

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 114

The voice on the other side of the phone, please was not Alina's, but a man's, "Sir, we are from Waiting for Someone, are you the family of this lady? If so come and get her here."

Caleb, "....."

Mulherd Manor to Waiting for Someone, Alina drove for about 40 minutes and Caleb arrived in about 10 minutes.

After this evening, Tomas will probably have a lot of work to do.

In the lounge, at that moment Caleb's pupils tightened and the coldness radiated from his body as he saw that Alina was hugging a man.

He grabbed the man and tightened his fist, but stopped the moment he saw his face!

"Hmph!" Ayden was thrown onto the sofa with a grunt.

Alina was already drowning and Caleb grabbed her off the couch.

"Drink another one." Alina muttered.

Her face was already red.

In two years with the Collins family, and two years of marriage to him, Caleb had never seen her this drunk.

In Caleb's mind, Alina was always a disciplined person.

But tonight, looking at her unruly side, something bit him in the heart.

"Ayden, I love you so much."

Her hands were interacting wildly as Caleb hugged her and walked outside.

Caleb smiled, his face darkening to the core.

Between them, there had never been such a love affair! Plus she was the daughter of the Hughes family, during the two years she was in the Collins family, everyone treated her with respect, and their marriage was done in that way.

So love, between them, never existed!

The marriage, for her and for him, seemed like an obligation and a duty, and she protected her status as Mrs. Collins very well and presented herself very well.

She has been very well received by the public and, apart from the divorce, there are no flaws to be found.

And now, she said she loved Ayden..

“Do you like Andre?” Caleb’s grip on her grew heavier as he asked this question.

However, he regretted asking the question.

Because he didn’t want to hear the answer that he didn’t want to hear from her.

What he had seen of them all this time was enough to make him feel bad!

But the next moment, Caleb was so angry that he wanted to slam Alina to the ground, only to hear her mutter, “I like Andre!”

Caleb, “.....”

“Alina!” he said, giving her a sharp twist on the face, but it did nothing to vent his frustration.

Alina was probably so drunk that, despite Caleb’s force, she didn’t feel any pain.

Caleb was even more furious.

What the hell was going on here?

It took him a lot trouble to get Alina into the car, Well, carrying a drunk woman was really a hard job.

“Andre, Andre . Alina mumbled.

Caleb felt like his nerves were going to explode.

Is Andre that important to her? How important was it in her heart? She called him by his name when she was drunk and unconscious.

Caleb had never known what it was like to lose.

But now, listening to Alina’s stubborn attitude toward Andre, he has a crazy idea in his mind, that is to get rid of all her memories of Andre, and then force him into her mind.

But looking back, what was there between him and Alina that was worth remembering? There was nothing.

“What about Caleb? Do you miss your husband?” Caleb asked.

The soft woman in the passenger seat asked in a stormy tone.

When the word husband came out of his mouth, Caleb’s heart was shaken violently.

At this moment, it’s as if he’s fully aware of what he means to Alina.

It’s always been right.

Does he feel like he should be her husband? But now the relationship seems to have change!

“Say it.” Caleb was furious when Alina was silent.

When he said Andre, she was so excited, but now when she was silent. What does this woman mean?

Angry?

Crazy?

Unbeknownst to Caleb, Alina had fallen asleep from too much alcohol and frantically grabbed her shoulders.

“What were our two years?” He was utterly infuriated by her silence and lost his mind.

Alina, who had lost consciousness due to the crazy shaking, now felt dizzy and uncomfortable.

It was hard to open her eyes.

Being vigorously shaken by the man, her heart is like a stone to let her uncomfortable, finally she threw out.

It came the instant silence.

Caleb, “...”

Fundus of madness and anger at this moment was completely frozen.

Alina is really sick. Even when she’s not awake, she’s throwing up like crazy.

The smell of the car was so bad!

Caleb was unpleasant seeing this.

“Alina!” I’m not done with you.

Alina always knew Caleb was a neat freak during the years he was around.

During the three months of her pregnancy, she had tried to bear it in his presence, and when he was gone, it was dark.

By his side, she always maintained a decent image, he never knew, she pregnancy reaction was uncomfortable.

Alina is drunk, and all of her decency suddenly falls apart. She once maintained a decent image for Caleb, and now she is completely shattered.

The sound of vomiting hit Caleb’s nerves.

He’s really ready to throw Alina out of the car now.

What was this between them that she had done him such harm in his life?

As far as Caleb is concerned, Alina is doing him a disservice.

“You bloody woman! Fundus storm was in the attack, but the anger finally extinguished.

Because Alina was really drunk, no matter how angry he was, she didn’t react at all.
