Star Queen Edniel Yoshida, took me through a corridor as I followed her to the dragons to confront a beast. I wasn't afraid as I followed her because I haven't seen how this beast actually looks like.

We both walk through this corridor until we get to the end of the corridor, where there isn't any way again.

Step aside, stand behind me, we're about to evade the mirror dimension, Yoshida said to me.

Immediately, I'd responded in due effect.

She use the mantle in her hands and drew a large circle on the wall, and then she step aside as well.

There was it, some amazing stunts, the enclosed circle pulled the stunts, nope! It seems a mirror is forming on the wall, just in the twinkling of eyes, the mirror got shattered into Pisces and another road was found, in-between the enclosed circle that she drew on the wall.

Come with me, Yoshida said, this way will lead us to the mountain, where the Dragons breaths for eternity.

She was making mention of the exact mountain I saw before my decent was completed, the Misty mountain. No one could have pictured a dragon residing, inside that mountain.

Fairest one, a mountain? I did see a mountain. I know, It is a misty lone mountain, standing so tall behind the coastline.

When we get there, you'll first move the mountain with your mind to the depth of the seas, and then the dragon will appear.

Wait a minute, fairest one, did you just say move a mountain? to the depth of an Ocean?

Crazy! Crazy! Impossible.

Who does a thing like that?

Are my a God that I should move mountains to the depth of an Ocean?

Listen! Frankenstein, you are more than what you know.

If you are willing, it can't be impossible with you.

Believe in yourself and there wouldn't be any mountain that you cannot move with your mind, you will move even the things that you cannot see,

Like the wind.

Your eyes have got lightning lasers, your powers no mortal can tame, remember to always use the strength within you, Yoshida, stirs the fire of courage within my diaphragm.

There are two dragons, inside that mountain, a Red dragon and a Black dragon.

One is the Queen dragon and the other is the King dragon.

The first, bears the symbols of the Legion of demon soldiers and the other carries the very wrath of the "End of days"

They will appear and make war with you, one after the other.

Survived them both and you'll be ready, for your mission.

Fairest one, this dragons will not survived in my hands, it is not about me surviving them, but its about them surviving me I boosted.

I Frankenstein creature was only troubled moving a mountain, I wasn't even bothered about a Red dragon or the Black dragon, I didn't know that it was suicidal for me, I was heading towards a grave end that's worthy of avoidance.

To wake a beast from sleep and to withstand its horror is something I shouldn't ask for if I were to be you.

Queen dragon and King dragon here I come....
