

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 136

Caleb left.

Emma sat alone in the living room until dawn and drenched in sweat. Thinking about that last night they didn't say anything but Caleb looked so indifferent when he left, she couldn't stop trembling.

She was screwed up. She was completely screwed up.

How could he be like that?

After so many years, how much efforts did she put on him? But he just cared about that night?

However, there was nothing happened between them that night, which was the most heartbreaking.

Hate.

Whether it was in her eyes or in her chest, Emma was full with hatred at the moment.

.....

In Mulherd Manor.

Alina slept until ten o'clock in the morning. She was still weak, and it was still painful there.

She could only limp downstairs.

Lucy saw her, "Morning. I'll go to get you breakfast."

"Thank you." Alina was also really hungry. She was called away by Caleb halfway through dinner last night.

Then she was tossed like that.

When she thought of that, she cursed Caleb again.

Penny was playing with a puzzle today. Alina saw the thick and stylish building. The little girl was very serious.

It seemed that she loved puzzle. She didn't even say hello when Alina came down.

"Penny likes it so much. She's very clever. It's over two thousand pieces. Now it's almost done." Lucy whispered to Alina.

Alina gasped directly.

Over two thousand pieces.

That pieces didn't seem to be very big. Penny could put all the small ones together?

This little girl was not only very focused, but also super patient.

Alina thought of that her father also bought her such puzzles when she was a child, but she hadn't finished it once because it was too difficult.

When Alina was having breakfast, Tomas came.

Seeing Tomas, who worked for Caleb, Alina didn't show any good attitude to him.

"Lady Alina."

No matter how bad Alina treated him, Tomas was still patient, which was completely different from his attitude towards Emma.

Alina asked, "What?"

"This is what Mr. Collins gave you."

Tomas took out two red notebooks from his file bag and handed them to Alina. The moment Alina took them over, she saw the words above clearly. Then she stopped and was stunned on the spot.

She looked at Tomas and asked, "What is this?"

"Your and Mr. Collins' marriage license."

Alina was shocked.

She only felt that her brain buzzed and almost exploded, as if something was completely exploded and tumbled in her world.

She was stunned and looked at it blankly.

She couldn't believe her eyes.

"Holy shit." Marriage license?

Marriage license could still be obtained in this way?

Obviously, Alina didn't believe it. But Caleb completely changed her mind.

Tomas continued, "You and Mr. Collins are already husband and wife."

"What?"

The bowl in Alina's hand dropped on the dining table. How shocked she was now.

What Tomas said was fiercely stimulating her.

So she reacted like this.

Tomas, however, was so calm, as if Alina's reaction was what he expected.

Tomas continued, "Mr. Collins reminds you don't forget to keep distance with Mr. Francis in the future."

Alina shivered.

Hearing Tomas' words, Alina seemed to see Caleb's threat to her through Tomas.

"Why doesn't he go to the hell." After a while, Alina really couldn't find the right words to attack Caleb.

Too... shameless.

In her opinion, the word 'shameless' was definitely not enough to describe Caleb. He was more than shameless.

Tomas still continued, "He said he had to be responsible for you."

Alina was speechless.

Hearing this, she even froze in place. Be responsible for her? Be responsible for yesterday's events?

Alina completely went mad at this moment, "Who wants him to be responsible?"

His responsibility was like Satan who asked her to go to the hell.

The words touched Alina's sore spot. She thought of three years ago.

At that time, she also thought that Caleb just wanted to be responsible for her and he just wanted to keep his promise. She knew it.

At that time, what Caleb did made her feel that in this world, couples without love could still live together very happily.

People with a strong sense of responsibility could bring people a sense of happiness. However, she was still wrong. With that responsibility, he felt he could anything to her.

But he still couldn't let go of his first love. His feeling for his first love was over responsibility. No one could replace his first love.

So now when Tomas told her that Caleb would be responsible for her, it touched her sore spot.

"Just let him go to the hell." Alina frantically slapped the marriage license on Tomas' face.

Seeing Alina's crazy look, Tomas knew that she was really pissed off.

"Mommy?"

Penny was finally interrupted by Alina's shout. She looked at Alina blankly. She had never seen Alina like this.

When Alina heard Penny's calling, she also came back to her senses.

She looked at Penny, "Penny."

All the madness and collapse were put away at this moment.

Child... was her weakness. No matter what kind of situation she was in, as long as she saw the child, she could calm down.

Lucy had arrived at the child's side. At the moment when Tomas was about to see Penny, Lucy successfully blocked his sight.

"Penny, let's go upstairs first."

Lucy was also frightened by Alina's look just now.

Lucy took the child upstairs. When only Alina and Tomas were left in the dining room, Alina angrily picked up the phone and dialed Caleb's phone number.

Caleb picked it up quickly.

Without waiting for Alina to speak, Caleb said on the phone, "Have you already gotten the marriage license?"

Hearing his nonchalant tone, Alina trembled with anger.

She shouted at the phone, "Go to the Civil Affairs Bureau immediately. I will go over immediately and wait for you there."

Get remarried?

He wanted to get remarried and then she would agree?

Alina never thought that she didn't even have a voice in such a matter as remarriage.

Three years ago.... In fact, she knew that she didn't have the power to resist him, but she didn't expect that he would do this to her in the matter of remarriage.
