

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 108

In the car, the child had a straw cup in her mouth, she loved water, and was sitting nicely in Alina's arms!

Up until now, they still don't know why Andre's phone has her flight information, car appointments and even her escort information on the way.

Of course, they'll be interrogated when they get back.

"Do you miss Great-grandpa, Penny?"

"Yes, I miss Great-grandpa, I miss Great-grandma."

The words made Andre, who was driving, pinch her cheeks, the child's diet really can't be delayed.

It's only been a few days since she arrived in Ingford and she already feels like she's lost weight.

It was clear that Megan had taken good care of the child at Lawson Residence.

Megan has been talking to the child on videos almost every day for the past few days, and in the videos, Megan looks like she's about to cry, and the child knows how to coax her.

It was easy to get Megan to feel better.

In the airport, Andre checked the car into the airport, as he was working with Ingford and would be here any minute.

Once everything was taken care of.

Andre took the child from Alina's arms, "I can carry her."

"It's okay!"

Caleb put the child on the suitcase and pushed it ahead of him, while the child held on to the luggage bar.

Alina laughed at that image.

When she saw Caleb, Alina's heart leapt into her throat when she saw Caleb in the VIP waiting room with Emma.

She immediately took the child in her arms and held her face in her arms, as if she was worried that her child would be stolen.

Caleb's eyes were full of bitterness when they met.

The aura, at this moment, was explosive.

Tomas pushed Emma and said to Caleb, "I'll take Miss Bell for a coffee."

Without waiting for Caleb and Emma to say anything, Tomas pushed Emma away, the chaos was horrible.

And Caleb looked at Alina with the child in her arms and Andre by her side!

Caleb's eyes glowed with a chill.

But before Alina could react, there was warmth around her slender waist and Andre had her in his arms.

In an instant, the air froze.

Alina looked at Andre, who was now looking at Caleb with a dangerous look in his eyes, even with a strong sense of sovereignty.

Alina could clearly feel the spark between the two men!

"I'd like a cup of coffee too." Alina said to Andre with a slightly tighter tone, in fact she wanted to run away now.

Emma had been taken away by Tomas, what was Caleb doing here?

Unlike Caleb's danger, the moment Andre spoke to Alina, his tone was extremely gentle!

"Okay."

And with that, he put his arm around Alina and headed for the café.

The moment they passed each other, Caleb's dangerous voice rang out, "Did I say that?"

Alina, "....."

Andre, "....."

"Don't ever show your face to me again!" In every word, Caleb spoke with such danger.

Alina's body was tense as she held the child.

She took a deep breath to say something.

But before she could say anything, she heard Andre speak, "She and you are divorced, she can be wherever she wants to be from now on, I hope you can understand!"

His words that struck Caleb hard in the heart and Alina hard in the nerves.

Why did Caleb feel stifled when Andre said those words, after all the hysteria between them?

"It is in the past, and Mr. Collins, you have to move on."

And with that, Andre left with Alina in his arms.

The relationship between them was now clear, the sound of footsteps behind them was far away and Caleb stood still.

The moment he clenched his fists, the bone joints were clucking.

The moment he looked back, he met Alina's big eyes on his shoulder, clear eyes with innocence in them.

Such clear eyes made Caleb's heart choke.

In the cafe, Emma was sitting in her wheelchair with a forlorn look on her face, and Tomas put a cup of coffee in front of her, "Here you are."

"Will I be able to stand up?" Emma asked in a faint tone.

And this dark calmness seemed to carry with it a certain heaviness for her.

Last night, and now!

No one knows what kind of crying she had to endure when the doctor handed Caleb the report of her shattered calf.

She felt like her sky was falling.

The right hand is still inoperable!

And now the right leg! Emma felt her heart choke when she thought of what the doctor had said.

Tomas stiffened for a moment at that.

And then he said, "You must believe Master Caleb."

Believe, Caleb!

Emma had always believed, no matter what had happened over the years, she had always believed that Caleb would be on her side.

Emma wasn't sure what had happened that night! But she does know that that night was important to him.

How else could she have been such a big part of his life all those years!

But now!

Could she really trust Caleb with something that could be solved medically?

"Although Mr. Gibson is not as good a doctor as Mr. Francis, he is only ranked internationally in the top. He will find a way out."

Tomas comforted Emma.

Crushing fractures!

The doctor had examined her right leg, which was more serious than the finger bone of her right hand, and it would not be easy to restore it to normal.

So now Tomas's reassurance was no consolation to Emma.

When she saw Alina walking over with the child and Andre, Emma's eyes welled up.

They were match to each other, and God was nice to Alina.

Andre carried Alina straight to the box, half an hour before boarding, and Alina didn't want any surprises.

However, when Andre got to the door to go out, Caleb followed him at some point and now looked at him and Alina with a cold look in his eyes!

The look in his eyes was as if he was going to devour them!

Alina's heart was in her throat at the sight of Caleb and she pushed Penny's head into her arms.
