

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 159

The way the man looked at her was sharp.

Alina felt that she hadn't thought anything of this man before. But now she saw him looking at her like that.

She felt as if he was going to see through her.

"Get ready for North Srey, I'll take care of the rest."

Alina's words were cut short by the man's deep tone of voice.

She had been devastated by the night, and now Chester was letting herself go, and she didn't know what to say.

And what does he mean leave the rest to him?

Thinking about the last time he beat up Caleb in the bar, Alina felt a pain in her head and looked at Chester with trepidation.

"Well, you're not going to hit him again, are you?"

It wasn't that she felt sorry for Caleb, it was that Chester had made him even madder.

She has hardly had a quiet day in the last few days.

The man looked at her with a smile on his lips.

"Do I look that violent?"

He was serious and not like that, but he really did beat Caleb up that night.

So far, there has been no news from the outside.

And at AIG, she seemed to have seen Emma.

Surely she will make the public opinion overwhelming.

Yet it's still so quiet to this day.

Alina looked deeper at the man opposite her.

"What are you looking at?"

“Nothing.” Alina couldn’t ask if he was the reason.

Anyway, it was good to be quiet.

If it wasn’t quiet, she wouldn’t be afraid, but it would be a pain in the ass to deal with.

After breakfast.

“You’re taking me back?”

“What?”

He has a special assistant, doesn’t he?

Just like Caleb, no matter where he goes, there’s always Mr. Special Assistant to bring him back.

Yet now this man has asked her to send him back.

In the car, Alina’s phone vibrated.

She looked at the number and it was Caleb’s.

Before she could reach out and put it down, Chester picked up her phone.

The man had picked up the phone and Caleb’s stoic voice almost exploded on the other end, “Why aren’t you at work?”

Alina thought this man was more than crazy now, he was torturing her.

Without waiting for her to say anything, Chester said to the phone, “She’s not going to work.”

The steering wheel that Alina was holding shook b this.

The air on both sides was quiet, frozen.

Alina drew a breath.

And Chester had already hung up on her.

“Go to AIG.” she was going to go back, but the man now said he was going to AIG instead.

Alina, “Chester.”

She didn’t know what to say now.

“Yeah?”

The man looked deep into her eyes and Alina rubbed her head, feeling like she was going to lose the pressure.

.....

In the AIG President’s office, the ashtray was swept straight to the floor.

Tomas stood on the side, tense. Cold sweat had broken out on his spine.

Just now, he could hear it clearly.

It’s early in the morning for Lady Alina to come to work.

And the person who answered the phone was Master Chester. They were together this early in the morning?

At the moment, Caleb’s face was so dark.

There was a low air pressure that almost enveloped the whole office. And for a long, long time, Caleb tried to say something.

In the end, however, nothing could be said, he was really angry now.

AIG.

“You go back first.” The man said to her as he got out of the car.

Alina grabbed him by the scruff of his shirt, like a scared little girl.

Chester turned back to her frightened eyes and his face softened, “What?”

“Don’t you hit him.”

Alina thought about it and said, torn.

Her mind was now in turmoil.

Before that, whenever she saw Caleb, she could not wait to punch him in the face.

Now, however, she was dumbfounded to see Chester and Caleb tangled up together.

This scene was something she had never thought of before, and it was because of her that these scenes started.

If the two of them were fighting, she might get involved.

“Worried about him?” The man looked at her with raised eyebrows.

Alina, “No, I am not.”

But when she thought of taking it all out on her, she did not want it to happen.

Nothing was going to happen, as planned.

But now Chester stepped in.

This was even more terrifying than Penny coming to Ingford alone.

“Go home first and get ready.” The man’s tone was doting, and he gently took her cold hand in his, pulling it off her coat.

And Alina, at this moment, pulled back her hand.

“I’ll go back first then.”

She wouldn’t dare to get involved into the mess.

She drove away.

The smile on the man’s lips intensified as he watched the front wheel shake.

.....

Alina’s heart was still pounding as the car drove away, and she couldn’t calm down for a long time.

She never thought things would get to this point, but now everything she has seen here is true.

She’s not a fool, she knows what Chester is doing now.

she is now scared.

At the moment, in the office of AIG, both men were smoking cigarettes, neither of them breaking the silence first, but both had a very cold air about them.

Tomas has come out of the office.

When he saw Chester appearing in place of Alina, he had only one voice in his mind, 'Something big is going to happen.'

This is what Tomas feels like.

None of them probably thought that Caleb and Chester would have such an outburst over Alina.

Chester, in particular, has been so unpredictable that no one can see what he's doing, and now it is in such a mess.
