

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 120

"Lady Leyla and Mr. Hughes have good heart, but what do they get?" What they got was Emma tearing at Alina like crazy.

"Lucy ." Alina didn't know what to say in this case.

In her eyes, there was a sad look.

Alina couldn't understand the things Lucy said.

Back in the day, when Mum and Dad were around, when she was in junior school, they would pick her up almost any time.

Though they were very busy, she was given enough time of company, and because of this, Hope and Emma were with her almost all the time.

In the hospital wing, Emma was having her injection, and the doctor took the temperature gauge and had a look, "It's still a bit high, don't get wet again."

After a few more words of explanation, the doctor left.

Emma and Caleb were the only ones left in the ward, Caleb had a burning cigarette in his hand, not smoking.

But in his eyes, there was an endless coldness.

Emma was a patient, and in the past, she would have tried to be pamper, but now, she did not.

After all, having been around Caleb for so long, she knew exactly what was going on when he looked like this.

But today, she'd really done enough to keep it under wraps, so how could Caleb know about it?

Finally, Caleb spoke up and broke the silence.

"What do you really want?"

Emme was not looking good and her heart felt choked when she heard Caleb's question so bluntly.

So, was he sending her away now?

Was he annoyed?

Emma did not know that during this time what she had some was annoying to a man.

She had been too far.

“What do you mean?” Emma took a deep breath, trying to suppress her emotions.

Caleb took a drag on his cigarette and put the unlit one down in the ashtray before looking deep into Emma’s eyes.

Emma’s heart skipped a beat at the look in his eyes.

“Caleb.”

His eyes were so sharp.

Her heart was in her throat at this moment.

Because once he had that look, it was as if there was an outcome waiting for her.

“You found paparazzi. What do you want?”

Emma, “.....”

His voice was clam, yet at this moment it seemed as if her true face had been seen.

Her heart was beating wildly.

“Caleb, I didn’t.” Emma said in a slightly strained tone.

He knew it..

“Emma.” Caleb interrupted her arguments, and that was the moment that made Emma know that it was useless to argue.

Why did Caleb know about this even though she was so careful?

The silence aggravated the atmosphere of the ward.

Looking at his face, Emma only felt herself more and more suffocated and uncomfortable.

Just as Caleb got up, Emma finally managed to say, “I’m scared.”

She admitted it.

At this moment, Emma had to admit, for this man was so overbearing..

No matter how much the outside world had commented on his preference for her over the years, Emma knew that he was shrewd.

If he was really that easy to be fooled, if he was as fond of her as they say he was, then they would have been married already.

However, as Alina said, Caleb would have married her if he had wanted to.

It was because he was only responsible for her. So no matter what changes in his world, she was only one person in his charge.

Before Alina came back, she could do whatever she wanted with this responsibility.

“That night, you took her away, you were together for one night.” Emma looked at Caleb with tears in her eyes.

Caleb’s face was already gloomy, but now it was even darker.

Emma’s heart was choking.

“I have nothing left in this world.” she said sorely.

And she was telling the truth. She had nothing now, so she was scared at the loss of that.

Caleb was unhappy to hear that.

The darkness in his eyes was like an abyss, and Emma was caught in this dark abyss and could not be pulled up.

She took a deep breath and tried to swallow the suffocation in her heart.

“I told you, I will give you a share of what you deserve, but what you can’t have, don’t even think about it.” His words were cold.

Caleb has said this more than once.

“Yes, you did say that. But I can’t have what you can give me now.” She burst into tears.

Many resources had given to her by Caleb in her career over the years, Jay was the biggest resource. Ever since she joined eF, she had been surrounded by great resources.

But only if she could hold a pen.

Her finger bones now were still inoperable and she could not hold a pen. What else can she do. However, Alina made a great success in the show.

And she had created her brand in this short time.

She had everything.

She was once so high and mighty. Now even with the loss of all her family, she was still the same.

Standing in such a dazzling position, just like a dazzling star in the sky, making Emma jealous and crazy.

“I have nothing now, except you, you know that?” She wanted nothing but Caleb.

Whatever this man offers her, she can't afford it.

Emma swallowed her words with bitterness, and now she wanted to say something else, but at the sight of Caleb's sharp eyes, she didn't dare to go on.

His sharp, dark light was eroding her sanity bit by bit, causing her already messed mind to become chaotic.
