

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 115

Instead of sending Alina back to Mulherd Manor, Caleb took the presidential suite at his nearest hotel while everything was sorted out.

It was almost four o'clock when they arrived.

"Andre.!"

Caleb, "....."

He is dressed in a nightgown, his hair still dripping with water.

Just now, in the bathroom, he held her down in the bathtub three or four times, until she didn't smell like that at all.

Alina probably can't really drink, even at the Collins family dinner, but she never did.

So she had too much to drink this time, and even after the bathing, she still had no intention of sobering up.

And Caleb was busy for almost two hours, and the heartless man was still calling Andre by his name.

The moment he got close, he could still smell her wine, and the warm breath sprayed on her delicate red cheeks.!

"You haven't told me, who is Caleb to you?" In the car, he had been frantic to get her answer.

Despite being interrupted in such an unpleasant way, Caleb now wants to know.

When she was sober, they were at loggerheads, so he should at least know what kind of presence he had in her heart when she was drunk.

However, it was a disappointment in the end.

Alina muttered, "Andre, husband!"

After saying this, she turned around, hugged her pillow and fell into a deep sleep.

Caleb's eyes were glowing with a storm of madness, Andre, husband!

Caleb's sanity was now completely frayed.

Caleb was really mad.

No one knows how he managed to get through those three years, to find her and bring her back to Ingford, not to have her heart set on another man.

It was as if something in his head had been completely pried open, and he was completely awake, but also stubbornly unwilling to bear it.

Those things were so bad for him,!

Andre!

How could he occupy such an important place in her heart?

Back then, when Grandpa made that decision, she knew that he would absolutely respect her, and if she didn't nod, then they wouldn't have had that marriage!

But she nodded, and now she wants to run away halfway? Does this woman really think he can just mess with her?

However, the moment it became clear that he was in his possession, his movement instantly stopped! Looking at Alina, who was completely asleep, her pupils tightened!

The moment Megan received Penny, she held the child's soft body in her arms and burst into tears.

"You're scaring Great-grandma, how can you...?" The words that she wanted to scold the child could not be uttered at this moment.

And so the child was held in her arms.

"Great-grandma, don't be sad, I am good." The child didn't seem to have the slightest idea what a big deal she had done.

Megan, "Yeah!"

Although everyone was scared to death this time, the child, who is less than three years old, reached her mother's side so smoothly that he had to say that the child's intelligence is really high.

She wondered what would have happened to any other child, but Penny managed to get to Alina without any problems.

"Then Great-grandma, don't be sad."

"Don't do it again, or you are killing me." That's a true statement!

The child was held in Megan's arms for a moment, afraid that something might happen if she let go.

“Well, now tell Great-grandma, how on earth did you get there?”

Until now, Megan and Zane couldn't figure out how the child had managed to get a taxi or get to the airport.

All the servants and housekeepers were questioned carefully, even everyone in the family.

However, no answer was forthcoming!

Andre, who was following behind at the moment, was nervous when he heard his grandmother ask this question.

The next moment, the child uttered, “It's Uncle.”

The air was instantly frozen.

The old Lawson and Megan looked at Andre at the same time, and Megan looked at the old Lawson.

Andre, “.....” At this moment, he felt that these eyes were almost lynching him.

“Grandma, Grandpa, I really don't know anything about this!”

Andre was hopeless about this.

Megan was already shaking with anger, “What the hell is going on!?”

Children don't lie, especially when Penny was brought up by her and she knows the child well.

Andre, “I was drunk that night, and I don't know what happened.”

Although this explanation is somewhat pale, it is true, and he really has no idea what the situation was that night.

Megan was angry and her eyes went black.

Zane's eyes were more stern as he looked at Andre, who tensed up, “Grandpa, I...!”

“It's Uncle's phone.” The child spoke again as the atmosphere was stagnant.

Andre drew a breath of cold air.

What had he done to this child to hurt him so much?

All eyes were on Andre at the moment, and they were almost as if he was being lynched.

But just as Andre was about to get angry, Penny spoke again, "I used my uncle's phone!"

"You used his phone?" Megan asked, her voice trembling as she looked at the child in her arms.

The child nodded!

It was a clear explanation, but now the atmosphere was even more gloomy.

Penny, using Andre's phone, booked a flight, booked a car, booked en route hosting! And got to Alina without a hitch?

Andre instantly looked at Penny as if she were a monster. Was a child less than three years old that capable?

"Penny, come to Great-grandpa." Apparently, the old Lawson's mind was now completely muddled too.

Penny slid out of Megan's arms and ran neatly to Zane's side, "Great-grandpa, aren't I good?"

Now all the people were shocked.

How exactly did she know about those procedures? And how did she do it? After all, it is very complicated, isn't it?

"Yeah!"

"And will Great-grandpa reward me?" The child looked at the old Lawson like she was taking credit.

The eyes that were so stern a moment ago are now filled with doting as they look at Penny.

He said, "Penny, what do you want?"

"I want to play with my uncle."

"Play with your uncle?"

"I'll go wherever my uncle goes!"

Andre felt a pain in his head, the nappy wearer should stop causing him trouble and he would never take the child again.
