Aurora was going back to her cabin when her cell phone beeped with a notification. She was about to clean the notification bar thinking it was Susan once again but stopped when she glanced at the name of the sender, it was a message from Gabriel.

The smile evaporated from her face recalling him but she couldn't do anything about it. Even if she had stayed with him, it would have been a form of cheating. She no longer had Gabriel in her heart, she wondered if she ever had.

The attraction, possessiveness she felt for Liam she never felt for Gabriel. Aurora was astonished by her thoughts, shaking her head she opened the message box to read the text.

It read: I apologize again for what I said, Aurora. I never meant to hurt you but it was hard for me to accept your decision. I loved you with every ounce in me but now that I looked at our time together, I realised that that was not the right way to treat you. In my fear of losing you, I tried to control you. I apologise for it and have decided to move back with my uncle. He is not doing good health-wise and now that I have lost you forever I have nothing to keep in Churchill. Thank you for everything Aurora but know that I will love you forever. Hope we can at least remain friends      Gabriel.

Aurora felt relief after reading his message and she typed back a thank you in her message. She didn't have anything else to say to him. She tried everything in her relationship but it was not meant to be. She was always destined to be with Liam and once again a smile broke on her face.

Aurora's tummy grumbled in hunger, she didn't have any breakfast in the morning so she decided to eat something for lunch. Luckily, there was no one else in the cafeteria except for her. She ordered her food and went back to her cabin to eat peacefully but when she reached there her mood soured.

Susan was sitting in Aurora's cabin with a straight face. She was angry at Aurora for being irresponsible. She was going mad when she couldn't find her at home, she asked Emily but she was also not aware of her whereabouts.

"Where the hell have you been, Aurora? Didn't you think of at least informing me or Emily that you Visit to read the newest content, everyone! night because of you!" She tells Aurora who fisted her hand in anger.

Aurora silently entered the cabin and placed the burger carton Visit to read the newest content, everyone! about my whereabouts, Susan? Why do you always have to know everything about me?"

Susan stood up and looked at her with a frown. "Why are you being rude to me? Don't you know that I worry all the time about you, Aurora? I am worried for your well being?"

"And I am asking why? I have always told you not to interfere in my personal matters but you never gave a damn about my decisions. I have told you many times, Susan. I visit to read the newest content, everyone! you have to poke your nose in everything? Why?" She practically yelled.

Susan was stunned. Aurora had never talked to her like that before. Yeah, they had fought on multiple occasions but never like this. "Is there something wrong, Aurora?" Susan asked calmly, trying to know the reason behind Aurora's outburst.

"Think Susan, think if something is wrong or not? Have you done something which I disliked? Is there something you want to confess, Susan?" She demanded crossing her hands to her chest.

When Susan didn't say anything, Aurora stepped closer to her and gazed into her eyes, "let me give you a hint, Gabriel came to meet me last night."

Susan stiffened hearing his name. Fuck! Her eyes widened and she tried to touch Aurora's hand but she snatched her hand away. "Do you remember now right, how could you do that to me, Susan. How could you?"

Aurora was enraged. "I couldn't believe my ears when he told me how you blocked his communication with me, Susan. I was crying and disturbed because I couldn't talk to him while the man was trying everything in his power to talk to me. Do you know he was attacked by goons and was in the hospital for three months? He accused me of cheating, Susan. I felt guilty when he told me all those things."

Susan was stunned to hear that. "I didn't know, I swear I didn't know anything, Aurora. I was trying to help you move on. That man was trying to control you from the beginning of your relationship. I agree I blocked his contact but it was to protect you, that man was not right for you. You also agree with me now, don't you?"

Aurora shook her head. "Who are you to decide what is right or what is wrong for me? I am an adult, Susan. I can make my own decisions. Whether he was right for me or not you were no one to decide. No one! Do you understand me? Do you have any idea how humiliated I was last night? I can't forget his face, Susan. I can't forget his words..." a few tears strolled down her cheek, Susan's interference had hurt her the most.

"I did that because I care about you!"

"Well, I don't need you to care about me Susan, I don't need you to behave like a mother hen with me all the time. I never told you how much I disliked your one-night stand lifestyle because I respect your right to privacy. Am I expecting too much if I want the same thing from you?"

"I can take care of myself, Aurora but you can't. I..." She tried to tell her but today Aurora was not listening to anything.

Aurora had enough, she loved Susan like a sister but she needed to understand that she was an individual who loves her privacy. "I am sorry but I can't do it anymore!" Aurora said, throwing her hands into the air.

Susan's heart stopped beating for a moment. "What do you mean?"

Before Aurora could speak Emily entered her cabin with a smile on her face which ceased when she felt the thickness in the atmosphere of the cabin.

"Is everything alright?" She drawled suspiciously.

"No, actually I wanted to talk to you as well, Emily," Aurora said, turning to her.

Emily scowled. "What about?"

"Did you know about Susan blocking Gabriel's contact in my phone?"

Emily glanced at Susan's ashen face. "Yes, I knew it and I h..." Before she could complete the sentence Susan interrupted her.

"She asked me not to do it but I warned her not to interfere or tell you, she didn't want me to interfere in your life. It was my decision, Aurora. She has nothing to do with her."

Emily opened her mouth to speak but closed it again when Susan shook her head. "You could have told me Em! Why did you not do it?" She gulped emotionally.

Aurora moved closer to Susan, her eyes were shining with tears. Aurora forced herself not to cry but she needed to do this. Susan needed to learn her boundaries. "We Visit to read the newest content, everyone! but I don't want a friend who didn't know how to respect my personal space."

Susan went numb. Her whole life was based Visit to read the newest content, everyone! Susan to take care of Aurora like an elder sister. She said that she was leaving Aurora in her care.

A lone tear rolled down Aurora's cheek. "How could you say that? Does our relationship hold this little value in your eyes Aurora? Yes, Interfere in your life but I did it for you! Because I love you, I wanted to protect you, save you from an unhappy relationship and you are breaking our friendship over a relationship which no longer exists!"

Aurora's own Visit to read the newest content, everyone! not only a friend she was her soul sister. She loved her but this time she needed to be firm about her decision. "Yes, Susan I am breaking our friendship but it has nothing to do with Gabriel or my relationship. It's because you did the same thing you accused Gabriel of doing. If he was trying to control me then so were you! Every time you interfere in my things, a little bit of interference is healthy, I accept it but what Visit to read the newest content, everyone! too but have you ever seen him interfering in my life? No, because he knew my boundaries. He wanted me to marry Liam but when I denied he accepted my decision, Susan and I wants the same thing from you. But if you can't give it to me then..."

Susan was enraged. "Then what? You will break up with me? Huh!" She demanded fiercely.

Aurora raised her chin in the air, proudly. "Yes." She stated "I can't be with a friend who didn't understand Visit to read the newest content, everyone! of the cabin because if she would have stayed for a single second more she would have started crying.

Aurora needed to be strong, she loves her but this was for their own good. She went outside where no one was present and left the sob she was trying to hold. Aurora cried for hurting Susan's feelings but it was necessary.

Susan couldn't breathe through her nose. She was in shock and for the first time after her mother's death, she couldn't be strong. She fell to her knees, the girl she loved more than a sister broke their friendship. Susan was crushed under the weight of Aurora's words.

"Susan, are you alright?" Emily asked holding her, she had never seen her strong friend like that. Never!

Emily gave her a glass of water when she kept breathing through her mouth. "Susan calm down, damnit! You are scaring me," she patted her back to comfort her and forced her to drink water.

Susan closed her eyes and tried to breathe normally after drinking water. Emily was continuously asking her if she was alright. She was not, she saw how Aurora was trying to hold her tears in front of her. Her sister was hurt because of her and that disturbed Susan. She needed to be strong for both of them.

"Susan, I am calling the doctor..."

"No, don't!" Susan said when she could manage to speak. she grabbed Emily's hand and managed to get back on her feet with Emily's help.

"Why did you not tell Aurora that I helped you too, why, Susan?" Emily asked once Susan seems normal to her.

"Because I knew she would do something like this. I have known her whole life, Emily. I know how she reacts to things. She lost me and now she didn't have anyone else except for you, we both know Aurora, we know how stubborn she is," she grabbed her hand abruptly, "Emily, please go and be with her. She needs you now that I am not with her. She needed you more than ever. Please hold my Aurora in your arms and comfort her. Please don't leave her alone!"

Emily was looking at Susan as if she had lost her mind. "What are you, Susan Kelly? She scolded you this badly, broke her friendship with you and you are still worried about her?"

Susan smiled, sadly, "you won't understand Emily. I don't have anyone except for Aurora. She is my only family. When mom died, Aunt Savannah took me in, she cared about me just like she did for Aurora. We have been with each other in every thick and thin situation. Do you think she would not be crying right now, no? She would be crying her heart out in some corner, Emily."

Emily was amazed. "I am sorry for every wrong word I said to you, Susan. I didn't know the depth of your relationship. Don't worry I will take care of your Aurora till you come back in her life, I promise," Emily said, patting her hand. "Aurora is lucky to have you, Susan."

Susan broke down into tears. The pain of Aurora's words was too much for her to handle.

"I hope Aurora thinks the same way!"

"Aurora?" Emily searched for her friend and just as Susan mentioned she was crying.

"Why are you punishing yourself and Susan like this, baby girl?" Emily asked, hugging her close to herself. Aurora sobbed in her arms like a child. "Stop this torture and talk to her Aurora."

Aurora shook her head in her arms. "No," she sniffed and broke the hug. "I have to be strict with her this time, Emily. I love her but she can't meddle in my business all the time."

Emily nodded. "What did you talk to Gabriel about? Did you finally break up with him?" She asked.

Aurora nodded. "Yes, it's officially over," She glanced at her friend. She wanted to share the happy news with Susan first, Aurora knew that it was going to hurt Susan. She also knew that Emily would share it with her, she was going to be their connection till Susan learned about her boundaries.

Emily sighed. "Look, I understand your point of view but you have to agree it's because of Susan you came out of that unhappy relationship."

"I am with Liam now. I accepted his proposal."

Emily gasped, her hand went to her mouth. "Are you telling me that you are marrying him?"

"No!" She replied astounded. "Of course, I am not marrying him this soon, I have learnt my lesson, Em. Although he proposed, I denied saying I want to date him first and not jump into the fire like before."

Emily shook her head. "I am happy for you, Aurora. I am so very happy for you, my dear friend," she hugged Aurora.

"Em, share this with Susan as well but don't let her know I asked you to do it. I know she wanted me to be with Liam. She would be happy to know this."

Emily rolled her eyes. "I don't understand any of you, here you are caring about her while she is asking me to take care of you. Visit to read the newest content, everyone! and spare me with all the hard work."

Aurora sighed but didn't bother with a reply. "Thank you for respecting my privacy, Em. Visit to read the newest content, everyone! guilty hearing Aurora. She wanted to tell her about the role she played in the conspiracy but she couldn't. Not when both her friends needed her but she promised herself that the day Aurora solved all her issues with Susan she would tell her everything no matter what punishment she decided for her.

"Keep her company tonight, I will be meeting Liam in the evening."

"Ooh! He asked for a date?" She teased Aurora who shook her head.

"No, this time I have decided to Visit to read the newest content, everyone! I want to see how he would handle my chirpy side. I don't want to pretend to be someone else. If we have a single chance of being together our whole life then Liam has to accept all the mood swings that come with me."

Emily shook her head. "I will pray for our boss then," she whispered and they both chuckled. Aurora was already missing Susan but it needed to be done.

"I love you, Susan," she mumbled, touching her necklace. "I am Visit to read the newest content, everyone! didn't have any other option left."

Aurora managed to resume working on her new design. It was difficult for her to concentrate on it after she emotionally burst out, but somehow finished it. She called Kevin to get the design finalized so that she could show it to Liam. The boss!

Kevin was okay with the design and asked her to go to Liam for the finalization of it into their catalogue. Kevin Rawls didn't like how Liam took off his liberty to work but he was the boss and Kevin had to accept what he ordered.

Aurora recalled how professional he behaved in an instant with her. "Time to pay back, Mr Knight!" She mumbled as she knocked on the door and opened it.

Aurora frowned when she didn't see him inside, "Mr Knight?" She called his name and entered his cabin and suddenly someone yanked her hand before she could make a sound. A hand was put on her mouth to stop her from screaming.

Liam closed and locked the door. Aurora's eyes widened at his action. She asked him what he was doing through the gesture of her eyes and Liam only smirked in answer.

"I am kidnapping you, Little one."

The hell!

Aurora was angry at his action. She thought someone was about murder her. She bit into his palm, hard. Liam snatched his hand from her mouth in shock rather than pain. "You stupid bull! I was about to scream bloody murder!"

Liam arched a brow, "did you just call me bull, Mrs Knight?"

"Miss Kings, we are in your office and as you have so genuinely reminded me of you being my boss and my duties as your head designer's intern, I would rather we behave professionally here Mr knight."

Liam sharpened his eyes, "but now I want my wife to kiss me," he threw her against the door and was about to attack her lips when Aurora clamped her hands to his face. "Your girlfriend, not a wife. I will be your wife when I say yes to your ring on my finger, till then-girlfriend."

An angry beast roared in Liam's mind. Here he was trying to behave like an idiot lover boy and she was showing tantrums to him. "Should I get on one knee, Mrs Knight?"

Aurora smiled seeing the seriousness in his eyes. Liam was hurt by her words.

Aww, my poor man!

She linked her arms to his neck and pulled him closer, "you have forty-five days to make me say yes to your proposal, maybe I will yes to you."

Liam pulled her closer to him. Their gaze fixed on each other. "You have to say yes to me, little one. I have waited like a saint for you."

"Saint? You were anything but a Saint, Liam. You were my dark beast!" She giggled at the comparison. While Liam's male part was getting to life seeing her angelic form so near to him.

She was laughing and Liam couldn't hold himself any longer he placed his lips on hers and kissed the daylight out of her.

Aurora's hand went to his hair while Liam's was on her bo**m. She struggled for breath when his hand roamed under her top and he shaped her breast. Aurora's eyes dilated as the sensations arose in her body.

They both were lost in their own world and only came back to this world when they remembered to breathe. "Have dinner with me," he asked in a sensual voice, tracing his forefinger to her lower lip. Aurora mentally rolled her eyes. She wanted to surprise him in his home tonight and here he was asking for dinner!

She cleared her throat and teased him. "It's highly forbidden for a boss to ask his employee for dinner in such a voice, Mr Knight."

Liam grabbed her jaw. "Dinner, little one?"

Aurora sensed the change in his voice. He became authoritative from being teasing within a second. Aurora knew that there would be time in their relationship when she would have to handle his beastly side. She has seen how angry he could get on that island.

She sighed mentally, "alright, are we going anywhere special?" She asked in a calm voice. She needed to talk about things like that and for that she needed privacy because she knew the talk was not going to be easy one.

"Yes, our home. I already asked Paulina to cook something delicious for us. So shall we leave?"

"Now?"

"Yes!"

"Okay!" They both went to his car, when they both settled inside, Liam closed the separation window and then pulled her in his arms.

"Liam? What are you doing?" She asked, gasping when she was suddenly pulled on his lap.

"I can't get my hands to myself, little one. You are my addiction," he growled and left small butterfly kisses to her neck.

"Liam..." she giggled, tilting her head a little to give him better access of her neck.

Both were lost in the heat of passion in each other's arms, they didn't even notice when the car stopped and they reached his home.

"Liam we reached your home," she giggled when he kept kissing her neck. "humm!"

"Liam, what would the driver think?"

"I don't pay Visit to read the newest content, everyone! right, my room would be more comfortable for you," saying that they stepped out of the car and went to his penthouse.

Paulina Visit to read the newest content, everyone! them. Liam didn't hear a word and scooped Aurora in his arms to take her to his room.

He had waited for almost a lifetime to have her in his arms. He couldn't wait any longer. Last night the beast got a taste of a little blood and now he was not going to be satisfied unless he sated his hunger completely.

Yes, Liam Knight wanted Aurora with a passion and he was dying to make her fully his. Her being a virgin was Visit to read the newest content, everyone! no one ever had her in the way he was going to have her intoxicated his mind.

Aurora's happiness couldn't be defined into words. With Gabriel she was never free to do anything but with Liam she can do anything with bothering about his reaction.

"Want to have a shower with me?" He drawled.

"No, I don't want to have a shower. You take it, let me change into something casual."

Liam was disappointed but he accepted her decision. Maybe I need to take it slow, Visit to read the newest content, everyone! to scare her with his dark thoughts about her.

"Do as you wish," he said, putting her back on her feet and going to shower. He gritted his jaw while taking off his clothes in anger. "Calm yourself, Liam. You are not a randy teenager who couldn't control his hormones, damnit!" He taps on the cold shower to get rid of his boner. He hissed when the cold water hit his naked body, he closed his eyes and took care of the issue of erection.

Aurora touched the beautiful silk nighties. Everything in his closet was sensual, she wanted to wear something comfortable. She sighed, when she married him there would be so much to add in this closet.

She didn't take out any night dress but then her eyes went to his side of the closet. She bit her lip conspirately and tugged out one of his t-shirts, put it on her with a panty only.

She didn't see Liam entering the closet and bumped into him while she was walking towards the exit. He was naked with only a grey towel tied to his waist.

He held Aurora before she could hit the floor and frowned when he noticed what she was wearing. Once again blood filled his male part and he looked at her up and down.

Was she trying to tease me? He thought, gritting his jaw.

Aurora gulped seeing his naked chest. He was handsome beyond words. Every part of her body was on fire, the thought that since last night she thought of herself as frigid seems like a fool's story to her now.

"Hope you don't mind me wearing your clothes before asking your permission."

Liam sharpened his eyes. "No, this looks sexy on you. You didn't like your night wear?" He asked.

"I like it but they are far from being comfortable. I mean I get it why did you choose them but I like to sleep wearing comfortable loose clothes and the nighties, if you can call them that, are for one purpose only and you know it."

At that Liam arched a brow, "what purpose little one?" He asked in a sensual voice.

Aurora rolled her eyes. "You know what I am talking about, Liam."

Liam was infuriated seeing her rolling her eyes. His hands twitched to punish her, spank her for the disrespect but he reminded himself to control his raging anger.

After all he didn't want to scare her, Yet!

Meanwhile, Susan was drinking in the bar a little far away from her office. She sent Emily away with her boyfriend saying she needed to be alone. Susan was angry and hurt at the same time. "One more glass!" She shouted at the bartender

"Madam, you are already drunk, are you sure you need another glass?" The bartender asked her.

Susan glared at him. "What does it concern you? Fill in another glass for me. I want to get wasted tonight." She slurred angrily, paid for the whole bottle and walked out of the bar with wobbly legs.

A man who was sitting beside Susan followed her."want to have a good time, bi**h?"

Susan looked at him. "You don't have what I need in my man, so go and f**k yourself!"

The man stood up angrily and grabbed her hand. The bouncer tried to stop but one look at his face and he raised his hand in peace. "Leave me, you bastard!" She cursed and the man raised his hand slap but before his hand could reach her face someone grabbed it.

Susan's eyes widened seeing the face of the man who came to save her.

"You?" She whispered and then darkness hugged her into its arms as she fell to the ground with a thud!

"Sir, dinner is ready, Do you want me to serve it in the dining room?" Paulina asked over the intercom.

Liam eyed Aurora's naked legs jiggling down the bed while she was talking to her friend. She looked a little tense and Liam wondered why?

"Sir?"

"Send it to my room, Paulina." He ordered and ended the call.

Liam needed to talk to Ethan but considering everything, he had to wait for a little more time. Liam went to Aurora to know what was worrying her?

"Why did you leave her alone, Em? Was she fine?" Aurora asked, worriedly.

"Yes, she is absolutely fine. She told me she wanted to be alone for some time so I didn't push her to come to him with me. We both know her, Aurora. She would be taking out her frustration on a man somewhere. Calm down and focus on your man."

Aurora sighed, "it's just..." she started but stopped when she sensed Liam's Presence behind her. "Keep me updated about her, please. I will see you in the office tomorrow," Aurora said and ended the call.

"What's the matter little one?" Liam asked, sitting beside her.

"Nothing."

It happened so suddenly that Aurora didn't even get the time to react. Liam grabbed her Visit to read the newest content, everyone! was firm. "Aurora, I am a bastard, I have anger issues but I try to behave like a gentleman with you. I Visit to read the newest content, everyone! of mine but now that we are together I want to tell you one thing and I want you to remember it till the end of my life," Aurora's eyes turned wide, hearing the darkness in his voice.

"Don't. Ever. Lie. To. Me! I will give you the world but I will not tolerate any kind of betrayal from you and I consider you lying to me as a form of betrayal."

Aurora gulped. "Leave me!" She mumbled.

Liam obliged and dropped his hand. Aurora stood up from the bed and went to the window. She didn't like the way he treated her. She had suffered enough of this in her previous relationship with Gabriel.

Liam cursed himself in their mind for behaving so rudely with her. She was treated like a stupid princess all her life by her father and he showed his darkness like this. He closed his eyes and left a frustrating breath.

What a mess! Why can't she behave like one of my other whore?

Because she is not a whore, she is born to be your queen!

He stood up and went to her. He frowned when he heard a soft sob from her throat. Liam ran a hand through his head and moved closer to her, holding her from the waist softly he pulled her in his arms. Her back touched his front.

"I apologise for that little one!" He whispered. Aurora went stiff in his arms and didn't say anything. Liam turned her and found her looking down at his fingers. "I got angry for a moment, Aurora. I know I should control my emotions but when you lied to me I felt betrayed."

Aurora inhaled sharply, she pushed him a little to create a space between them. She was right, she needed to have this talk with him. Better now than later.

"It was not a betrayal Liam. I didn't want to tell you about my problem because I didn't want to involve you in it and now that we are together in this relationship I want to be open about it from the start. I value my privacy a lot, and I want the same from you. If I am not sharing things with you please don't force me to do. I love you, absolutely, but not more than my dignity and self-respect."

Liam's palms were twitching. He wanted to get her in his knees and spank the daylight out of her. "We are together, I will always respect your privacy but when you are in a problem I want to know. It's my responsibility to take care of them. Even the thought of someone hurting you made me go berserk on that person Aurora. I am not coming in the way of your self-respect but you are stopping me from doing my duty, as your boyfriend and your husband."

Aurora sighed. "I won't tolerate you manhandling me, Liam. I will not tolerate it!"

Liam grabbed her hand and pulled him closer. "I am trying to change myself for you, do you have any idea how hard it is. I was always an alpha male, always getting whatever I wanted but then I met you, the girl who didn't care about me. I liked that about you, when you insulted me and my dad, I was engaged and wanted nothing else but to have you. You became my obsession Aurora and I didn't even know when this obsession turned into Love. My heart started beating for you, the man who has the habit of taking whatever the hell he wants to, bow down on his knees in front of you. I waited like a fool for you to accept my love and now that we are together, I can't describe the feeling in words Aurora. This is the depth of my life for you and when I saw you are tense, I wanted to do whatever in my power to help you but you lied and I burst out on you. So I apologise for you but this is the thing you have to accept about me," saying that he left her hand with a jerk and walked outside the room leaving her alone.

Aurora was silent for some time. His words hit her like bricks. Hearing him she understood one thing, relationships can never work on the wishes of one person.

She felt caged with Gabriel because he was trying to mold her according to him and now she was doing the same thing to Liam.
