

His Unwanted Mate

Chapter 6 Don't lie anymore

Sam's POV

"May I ask, when can I see Prince Carden?"

This is the first time I feel my brother's name is so harsh. This name reminds me that the beauty in front of me belongs to someone else. My heart is aching for this, and I still couldn't look away from Princess Lucia.

I think I fell in love with her at first sight.

Sam! She is not our mate! Do you fucking want to steal your brother's woman? !

Baron?

My wolf actually spoke! Since I started making new girlfriends frequently, Baron quarreled with me at the beginning and wanted to resist. Over time, he decided to refuse to communicate with me. He hasn't spoken to me for at least a year.

Don't you already have a girlfriend? Don't mess with women you shouldn't!

Hey, Please choose your words carefully. She and

Carden have never met. If Carden doesn't like her, then I have a chance.

As for my current girlfriend Alisa, I have been tired of her for so long.

Thinking of this, I cannot but feel surprised.

Oh, I can't believe it, I would actually hear the word "girlfriend" from your mouth. You used to be so very disgusted with my contacts with the other she-wolf, and you can only call them "bitch".

Sam. I am not joking with you. This girl is not suitable to stay in our pack. You'd better stop interacting with her again.

I can feel Baron's heart heavy and sad.

Why? Princess Lucia seems to be just an ordinary human girl.....

"If it is inconvenient for you to answer my question, please forgive me for my impoliteness." Lucia lowered her head and her ears were slightly red after receiving no answer from me for too long.

Her shy look is so adorable. I couldn't bear to let her suffer any grievance. "Sorry, I was just distracted. Carden went on patrol today, and probably will be back at night. Now come with me to see the king and queen."

I reached out to her.

The girl raised her head and looked at me with her beautiful green eyes. It seemed that she was hesitant to give me her hand.

What a pure and innocent little guy.

"Let's go." I decided to be a gentleman, turned around and motioned for her to follow, "This is a bit far from the king's palace, we can go there by car."

"O...ok."

"Don't be nervous, my parents have always been kind to juniors."

"I see. Thank you, Prince." Princess Lucia's voice softened.

I walked to the car and drove away the servant who wanted to come up with my eyes, and opened the car door myself.

I turned to look at Princess Lucia with a handsome smile, "Please don't stand on ceremony. You can call me 'Sam' from now on."

She seemed surprised at my friendliness. So her eyes opened round, like some kind of little animal.

"Thank you, Sam." She thanked me softly as she got in the car.

Her voice fell into my heart with the faint fragrance of flowers that floated when she walked past me.

Such a beautiful girl.

It would be a regrettable if let her marry a cold man like Carden who doesn't know how to love.

Carden's POV

"Prince Carden, I think you are mistaken. We don't have a human girl around 18 years old here."

I asked all the residents nearby, but I still couldn't find the girl. She was washing clothes by the river last night, so I think she should live nearby. But now it seems that my judgment is wrong.

Don't beat a dead horse. Carden, if you really need a woman, you can go to those she-wolves.

Austin, are you kidding me? Who used to roar when I glanced at other females: The only thing worth paying attention to is our future mate?

.....You are now chasing a woman who is not our mate and ran everywhere. Austin argued.

I always feel that he has a guilty conscience. But I am in a bad mood now, and I don't want to argue with him.

I didn't give up looking for my mate, but the girl made me feel really special last night, and I couldn't help thinking about her all the time. So I started looking for her when I was on patrol today.

But if she is just a traveler passing by here, then where should I go to find her?

I was standing by the lake, depressed inside. We met here last night, and the nice jasmine scent of her body still seemed to be remained in the air——

Not an illusion! I really smell her! And the taste is very fresh, she passed by here about an hour ago! I followed this smell and couldn't wait to trace the past.

Finally, I saw a familiar petite figure in a cloak appeared in front of me!

"Hi! We meet again."

I thought I would get her surprised look, but I didn't expect when the person in front of me to turn around—not her.

The strange woman in the cloak seemed to be taken aback, and then she responded with surprise in her eyes. "Hi, handsome sir, nice to meet you! My name is Andy..."

I frowned, my voice cooled. "Where did your cloak come from?"

"Cloak? This is my cloak."

"It's not yours." I debunked her lie. "Last night, this cloak was draped on a lady with blond hair."

"...H...Have you remembered wrong? I haven't lent the cloak to anyone."

There is no truth in this strange woman's mouth!

There was a hiss in my throat, and my patience was exhausted.

"Listen, don't lie anymore." I grabbed the woman by the collar, lifted her up, and threatened viciously, "I want to listen to the truth-where is the owner of the cloak?"

Fuck! There is the smell of "her" blood in this woman's nails! The fucking woman hurt "her"!

Austin roared suddenly, his emotions came quickly and ferociously, and for a moment he was out of my control.

When I recovered, there was only a sharp scream from a strange woman in my ear.

"Ah——y...you are a wolf!!!"

I looked at my furry paws, and then at the strange woman who had been stunned by Austin's paw. I can't help cursing.

Damn it. Austin, what are you crazy? You knocked this woman unconscious. Who do I get to ask where the girl is?