

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 153

The man, who was always strict and serious, was certainly unusual in front of Alina today, and did not wait for Alina to react, he took her to the lawn and laid her down, and at that moment she saw not only the blue sky and white clouds, but also the green trees.

At that moment, Alina's mind was struck.

"Have I been here before?" She was in a soft voice.

Why else would this place have felt so familiar to her the moment she laid down? If she hadn't been here before, how on earth can all this be explained now?

"It's okay, it's okay if you can't remember, just take your time." The man's tone was as gentle as it had ever been.

Alina turned her head and looked at the man's face, and something shone in her eyes.

All these years.

There are so many things happening in Alina's world that she can't even remember them all.

Everything is so important to her.

There was so much stuff, so much chaos. So Alina feels as if she has forgotten a lot of things.

Or maybe she's been too obsessed with Emma and Caleb these last few years. So she forgot others.

She remembered very well that she had only met Chester a few times.

Alina didn't know how she got back to Mulherd Manor.

Before she got out of the car, there was a force on her wrist, it was Chester who took her by the hand, Alina turned around unnaturally, "Chester."

"Keep your distance from Caleb and I'll find a way for you to get back together."

Obviously, Chester probably has some idea how Alina and Caleb got back together.

But, when Chester said he would handle it, it sounded strange to Alina.

"No, I'll take care of it myself." And with that, she pulled her hand out of the man's wrist.

However, the man's force was heavier.

Alina, "Chester?"

"So tell me, how do you feel about him?"

"No feeling." At the man's words, Alina answered almost without thinking.

If she had to say anything, it would be that she hated Caleb so much.

In those years, it's impossible to say that she did not feel anything for that man.

In the beginning, she had always thought that Caleb was good to her, or at least responsible.

Marriage, in fact, would have been good if it had gone on like this without a hitch, but who knows what would have happened in the end.

How much peace Caleb brought to her life before, and how much it shook Alina when the storm came.

In the face of all that, she couldn't help but hate. Plus the Hughes family used to treat Emma, all the good they did to Emma.

"That's fine." The man nodded.

For some reason, Alina could see a sense of relief in Chester's eyes at this moment.

"I..."

"There's an international fashion show at North Srey in a month's time, I've got a place for you, so get ready."

North Srey Fashion Show?

She had heard of it.

But she's not qualified enough to take part, is she? Even people of Alice's calibre have never been offered a place, not even her.

To put it bluntly, the people who attended the Fashion Show were all veteran designers of the highest calibre.

The models used at the show were definitely internationally renowned, which shows how much importance is attached to a fashion show like this.

Not a competition. But it is a symbol of status in the design world.

And she didn't think she was qualified for it.

At any other time, she would have accepted it.

"Chester, you don't really need to, I..."

"You should know exactly what kind of presence the North Srey Fashion Show has in your design world, if you want to refuse, call North Srey directly."

Once she made the call, she's going to be reported as a big shot, right?

Every year at the North Srey Fashion Show, it was an absolute competition. The number of places is absolutely rigorous and no one has refuted North Srey's invitation to date.

So now Chester is saying that North Srey has issued an invitation?

"I'll have Hector Perry send you the invitation later, you decide if you want to go or not." With that, the man let her out of the car and the car sped off like an arrow.

The heavy exhaust fumes did not bring Alina back to her senses as she stood still.

For a long, long time, she was still confused.

Is it up to her now? How dare she not go when the invitation is out?

The point is that now she's stuck with Chester.

How dare she accept this favour from Chester at this time?

There was something wrong with it any way you looked at it, but the point was that it was right in front of her, and what was she supposed to say about it?

Alina did not come back.

The moment she entered the door, she clearly felt strong cold aura, which seemed to freeze her.

When she saw the cold face on the sofa, the way the man was smoking, it made Alina feel bad.

Lucy is off to the side, and when she saw Alina return, she came forward and gave her a look.

Alina obviously understood it too.

"Lucy, go down first."

“Okay.”

Lucy nodded and went down.

When Alina and Caleb were left alone in the hall, Alina threw her bag aside and came forward.

“It’s been two hours, where’d she go?” The man glanced at the time on his wristwatch and then at Alina.

The eyes are sharp and questioning.

Alina was pissed off at this question.

“Is it necessary to report to you?”

She felt a heavy force on her waist that she could not avoid.

Alina was already annoyed, and now Caleb’s assertiveness made her heart burn with anger.

“Let go of me.”

“Where did she go?” The man’s words were also full of arrogance.

Alina’s brain was hurting so badly that she was now tempted to die with Caleb.
