest and wisest board member spoke up in a serious and mature tone. “What is it?” Dominic whispered out. He was losing his energy as well. He was exhausted after facing such a big truth of his life and at the same time getting lost in the thought of the past almost three years ago.

“Your mate. She is not someone normal. I could smell her blood which has the similar characteristic as Ace's blood. Do you know what I mean?” The man asked and Dominic looked at him in shock

“Do you mean that... she has an alpha's blood?”

(sigh It was such a stressful chapter to write! I am sorry I couldn't update earlier. I didn't realise when I fell asleep. But here you go now! Let me know what you think! Hope you liked the chapter! For the next chapter, I want 6 new reviews to make it 50 reviews in total! I have full faith in you all that you can do that! Fire inspiration Let me know what you think of the chapter! You know how much your words mean to me!)

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 65

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 65

65 Chapter Going to be mine THREE YEARS AGO

There's a big party going on in the biggest hotel in the town. A big celebration was going on there. Everyone was happy because they found their new leader who was truly deserving. They couldn't be happier. Alpha Dominic, Alpha of Crescent Mystery pack is now the alpha of alphas in the north region. He had to fight his way through a lot to get to that position. And truth to be told, no one had any objection about it. All the packs accepted him wholeheartedly as their leader because no one else could lead them the way he would do.

As everyone was busy celebrating and enjoying the moment, she was looking for a way to get into the party hall. She wasn't invited to the party because rogues weren't allowed to be in such parties.

But she didn't care about that. Because she didn't even want to be a part of any pack to be blinded with rules and rules. She is better off as a rogue. Athena quickly shook her head to come out of the thought and focused on what she was doing. She had come here with a motive and she is not going to get it ruined. She sneakily climbed up the pipe and got inside the second floor of the hotel through the open window of the hallway. Loud music was playing downstairs but thankfully things were a little quieter here.

Now all she has to do is go through each room of the pack members and look for some cash or valuable jewellery. Take them and run away. As simple as that!

She knew the risk she was going through at that moment, it was as risky as playing with fire. Because the party was not of some usual Alpha's. It was of Alpha Dominic..

She has heard a lot about him. The things were cold, heartless, rude, dangerous and blah blah blah. There wasn't one good thing which she heard about him. Hence she was afraid of getting caught there because she knew it won't end up well for her.

"Shh, Athena! Focus! You can't get distracted by such-..." She suddenly stopped talking in the middle as she closed her eyes with a deep frown. "What is this scent?" She breathed out as she took a big sniff of the scent around her which was enough to make her go breathless. A scent of musky after rain along with fresh lemon filled her nostrils, making her and her wolf go crazy. It was making her feel out of the world at that moment.

But she was soon pulled back into the world when the scent kept getting stronger every passing second and it made her nervous. She knew what was happening to her and she knew waiting there any longer would get her caught for sure. But she couldn't move from her place. She kept standing there to get caught and eventually get destroyed. She couldn't explain the feeling.

But the moment she heard a loud and threatening growl coming toward her from the darkness ahead, she knew standing there any longer would be nothing but a suicide.

With that thought plastered in her mind, she pushed her howling wolf at the back of her mind. She can't get caught for such THING. She quickly turned back toward the open window, preparing herself to jump. She didn't care if she would be seriously injured after this, her wolf had this power to get healed in a blink of an eye. So, it wasn't the main reason for her worry. It was the scent and dangerous growl which kept advancing her faster than ever. She quickly turned around, ready to jump off the window again but it was too late.

"MATE!"

She heard a knee weakening hard, powerful and husky voice, halting her on her steps. The scent was stronger than ever which is why she was getting controlled by that voice so easily. She suddenly felt a pull on her right wrist and within a blink of an eye she was twirled around and was pressed against the wall. Her breath hitched and got quickened at the same time. And she knew it was the same for him because his hot breath was fanning her face harshly. With a crazily beating heart, she slowly raised her eyes to look at the person in front of her and she forgot to breathe.

She instantly recognised the Greek god in front of her. It was Alpha Dominic, alpha of Crescent Mystery pack The alpha of alphas and... Her MATE. The man was breathtakingly handsome with a sharp jawline which could even cut the glass. His eyes, his shaddy grey eyes were looking deep into her soul. He was wearing a black shirt which was open from up, giving her a nice view of his shiny shaved strong chest. But there was a small frown on his face which she wanted to remove at any cost.

She noticed that he was breathing harder than normal and his face was red. He was sweating too much in the cool weather as well. Most importantly, he didn't look well and in a sense to her.

That worried her. She was shocked by her own thoughts. Worried? Caring? How can she feel such strong emotions for a man whom she just met?! From where is she getting the feeling of doing anything for a man she just met?! What's happening to her?! "M...mate.... You are my mate..." Dominic breathed out while touching her face slowly. She hissed the moment his hand touched her. She felt as if he burned her. Because along with the sparks from the bond, his hands were really hot. She quickly touched his face with a frown to check his temperature and her eyes widened in shock.

"Oh my god, you are literally burning in a fever. You have a really high temperature. You should go to the doctor!" She exclaimed in worry while pulling her hand away from him immediately but she wasn't successful in doing that. He caught her hand in the middle and put it back on his face, making her look at him in shock. He closed his eyes as soon as her hand touched him again. He let out a ragged breath before starting to drag her hand down to his neck from face, making her touch him. He started to drag her hand lower slowly. Her hand was inside his shirt now as he roamed her hand all over his chest and hard six pack. She was too shocked to move or pull her hands back. "Wh...what are...are you... doing?" She voiced out with a lot of difficulty because with what was happening, she felt difficulty in breathing as well. "He...help me... It's bu... burning... Help me... Only you can do it..." He let out a groan before howling in pain. He closed his eyes tightly and gritted his teeth to bear the pain he was going through.

That's when Athena understood what was happening. He was in his heat! And she knew how worse it can get for alphas. They get totally out of control and some even cause disaster if they don't have their mate with them only who can help them and calm them down. It was truly amazing seeing him having so much self control in such a moment and even asking for permission.

It flattered her heart and she felt proud of him. At that moment, she knew she was completely ready to surrender to him. She knew she would do anything for him, to soothe his pain.

How naive she was!

"H...how can I help you?" She asked in a low and shy tone as she could feel blush creeping up her face. That was enough for him to know her constant and he slammed his lips on her.

She was really shocked at first but soon she closed her eyes to get lost in the moment. She wrapped her arms around his neck to pull him closer as she participated in the kiss.

He responded with a simple grunt when she felt the door behind her swing open. She didn't even realise there was a door behind her until now and she didn't even realise when he managed to open it.

Pushing her in, Dominic closed the door with one kick of his foot and instantly spun them around, pinning her against the door again. Once again, he pressed his lips back on her. His kisses were filled with urgency as he placed heated kisses on her neck, her only response being pleased moans as she closed her eyes in true bliss. She has never felt like this in her life ever before. She felt out of the world as her mate was the first one to make her feel like that and hopefully the last one.

He trapped her against the door using his hips and she instantly threw her head back, the feeling of his hard member sending her mind into overdrive.

"Wrap your legs around me." He ordered, his warm breath fanning her ear. She automatically did as she was told and as he lifted her by her thighs, she kicked her shoes off and tightly wrapped her legs around him. While walking them both to the centre of the room, he paid full attention to her neck, his lips never leaving her. Once there, he quickly switched the light on and had her up against a wall while his hands moved toward her shirt buttons. In no time, he had her top off, and she did the same to him.

Pulling the thin, black material over his head, she exposed the beauty that is alpha Dominic's glorious body. She allowed her hands to smooth over his defined pecs, lingering slightly over a faded scar down his chest.

She didn't know what was happening but things were going too fast. Not like she was complaining, she felt like the happiest girl in the world. Her mate wants her at first glance, what else could she ask for!

Reaching for the clasps on her bra, Dominic grazed his lips gently across hers in a teasing manner, leaving a tranquillisation tingle to shimmer across her lips. Once it's open, he removes the straps slowly, kissing her shoulders while doing so.

The entire thing fell to the floor in one smooth motion and he took a sharp breath in as his greedy eyes scan over her half-naked body. His hands gently smooth up her bare sides, sending electric sparks shooting through her, before coming to a halt at her rib cage. He used his thumbs to lightly massage her breasts, her breath hitching slightly when he grazed past her nipple. His eyes shot open and they were filled with desire. Without any warning, he slammed against her, his naked chest pushing against her. The overwhelming feeling of his lips on her while her nipples press into him is almost enough to have her coming right away. "Dominic!" She moaned, unable to stop herself anymore. His grip on her tightened and a small groan sounds from the back of his throat. His hands found the zip on the front of her jeans and within seconds, he had it off.

She attempted to reach for the zip on his jeans but before she got a chance, she was lifted up again and thrown onto the bed. He slowly started making his way down her body, worshipping every inch of it. Taking her right nipple into his mouth, he licked and sucked as though his life depended on it.

The pleasure of this had her fisting the bedsheets and her toes curling with need. Her breathing became shallow and the rapid rise and fall of her chest increased. While his tongue danced around one of her nipples, his fingers pulled and squeezed at the other one, the action causing the small fire in the pit of her stomach to grow more and more as each second passed by.

She clenched her thighs close together in the hope of finding some release but of course, she had no such luck. Finally relieving her from her tortured pleasure, he licked his way further down her body, causing her back to arch dramatically off the bed as her mind stumbled across into pure ecstasy. He reached the waistband of her knickers and slowly peeled the material back.

He began to kiss and suck at a certain spot on her hip and she knew exactly where he's doing so. It was the special sign-like tattoo on her hip which she always had but never knew from where it came. But it was indeed a beautiful sign which was capable enough to get anyone's attention hooked there. "Mm." Dominic's moan suddenly brought her attention back to reality. She raised her hips off the bed, only to have them pushed back down by Dominic. He began to peel back the remainder of the material on her body using his teeth, and the way his nose grazed her skin had her whimpering. Finally removing her knickers, he admired her full body with a different level of admiration and desire.

He looked at her in the eyes one last time.

"You are going to be mine." "I am going to be yours."

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 66

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 66

1. 66. Scared of

The next morning was supposed to be the best morning of Athena's life, but she never thought it was going to turn out to be the worst day of her life.

She woke up with a loud threatening growl instead of sweet peppering kisses on her face. The sweet dream broke way too fast than ever which she wasn't expecting at all and she was pushed into the dark pit of darkness when her sleep broke and she opened her eyes. "WHAT THE FUCK?!" Alpha Dominic's furious growl woke her up and even scared her a little bit. She quickly sat up on the bed and looked at him with a little surprise.

She still wasn't out of the fairy tale she lived in yesterday night. She looked at him with a shy smile while pulling the bed sheet over her body to cover her body and all the live bite he had given her all night.

"Alpha Dominic..." She lazily mumbled his name while looking down. She was too shy to look him in the eyes. Maybe that was why she failed to notice the visible anger and disgust in his eyes. "Are you confused about what happened here? You might be because you were in your heat when we met each other. I am your mate. You are my mate. And you mated me last night only. Just marking left." She shyly kept talking, without noticing.

The blabbering came from the overly happy and nervousness. She didn't know what she was talking about. It all seems like a dream to her still so she wasted a little more time and dreamt further about their future. He couldn't bear it any longer but held it in and looked at her like she was some dirt and he was disgusted by her. "Mark you? You??" He scoffed with a roll of her eyes, confusing her a little bit. She looked up at him for a split second before looking down again. She felt shy under his gaze and on top of that she was still naked.

"Yes..? I am your mate. So, who else will you mark?" She asked slowly in confusion but didn't look up yet. But Dominic had enough. He couldn't put up with her act anymore. According to him, how could someone act so much!

'Mate! Our mate! She is not pathetic or disgusting!' His wolf growled as he fought for control but Dominic had great control over him and didn't waver for a second as he snapped at his wolf.

'She is disgusting! She is here to betray us and we are never going to support or be with any betrayer.' He growled back before looking back at her, "You are disgusting! What the fuck are you doing here?!" He growled out loudly once again, making her jump. She looked at him with a confused look on her face as she was quick enough to notice the turn off of the situation.

"Wh...what do you mean?" She asked in bewilderment, not expecting this kind of reaction and giving her everything to him.

Her heart skipped a beat as she looked at him with fearful eyes. Her life flipped upside down as soon as she looked at the cold eyes of him which was filled with desire for her last night.

Or was it just pure lust? Last night was the best night of her life and she was afraid that it was going to turn out to be the worst day of her life as well. She had been through a lot in her life and she thought it was going to be her escape from hell but it doesn't seem like that anymore. If what she was afraid of happens, she was going to break down completely.

'No! Don't think like that. Our mate loves us. He won't do anything to hurt us.' Her wolf shouted and cried out loudly but Athena didn't let her words get on her head as she was preparing herself beforehand. 'We are not going to break down. You have to be with me in this. I need you to get through this. Please.' She requested before looking back at her mate with a helpless look. She was feeling like the most helpless person in the world at that moment.. "How fucking dare you ask me that you disgusting woman?!" He snapped while looking at her as if he was going to burn her alive through that look of his. "I don't understand what you are talking about. I am your mate! How could you call me disgusting after the night--..." She couldn't even complete his sentence when he snapped again, making her a confused mess.

“Mate?!” He spat as if it was something disgusting in his mouth. “Don’t you feel ashamed to call yourself my mate?! You are disgusting!” He cursed at her and it slowly started to scare Athena.

She was scared of what he might do to her in anger. She was scared of losing the last chance of her better life. She was scared of losing her last hope to get out the fucked up life she was living. She was scared of GETTING REJECTED.

“How am I disgusting?” She asked in a calm tone with a blank look on her face.

She seemed to predict where this was going to. So, she was better preparing herself beforehand.

‘No! Don’t think like that!’ Her wolf whined restlessly but Athena kept her in great control.

‘Calm down! We have been through worse!’ She snapped at her in the head before blocking her wolf and concentrating back on her mate.

It’s true that she had been through a lot in her life but she knew as well that if what she is predicting happens, nothing can be compared to that.

“You want me to explain that to you bit by bit?” He snapped in a cold yet dangerous tone.

(Dear readers, your dear author fractured her leg and is on a miserable bed rest. So sorry for the short update. I will try to update as soon as possible after I recover from it. So, please pray for me so that I can recover faster and write for you guys! Also, leave reviews please! *Maybe they will help me recover faster! *puppy dog eyes your way Love you all! Thank you so much!

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate Chapter 67

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate

Chapter 67

Chapter 67. Reject me! “You want me to explain that to you bit by bit?” Dominic snapped in a cold yet dangerous tone.

She masked her emotions well and looked at him equally coldly. She got up from the bed, letting the cover fall from her body freely. She didn’t care if she was naked in front of him, it’s not like he hasn’t seen her like this before. Last night was all about it. But his reaction was not as blank as before anymore. It darkened with desire again as she looked at her glorious body which was more glorious than ever by his claims all over her body.

She didn't look at him, instead made herself busy in finding her dress and undergarments. She found everything on the floor. She collected them all on the bed and slowly started to wear them back. She started with her panty and then bra before looking at him.

"I never knew I was that pathetic before sleeping with you. So, sure, I would like to know how sleeping with you makes me so pathetic that you are calling me names without even knowing me." She said in a savage tone without changing her expression. That was a big insult for an alpha and he definitely wasn't going to accept that. Just when she got a hold of her jeans to wear it back, he came out of nowhere and pulled her up by her upper arms. Before she could understand anything, she found herself pinned against the nearby wall. She didn't show any expression on her face as she glared directly into his eyes, showing him her fearlessness and carelessness. Though it was really hard being so close to him. His scent and touches were making her go crazy but she wasn't going to get played at the end as well. She was enough played throughout her whole life. "Don't fucking act smart in front of me, you freaking rogue!" He roared, making her frown. Then it dawned upon her and she realised what was happening. She has heard the rumours of course. She has heard enough to know about his hatred for rogues. She has heard that he is very cruel and heartless toward rogues because they were the only reason for him to be like that in the first place. But will he be that same toward her as well? Toward his mate? His destined mate which the moon goddess blessed him with? "Is that it?! Is that why I am pathetic because I am a rogue?" She asked with a frown, not finding that enough reason for getting this kind of reaction from her mate. Her mate, who was supposed to love her, cherish her, respect her and protect her. But she knew the moment his scent entered her nose, the moment his rough yet warm hands touched her first and the moment he called her 'mate' first, she was going toward her destruction.

She has seen many rogues having a happily ever after finding their mate who belonged from a pack. Then why can't her life be like that? Why it always her life which gets fucked up at the end?

"If that isn't enough reason for you, then add a thief and a slut in the list as well!" He snapped as his eyes glared at her murderously.

Only he knew how hard it was for him to fight the mate bond to stop himself from taking her once again and at the same time tolerating her in front of him.

He was in a mess when he woke up in the morning and found the most beautiful and innocent woman in the world laying beside him. He immediately knew she was his mate and remembered everything that happened last night. But a call he received after a few minutes of admiring her, broke his misconception about her. He realised that he wasn't as innocent as he thought her to be. She wasn't a+ anywhere near. She was a liar and a betrayer. She is vicious and someone who is not going to back away if she needs to backstab someday. She is someone who he completely despises and hates from the core of his heart.

How could the moon goddess be so cruel toward him after everything he had been through? On the other hand, her eyes widened for a split second before anger filled them up. Even though werewolves are blessed with fast reflectivity, he didn't realise when a slap landed on his cheek out of nowhere. It was so fast and sudden and so forceful that he was forced to take a few steps back from her. His head was turned to the left.

"How fucking dare you call me that?! If you don't want me then you don't fucking want me. Reject me and get fucking over with that. Don't you dare to insult me like that!" She shouted in anger. She wasn't going to justify herself by putting blame on him about what happened last night. She wasn't that cheap.

"You are right. Reject you. Because that's what you deserve. I can't believe a fucking rogue was my mate. And if that wasn't enough you are so cheap and pathetic that you slept with me to steal such an important thing from me. How fucking disgusting!" He growled once again, not liking her guts at all. "Fucking reject me! My name is Athena." She shouted back, unable to bear that anymore. And wanted to get out of there as soon as possible. She just ended up challenging him and he did that. He didn't take another second and looked her in the eyes before muttering those dreadful words, killing her on the spot internally. "I, Alpha Dominic, alpha of Crescent Mystery pack, reject you, rogue Athena!" He shouted mercilessly and as soon as those words left his mouth, she immediately felt a burning sensation in her chest.

She clutched it tight but didn't let that break her. She looked him in the eyes with a fire in her eyes. She looked determined about something and she was going to do it no matter what. "If I am going to go through hell, you are going with me as well." Saying that, in a second her claws came out and she attacked him directly on his chest, above his heart. He let out a loud growl before clutching his chest as he fell on the ground, on his knees. Blood poured out of the wound which didn't bother her at all. She bent down with her chest tightly clutched by her other hand. "Now I am not going to be the only one to feel the pain of this rejection which you caused. If I burn, you are going to burn as well. If I cry, you are going to cry as well! I am not going to take the responsibility of this rejection alone!" She whispered and shouted as she could feel his pain as well along with the rejection pain.

“Listen to me, little rogue. You deserve nothing but my rejection!” Dominic seethed at her while gasping for air. It was getting harder for him to breathe. His heart was clenching and unclenching in pain and he could feel a burning pain run through his whole body.

The rejection

“One day you will beg me to accept you. Then I will tell you what you deserve.” Athena said in a strong stance while looking directly into his eyes, shocking him.

Before he could understand anything, he saw her getting up and taking her clothes hurriedly. Within seconds, she was out from the window as she jumped out of it, just in front of his eyes.

He didn't realise when the pain consumed him so much and he closed his eyes, losing unconsciousness.

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 68

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 68

68Chapter By the lake Loud sound of water splashing around woke Athena up. She slowly opened her eyes to meet with darkness which scared her a bit at that moment.

But instead of freaking out, she calmed herself down as Dominic's lingering scent assured her that she was safe. She didn't know from where she got that assurance but she just knew.

She was laying down when she opened her eyes. She tried to get up and suddenly felt that she wasn't on her bed like she thought she would be. Instead it was soft grass underneath her which tickled her skin. There was a blanket over her body. At that moment, she was confused would be an understatement. Where was she?!

She quickly sat up straight and looked around to see that she was in an open space in the forest. There were trees at her left and a big lake at her right. The moonlight was glowing brightly to make her surroundings visible. The moonlight fell on the lake water and it looked like diamonds dancing with the water.

Such a beautiful scene it was!

That's when she heard the splashing sounds again which brought her back to her actual situation and she looked at the lake with squinted eyes. The sound was coming from there only. And that's when she noticed something or more like someone.

Someone was swimming roughly in the cold water of the lake. As if the water was washing away all his frustration, confusion, anger and every bit of discomfort while he expressed them through swimming. His broad shoulders flexed every time he dived into the water like a man mermaid. His muscular body was glistening with the shiny lake water, skipping a few beats of her heart.

She immediately knew who it was! Her mate, Dominic. He was such a handsome man. Moon goddess took her time while making him with every bit of perfection. What did she do to deserve him as her mate?! She put a hand on her racing heart to calm it down. She closed her eyes and let out a sigh. And the next moment she opened her eyes, a loud shriek left her mouth as she found Dominic just in front of her. He was still in the water. He swam to the surface where she was and leaned on it with his hands over the surface.

He kept his face over his hands, looking at her very innocently. His face was filled with a cute smile and a lot of curiosity. That's when she noticed something. That he has very boyish facial features. Even though he was nearly twenty seven years old, he could easily pull off the look of a seventeen years old teenage boy. The thought itself increased her heartbeat ten folds. "What are you thinking that made your heartbeat so loudly?" He asked curiously which startled her and brought her back to present. She looked at him with widened eyes and was going to move away but he was quick to hold her hand and stop her to keep her in her place.

"Wh...what are you doing?" She asked while stammering in nervousness. "What am I doing?" He asked in a casual tone while looking at her with the same soft smile.

She looked exceptionally beautiful under the soft moonlight. Her skin was glowing a lot. It looked as if the moon goddess came down herself to kiss her skins to give her that golden glow. How beautiful can she look! He could spend all his life looking at her at that moment, in this forest, under the moonlight.

"Dominic? Where are we? What are we doing here? What are you doing in the water?" She asked in confusion while looking around with a frown.

She was still in some daze which is why it was taking her some time to realise what was happening around her. She doesn't seem to remember what happened earlier as well. Not yet.

"Don't you remember what I said earlier today?" He asked, still with the same smile. That smile looked really beautiful on his handsome face but it started to do something in her heart which is why she wasn't liking it much at that moment.

“Could you please stop smiling like that?” She asked while trying to look away to understand what was wrong with her.

“Why? You don’t like my smile? I thought I looked more handsome while smiling instead of my usual scowl on my face. I got a lot of compliments on my smile.” He said with a cheeky smile this time, making her look at him in shock and disbelief.

She was taken aback a little by that sudden cheeky question but more than that, something else caught her attention.

“You got compliments? From who? Stacey? Or some other bitches?” She scowled, suddenly getting possessive. That made her shocked and him amused as he looked at her with a raised eyebrow.

It was going to be fun!

“Well, I won’t lie to you. You see, I am very popular among girls so getting compliments like these aren’t a big thing for me. I get them every now and then.” He said in a casual tone as if girls always surround him everywhere he goes.

But that wasn’t the main topic here. How her expression changed drastically and dramatically was the main thing here. She gritted her teeth and looked at him with darkened eyes.

“Who are they?! How dare they?!” She scowled, ready to put up a fight but before she could ask anything else, she was pulled down by him and her lips landed directly on his, making him smirk

She was too shocked to do anything while Dominic kissed her passionately, making her melt down. But she soon remembered their conversation and understood that he was trying to change the subject which made her frown and she struggled to pull away.

“Shhh... Calm down, tigress. I was joking. No one complimented me because I never smiled at anyone ever in my life other than you.” He whispered in a husky tone while looking at her face intensely.

Her eyes widened in shock and soon her cheeks turned red in blush as she realised what he said. She was the first person he smiled at like that. But more than that he was pulling her legs to get a reaction out of her and she fell directly into it!

She quickly pulled herself away from him again and looked around awkwardly once again. She cleared her throat and it was more like a warning to him that she won’t like to talk about it anymore. He understood it and kept quiet. He silently kept admiring her while she looked around like a deer caught in headlights.

“Yo...you still didn’t answer my question.” She stammered out once again while looking around.

“What was it again?” He asked in a lazy tone while not removing his eyes from her face.

“Where are we? What are we doing here?! Most importantly, what are you doing in the water?” She asked with a scowl, looking back at him.

“Oh right, as I was saying, don’t you remember what I was saying earlier?” He asked the same question once again, making her confused.

“What are you talking about? I don’t remember.” She said with a frown while putting pressure on her brain to remember whatever he was talking about. But hit the blank spot only. He let out a chuckle seeing the cute frown on her face as she couldn’t understand what he was talking about.

“Don’t put so much pressure into your brain. Let me help you.” He said with a chuckle and she looked at him with a frown, waiting for him to help her out. “Don’t you remember that I said I will take you somewhere after the meeting is over?” He asked while looking at her with a small smile, trying to hide something behind the smile. She looked at him with a frown as suddenly memories started to hit her one after another after the mention of ‘meeting’. Her eyes widened in record and her heartbeat picked up speed once again which he clearly heard. But before she could get lost into different thoughts, he pulled her back by throwing some water into her face. That made her gasp loudly and she looked at him with widened eyes.

“Dominic! Why would you do that?!” She exclaimed out loud but he didn’t say anything other than smiling at her cheekily.

“Don’t let your brain wander around and stay with me only. We will go everywhere together.” He said while looking deep into her eyes to convey the message that they will have a conversation about what she was thinking soon.

“Okay, fine! Yes, I remember you taking me somewhere. I guess this is the place. But what are we doing here?” She asked with a sigh. “We are here for our date.” He answered immediately after with a cheeky smile, making her look at him with widened eyes.

“What?!”

(Hello readers! Hope you liked the chapter! You won’t believe it, I wrote this chapter while sitting in the hospital to get checked up! How much I love you guys! Hehe! So, I hope you guys love me as well! Now, I will make a deal with you guys! You guys give me twelve new reviews and make sixty reviews in total and I give you six new updates in one day. Tomorrow. Do you like the deal? If yes, what are you waiting for! Go and write down nice reviews on the front page of the book where you can read the synopsis!

I will wait to read your reviews! Love you!

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 69

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 69

69Chapter Chance at that moment "Date?! What are you talking about?!" Athena asked in disbelief while looking at him as if he had lost a few screws in his head. But the mention of date put a shy smile on her face as well which he noticed.

"I am talking about our date, Athena. I never knew you were so slow in catching such things." He teased, earning a frown immediately. "What date? When did I agree to it? I didn't even know about it until now. So, how can you bring me on a date? And who brings someone for a date to a place like this?" She asked with a frown, playing hard before giving in. He smirked at her, understanding what her intention was. He knew that she liked the place very much. "My goodness. You have so many questions to ask." He sighed and she looked at him with narrowed eyes.

"Yes, and you are going to answer each of them." She said in an adamant tone, earning a chuckle from him which made her heart skip a beat at the sound. But she tried her best to not show any expression as she kept looking at him like she didn't care about what was happening. "Okay, okay. I will answer each of them. I never said I wasn't going to. But before that, I need your help with something." He said as he looked at her with hopeful eyes. She looked at him suspiciously because he was sounding way too innocent while asking for help. She felt that something was up with him. "Okay...? What is it?" She asked in a suspicious tone, waiting to hear with what she can help the great alpha Dominic. "I need your help to pull me up so that I can get up. I am all wet and it's too slippery. I can't get up without some help. Also I can't answer all your questions while being in the water, right?" He asked innocently while making complete sense and that made her more suspicious. He continued when she kept looking at him silently. "So, are you going to help me?" He asked once again while giving her the most innocent boyish look he could pull off, making her sigh. "You are acting weird, do you know that?" She asked while letting out another sigh. His 'weirdness' was making her heart go crazy, does he have any idea about that?

"Weird? How weird?" He asked in the same way, knowing very well about the effect he has on her. He smirked internally, enjoying her reactions way too much. "Ugh! I can't explain that. Just let it go and give me your hands. On the count of three, I will pull you up and you will jump up as well. Okay?" She asked in a strict tone and he immediately nodded at her, agreeing to her demand without any questions. She forwarded her right hand toward her without thinking much.

“Okay, okay. On the count of three.” He said as he held her hand tightly in his cold and wet hand while giving her a smirk. She frowned at his smirk but it was too late for her to read into that as she started counting already. “One... Two... The – ... Ahhh! Dominic!” She let out a loud squeal as instead of pulling him forward, she felt a hard pull toward Dominic and within seconds they both were back into the water which was surprisingly warm.

His hands were tightly wrapped around her waist as they went deep into the lake water because of the force of their weight. After a few seconds of being there, Dominic swam both of them back into the shore while still holding her. She was holding onto him tightly as well as if her life depended on him.

They both took deep breaths as soon as they were up in the air. Athena pushed the hair away from her face before glaring at him while he laughed out loud. “Dominic! What the hell was that?! Why did you pull me into the water?!” She shrieked out loudly while slapping him on his broad and naked shoulder and that’s when she realised once again that he wasn’t wearing anything at the upper side of his body. He smirked when he saw the realisation on her face.

“Because I wanted to do this with you....” Saying that he pulled her down, upto his face height before slamming his lips on her, taking her breath away once again.

His mouth, hot and daring, met her. All playfulness had left him and he kissed her with his own black fire, deep and possessive, consuming her body, her soul, and laying waste to all past notions of what it meant to be kissed.

Their lips were in perfect sync, matching rhythm, shape and intensity. He brushed his tongue against her kiss swollen bottom lip and she couldn’t hold back the moan that escaped her throat. Heat was building at the apex of her thighs causing wetness to pool and she didn’t realise when she grinded herself into his thigh for friction.

Dominic’s hands made their way down to her bottom and he scooped her up, she immediately wrapped her legs around his waist as he swam them in the middle of the lake without even breaking the kiss. But soon the need of oxygen knocked on their senses and they pulled away for a split of seconds.

Dominic didn’t stop there as he continued peppering her neck down to her collarbone and back up with passionate kisses. Every place his lips met her skin set her on fire even though she was in the middle of a lake with nothing but water around them. Her insides were churning in nervousness, desire and excitement. This was like nothing she had ever experienced before. It was so intense like his hands and lips were all over her at once. There were no thoughts anymore, only burning need. But something clicked inside her and she pulled herself away from him. He immediately protested against and let out a low growl. He tightened his hold around her but she put more force into pulling herself away from him. That made him frown as he pulled away from her neck and looked at her with a deep frown. "What's wrong?" He asked in a hoarse voice while looking at her with darkened eyes which were glistening brightly under the mood light. A frown took place upon his face as soon as he saw the look of distress on her face.. "Everything is wrong, Dominic. Everything that's happening currently is wrong. Can you deny it?" She exclaimed in distress while pulling herself completely away from his hold. He didn't like that at all and immediately pulled her back on his chest by pulling her by her waist. She bumped back on his chest and looked up at him with a helpless frown.

"What do you mean by everything going wrong? Are you talking about the kiss? Our closeness? Our moment? Are you saying these are wrong?! I will never agree to that." He stated in a hard and determined tone, making her let out a sigh.

"No, Dominic. I am not talking about that. And you very well know that. You know exactly what I am talking about." She sighed in tiredness as she closed her eyes tightly, praying for him to drop the act and he suddenly went silent and serious. That made her nervous as she saw the look on his face.

He didn't say anything and suddenly started to swim toward the surface. She looked at him in shock before following behind him immediately.

"Dominic!" She called behind him in confusion but he didn't reply.

He reached the surface and got up from the water. But he didn't get completely out. He just sat on the ground with his leg dangling into the water. She looked at her in confusion and nevertheless followed his actions and sat on the ground like him while keeping her legs into the crystal water as well.

"Ace is...my son..." He suddenly spoke up. She looked at him with a frown unable to determine if that was a question or statement. She tried to read his expression which he kept blank as well. His emptiness scared her. That was almost proving everything she was scared of.

She didn't know what to say or do at that moment other than nodding at him slowly and nervously.

"Yes, Ace is your s...and mine son." She confirmed his statement or question whatever it is while making sure to show off her right on Ace as well. She could never lose him no matter what.

“We created him that night...” He mumbled out once again while looking blankly at the water. He spoke so lowly that she almost didn’t hear him if it wasn’t for the werewolf power to hear almost anything

“Yes... We created him that night. He is the sign of that night.” She spoke up in a low tone while looking at the water as well as she got lost at the thought of the past once again.

“I..... always felt a connection whenever I was near him or with him. It was so hard. Trust me, Athena, it was so hard to not believe that he wasn’t my son. I had fallen in love completely with him without even knowing that he is my son. Without knowing that he was my blood, he was mine as much as he was yours. It was really hard, Athena.” He spoke up in a broken tone as helpless tears fell from his eyes without his control or permission. “I know... I know how hard it is, Dominic. Trust me I know.” She cried as well while not looking at him away as she remembered all the hardships she had to go alone while she was pregnant with Ace.

It’s not like she regretted any of that because the moment she held him for the first time in her hands, she felt like the happiest human being in the whole world.

“Why?!” He suddenly asked, making her confused as she looked at him with a frown and found him already looking at her with an accusing frown on his face. “Why didn’t you tell me earlier? Why didn’t you find me when you found out that you were pregnant? Why didn’t you tell me about him as soon as we met again after years? Why did you tell me that he wasn’t mine? Why did you keep him away from me for so long? Why?! Why, Athena?!” He exclaimed in agony while clutching her arms tightly as he shook her hard and accusingly. Unshed tears made his eyes turn completely red, making him look like the broke man which he was. “How dare you blame me, Dominic?! How dare you?!” She gave a hard push on his chest as she cried out loud in anger and frustration.

“Do you know what I have been through in these three years?! Do you have any fucking idea? I had to go through hell everyday while I was pregnant with Ace. I had to go through the pain of rejection. I had gone through the pregnancy heat alone. I had to die everyday to keep him alive while I wandered around the forest as the rogue I was. I had to fight everyday to keep his scent safe from those rogues, otherwise they would have killed him immediately after knowing I was raising an alpha’s child in my womb. Do you know how hard that was!? If that wasn’t enough, I was kidnapped by Alpha Derrick and kept as a maid. Do you have any fucking idea how hard that was?! Then how dare you blame me for this?!” She shouted at him while punching him on the chest nonstop to vent all the pent up anger of years.

He closed his eyes, accepting all her complaints without any word. He sat in front of her with his head hanging low in shame. He knew she wasn't done yet hence he didn't speak up and let her continue without any word.

"And what did you say? You said why didn't I come to you? Why didn't I find you? Why I lied to him about his father and why I didn't tell you about him the first time I met you again after years, right? How could you ask me those questions? How could you? Do you know how scared I was? Wanna know why?" She asked while looking at him with hurtful eyes which made him look away from her immediately. He couldn't bear the heaviness of her eyes as it broke his heart into pieces but she continued.

"I was afraid of two reasons and those two reasons led me to no one but you. I was scared of you, Dominic! You were the reason I didn't tell you about him! Only you should be blamed for everything!" She shouted as tears fell from her eyes uncontrollably. "Do you wanna know why?" She asked and when he didn't say anything, she spoke up again. "I was afraid that either you would push Ace away just like you pushed me away or you would snatch my only reason of survival, him, away from me, just like you did years ago when you rejected me. I was afraid of you, Dominic. I was afraid of you." She cried with her head on his chest. She was exhausted. She finally felt free after being able to say everything which she kept inside her for years. She felt relieved.

He looked at her with a pained expression as he didn't have the face to say anything. But it surely hurt him to know that he pushed her so much that she was forced to keep their son away from him only. She was afraid of their son's safety only from him.

What a tragedy!

"I am sorry." He suddenly spoke up ever so softly in a regretful tone, making her pull away from him and looked at him in shock. She wanted to make sure if what she heard was right.

"Wh...what did you just say?" She asked in shock and disbelief.

Alpha Dominic was saying sorry! It was like the eighth wonder of the world. The prideful alpha was saying sorry with utmost sincerity, did she need anything else in the world. She was so shocked that she went completely speechless, unable to say a single word. "I am sorry, Athena. I know no amount of sorry can recover what you had to go through for me but trust me I don't have anything else to offer you other than my apologies. I have never been good with words or expressing what I want to say. You can blame my past for that. But I am not trying to give any excuses. What I am saying is, I can't take it anymore. I have had enough and I am exhausted now. Running behind revenge has sucked my energy completely. I can't take it anymore. I want some peace and happiness in my life as well. Only you and Ace can give me that. I am begging you for that. Please give me a chance. Please.” He begged while putting his head down in front of her while he was kneeling down.

She looked at him in shock and confusion. What just happened was too much for her. He seriously washed away all his ego and pride in the lake before taking this huge step. She knew what that meant to him. She could tell how hard it was for him to come out of the shell he was in and say this to her. She didn't know anything about his past or the revenge he was talking about but he knew it must be something really deep to turn him like this. But could she look past what she has been through just like that? Yes, she could. AT THAT MOMENT

She knew what she had to do at that moment and she didn't delay another second in pulling his head up and pressing her lips on her. And he knew what that meant without a second thought... (Here I come with the first chapter of the chapter saga! Six more reviews guys! You can do it! Also give me lots of gems to make it reach other readers as well! You guys can do it! I love you all! Oh my! I totally forgot to ask you about the chapter between all these! Tell me what you think of these chapters. Did you smell something off? Because I did! Let me know if any of you could catch it! Love you all! Leave a lot of reviews my darling!)

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 70

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 70

70 Chapter Happy morning Athena winced as rays of morning sun tickled her eyes. When she opened them, the first thing she saw was Dominic sleeping in front of her. She found herself wrapped around his strong, possessive and determined arms, the blanket was covering the lower parts of their body.

She was in a new bra and she is guessing he is the one who changed her because she was completely drenched yesterday when she fell asleep. Her gaze darts on his face, and a soft smile tugs at her lips. She stared at his peaceful expression while he was sleeping. He was so beautiful and breathtakingly handsome that she felt the weight on her chest to even breathe.

But after what happened yesterday night, a lot of things have changed between them. Heat crawls on her face at the thought of what happened yesterday night. Nothing special happened but yesterday night she witnessed the most raw self of him. A self she has never seen before and she is sure no one else has seen as well. She felt proud and happy to be that only one. She never thought this day would ever come. But she knew one thing, that wasn't enough. She let out a sigh and looked at him. Her heart was still beating twice in one second when she looked at him. At that moment, she knew that they were taking slow steps toward each other. But how he looks at her openly nowadays with his intention clear, makes her heart beat crazily. The thought itself made her blush. She knew that she won't be able to resist his touches anymore. She knew that she won't be able to resist touching him anymore from now on. How can she wait till she reaches her GOAL?!

Deciding not to wake Dominic up just yet, she slowly pulled herself away from him and got up from the bed. She looked at him once again and a soft sigh left her mouth. She glanced at the clock on the nightstand.

It was six in the morning. She wore his white shirt back while she was still in her panty and bra before exiting the room. Making breakfast for both of them sounded like a good idea to her. She didn't know where she was getting this sudden affection for him from. But she knew that she was excited to surprise him with her handmade breakfast.

She was a fine cook!

She freshened up in the guest bathroom. Ace was with Suzanne and Nathan. She knew that she didn't have to worry about Ace when he was with Suzanne.

She got freshened up while thinking about last night. She loved every bit of it. She wouldn't have changed what happened for anything. Last night was so amazing for her that it even feels like a dream. She wondered what was going to happen when everything in her life settled down. Sighing, she took out some eggs from the fridge and decided to make some pancakes. She had been so caught up in her own daydream while making breakfast and swaying her full ass that she didn't realise Dominic was watching her from the living room, leaning against the wall. She gasped in surprise when her eyes suddenly fell on him, not expecting him out of the bed already. A smirk touched his lips as he found her taken aback. And his eyes were twinkling, as if showing that he loved what he was seeing. That's when she realised what she just gave him a nice booty shaking show. "What are you doing here?" She asked breathlessly, her eyes were roaming around his figure. He was still wearing his jeans but was still topless. Oh, hell. More heat travels to her face that it might even be hotter than the stove she was using to cook. Her cheeks were completely red. "Enjoying the view." He said with a smirk. "What a wonderful sight to see you in my shirt and sexy lingerie, cooking for me. That's my favourite sight from now on." He said while standing straight from the wall he was leaning on. She blushed again after hearing him but she pretended to roll her eyes to show him that it didn't matter to her. He approached her as she turned the stove off. She started to put the pancakes onto the plate when he put his arms around her waist, hugging her from behind, making her yelp. "Why didn't you wake me up?" He whispered in her ear while nuzzling her neck, making a shiver run through her body. His breath was hot in her ear, sending another series of shivers down her spine.

“You looked so peaceful in your sleep, I didn’t feel like waking you up. So, I decided to let you sleep. After all, last night was stressful for you as well.” She said while closing her eyes and biting her lower lip as his hand which was on her waist started to creep inside her shirt. His shirt, sorry. “Oh, God.” She breathed out breathlessly which he had heard. He smirked at her response while pulling her closer and caressing her soft body sensually. She felt getting wet down there just with how he pressed his body against her.

“Well, you are my energy ball. You have the power to take away my every tiredness and stress. Also you made me restless when I didn’t find you in my arms after opening my eyes and I couldn’t stand that for long.” He said with so much intensity that it made her heart melt at his words.

His voice was low and husky, adding extra effect. He smelled the skin on her neck before his lips trailed down to her shoulder, placing soft kisses along the way. She let out the moan which she was trying hard to control. “Shit. Now you are making it hard for me early in the morning.” He groaned. Which she knew was true because she could feel his hard erection against her ass. “Are you okay?” he suddenly asked and she was confused. His voice was filled with genuine concern. Before she could ask what he meant, he might have felt her confusion as he spoke up. “Do you feel bad about what happened last night? Was the meeting too stressful for you? And then our conversation?” He asked in a low and careful tone. She smiled to herself after hearing him.

“You didn’t, you never will. I think whatever happened yesterday was very much necessary. It was getting too much for me as well to keep everything to myself with a fear of rejection or losing Ace forever. These thoughts were making me go crazy.” She said in a soft and truthful tone while starting to feel like she will be breaking down again.

Dominic turned her around so that she could face him. A beautiful smile touched his lips.

“Whenever you talk like that, you increase my desire to cherish you.” He leaned closer, his cheek was grazing hers, and she couldn’t help but close her eyes, enjoying how he made her feel. “Tell me, what should I do now?” He whispered and nibbled her ear, making her let out a small gasp.

“We should eat breakfast.” She stuttered, proposing the idea even though her mind was nowhere near eating breakfast at that moment.

“Absolutely, I need my breakfast to function correctly.” He whispered in a seductive tone.

“I’m craving for my breakfast now.” Dominic’s tongue trailed down on Athena’s neck and went down to her collarbone. “And I’m not talking about the pancakes. Although they look delicious. I’m definitely going to eat them later. For now, I need something more sugary than that.” He said in a dangerous yet husky tone, making her curl her toes in anticipation.

She gulped, knowing where this was going. But she couldn’t do anything but let Dominic’s effect control her body, as if he was the only thing her body needed to respond to. His touch on her skin was like electricity attacking her body. Dangerous and unavoidable.

She yelped when Dominic suddenly lifted her up to sit on the counter, giving him the perfect access to her chest. He kissed her collarbone while opening the button of his shirt and pulled it down her shoulder.

“Can I have my ‘breakfast’?” He asked in a husky tone, stopping himself with a lot of difficulty.

And she could see that. And it was getting too hard for her to resist his touch any more as well. She could feel her wolf a little as well which is why it was harder because the mate bond was stronger than ever. As soon as she nodded her head at him, finally giving into the desire, he knew what he had to do next.

Then he pulled it lower enough to expose her breasts without taking it off of her body completely. Then he put his hand behind her back to open her bra hook. The moment he opened it, her full breasts jiggled out after getting freed from the tight space. His eyes darkened seeing that.

From the look on his face, she knew what his breakfast was and how it was going to be devoured by him in any second. He kneaded her breasts with both hands and she moaned, closing her eyes as she grip the edge of the counter tightly. She gasped as he wrapped his mouth around her nipple while still massaging the other breast. He open-mouthed, kissed and sucked her so fiercely like he hadn’t had ‘breakfast’ for a long time.

“Dominic!” His name escaped her lips as she let out a shaky breath. Now her fingers had left the counter and were clutching on his hair instead. Another moan left her lips as he softly bit her nipple. He sucked hard on her nipple leaving her breathless while kneading the other one crazily. Her breasts were so soft that he couldn’t get enough of them. He bit and pinched both of her nipples at the same time, making her moan out loud. “Oh my god, Dominic...” She was letting out short breaths when his free hand suddenly went down to touch her directly over her lacy panty which was dripping wet. "Look who is so wet for me." He said with a smirk while bringing his hand back up and took a big sniff of the smell of her arousal. "Ah, the smell of sweetness. I want to taste it so bad." He groaned while putting his hand back to where it was previously and rubbed her clits harshly over the panty. "Who's stopping you?" She asked with a moan while running her hand through his hard abs. Her hand was going down, crossing his V line. He froze on the spot seeing how badly her touches were affecting him. Just when her hand was going further down, he caught her hand in the middle, stopping her. "Not now." He groaned as he looked at her with fire in his eyes.

"Not now what?" She asked with a small look of hurt, thinking of how he didn't want her to touch him or didn't want to touch her.

"I am not going to get pleasure from you until I take you to the highest limit of pleasure that you will forget yourself and will only remember my name. You will be begging me to touch you and you will be saying that you love me. That's when I am going to get my prize. You will get to touch me only then." He said in a husky tone and her eyes widened when she realised how stressful and painful it was going to be. She didn't know how to answer that as his words left her completely speechless. She let out a yelp and closed her eyes when he put his mouth back on her nipple but this time it was the other one. He started to suck on it hard while giving attention to her other boob and clothed panty as well. She wanted his fingers inside her and she didn't know how to tell him that. She was too shy to tell him and it was frustrating so she started to rub herself against him.

"Hm, you want my fingers inside you, huh? Tell me. Do you want that? You get that if you agree to that. Tell me." He said while rubbing her harder there, making her tremble. She didn't say a word as she was lost to go to her heights just like that night but he suddenly pulled his hand back, making her snap.

"What?!"

"Tell me, do you want my fingers inside you, to make you cum undone in my hands?" He asked while pinching her nipple hard. He took a boob in mouth while helping her to decide he wanted. She still wasn't out of the daze of what his mouth was doing when the doorbell suddenly rang, making her startle, but he didn't let her go. "There's someone on the door." She rasped even though she didn't want it to stop. "Fuck it." He grunted, still eating his 'breakfast'. "They will go away eventually." He grunted, making her want to chuckle.

"But..." She couldn't find her voice when his tongue teases her nipple over and over again."

Dominic, stop! There's people waiting for us!" she spoke up with difficulty. Athena was trying not to make any sound as best as she can, but it was fucking hard when Dominic kept sucking her breasts. She had to muffle her own moans with her hand. God, it feels so good. He was damn right when he said that he would teach her pleasure, because she was dripping wet again.

"Dominic." When he still didn't answer, she shouted to take his attention.

He growled, clearly annoyed. He at last pulled away from her after giving her one last kiss. His face was worth seeing. She chuckled at his frustrated face before getting down from the counter and walking toward where his shirt was. She bent down to pick it up while giving him a nice view of her round and full ass, making him groan. "Athena!" He grunted out loud, making her smirk. She stood up with the shirt and looked at him innocently. "What?" She asked while passing him the shirt. He was going to say something when the doorbell rang again. She let out a chuckle. "I am going to go and take a shower." She said before giving him one last peck, she ran toward the bedroom. "Whoever is this, I am fucking going to—...!" Dominic gritted out in frustration as he walked toward the door.

(Whoosh! It was one of the most stressful chapters I have written so far! If you know what I meant! Writing their intimate scenes is so difficult for me! Here are some clarification. Dominic took her to the lake as per he said earlier and sent Ace with Suzanne. If anyone thinking things going too fast between them, then don't worry. You are missing something for sure, not me. Wink Let me know what you think! I am trying my best though. Also, who do you think is at the door? And what's going to be Dominic's reaction because of the frustration they caused? wink I love you all so much! Leave me a review and give me a lot of gems for more ch