

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2690

Chapter 2690

Hazel didn't expect things to be so complicated, and felt a little tricky all of a sudden.

"Then why does my sister like you so much?" Hazel was puzzled.

If Eric had a bad relationship with Elliot, shouldn't Layla stand by Elliot?

"I just said that they always quarreled at that time. Hayden and Layla were relatively young at that time. When they were on winter and summer vacation, Hayden would follow your uncle, Mike, and Layla would follow me." Eric recalled and the corners of his mouth twitched at these past events, "Later, after your father and your mother completely reconciled, the relationship between me and your father was not so rigid."

Hazel nodded: "So, you and my sister spent a lot of time together. Long, so my sister should have liked you since she was a child. What about you? Do you like my sister?"

"Of course I like your sister. But what I mean by liking is not the kind of love between a man and a woman. A beautiful girl like your sister, is destined to be liked by people. No matter if they are younger than her, or the same age as her, or elders, as long as they see her, they will basically like her very much."

Hazel agreed with this point.

Hazel: "My sister is not only beautiful, but also has a good personality. If I were a man, I would like her too."

"Yes." Eric took the tweezers and concentrated on grilling the meat.

Hazel suddenly thought of another question: "Mr. Eric, my sister confessed to you, do my parents know about it?"

"I know." Eric put the grilled meat into Hazel's bowl, "Because of this incident, my relationship with your parents is very awkward now."

Hazel: "Oh... no wonder I came back and my mother didn't tell me about this."

Eric: "I can understand their feelings."

"I don't think my mother will treat you with that kind of prejudice, right? My mother gives me the feeling that as long as it is reasonable, there is nothing she cannot accept. She has a particularly strong tolerance and it's also very high..." Hazel speculated.

“You are right, your mother is indeed a very tolerant person. But this matter cannot be considered from this aspect alone. Your father and your mother have a very good relationship, and they are very loving. Your mother can’t just consider her own feelings, regardless of your father’s feelings.”

When Eric said this, Hazel completely understood that the biggest obstacle between Layla and Eric was his father.

After dinner, Eric sent Hazel home.

The car stopped at the entrance of Foster’s courtyard.

Hazel got out of the car.

Layla heard the movement and strode out of the living room.

“Sister!” Hazel shouted immediately when she saw Layla.

Layla responded and strode over.

Eric was sitting in the car, whether he was going or not.

“Sister, I packed a barbecue for you.” Hazel showed the bag in her hand to Layla, “It’s all baked by Mr. Eric.”

Layla took the bag over and said, “You go back to the house first! I’ll be back after talking a little bit with him.”

Hazel nodded sensibly, and quickly ran towards the door of the villa with her schoolbag on her back.

When Hazel went to the door to change her shoes, Avery and Elliot walked over.

They had already seen Layla talking to Eric at the gate of the courtyard.

Hazel was afraid that her parents would go out and make trouble with Eric, so she took the initiative to say: “Mom, what a coincidence today! Our music teacher is on sick leave.”

Avery said with a smile on her face, “It’s a coincidence. Are you full?”

“I’m full. I ate a lot of meat.” Hazel put down her schoolbag and touched her belly.

Seeing Hazel taking the initiative to speak, Elliot accosted, “What did he talk to you about?”

Hazel used her brains, and replied, "Talked a lot, about his work, and the past... He said that he had a serious accident before and was about to die, but my mother saved his life. He said he was very grateful to my mother."

Hazel's words reminded Avery of many past events.

"I'll ask him to come in and sit down!" Avery seemed to be discussing with Elliot, but actually walked out after speaking.

After Avery saved Eric, Eric never forgot this life-saving grace.

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2691

Chapter 2691

Avery had saved many people. She saved Eric at the beginning because of her little effort, so she didn't take this matter very seriously.

But to Eric, the meaning was different.

At the gate of the courtyard, Layla said goodbye to Eric, and Eric was about to leave, but at this moment, Avery walked over.

"Eric, since you're here, let's go in and sit down!" Avery invited.

Eric was a little confused.

"My mother called you, what are you still doing?" Layla teased and opened the door to let him get out of the car.

Eric got out of the car and followed Avery and Layla towards the villa.

After entering the living room, Layla took Hazel to the dining room.

Layla opened the barbecue brought back by Hazel and ate it with relish.

Hazel glanced towards the living room.

"Sister, don't you think it's too embarrassing for the three of them to stay together?" Hazel had already picked the ground for Eric's embarrassing toes.

"Your teacher Eric is very afraid of our parents. I guess he is also on pins and needles right now!" Layla laughed softly.

"Ah, sister, you did it on purpose!"

“He’s too timid. Let him practice his courage.” Layla said, taking out her mobile phone, “show you the renderings of your house. I’ll find Uncle Chad asked for it. He didn’t want to give it to us at first, because he wanted to show us when it’s ready. But I said I wanted to order a soft outfit, so I asked him for the picture.”

Hazel moved closer to Layla and looked at her mobile phone.

The house that Mike gave her was a villa, and the interior design of the villa was completed by Chad.

The finished renderings include soft decoration.

“Wow, it’s so beautiful! It’s like a candy house.” Hazel exclaimed.

Layla: “Yes. A lot of candy colors are used in it. If you like it, I will find someone to customize it according to the renderings.”

Hazel: “Sister, I feel like I was spoiled like a little princess by you.”

Layla: “You are a little princess! You are the little princess of our family, and I am the big princess. Hahaha!”

The laughter of the two sisters spread to the living room.

The living room fell silent.

Eric drank the water in the glass in one gulp, then looked at the time: “It’s getting late, I won’t disturb you.”

Avery got up from the sofa: “I’ll take you out.”

Eric: “No need.”

“Why are you being so polite?” Avery sent Eric out.

After the two went out, Avery whispered to Eric, “Don’t take Elliot’s attitude to heart.”

Elliot actually didn’t say anything, but the expression on his face was not very friendly.

“It’s okay.” Eric smiled, “I’m very happy today. I’m really happy to see that you have found Hazel.”

“We are also very happy. However, Hazel has a relatively low-key personality, and she doesn’t want to be known by others, so we didn’t notify many people.”

Eric: “Understood. I won’t tell anyone about this.”

Avery: "Well. Be careful when driving on the road."

Eric: "Well. Go back to your house!"

Avery watched Eric off. After the car drove away, she went back to the house.

As soon as she entered the room, she saw Elliot and Layla sitting in the living room. The father and daughter seemed to be chatting.