

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 174

After another fight, Alina still failed to leave Werland Villa. She was reluctant to go upstairs.

Everything here used to be so warm to her before. But now it looked so ironic. She didn't want to stay here anymore.

Nova arrived.

When Alina and Nova saw each other again, Nova could almost feel the cold killing intent on Alina.

Those from three years ago...

Those memories that Alina had locked up in her mind over the years now came to her like a flood.

Emma looked at Alina with a smug face.

Seeing such a provocative look, Alina just looked at her coldly. Emma instantly looked away.

"Be careful when you take a shower. Don't get the wound wet." Soon, Nova packed Caleb's wound and said.

Caleb nodded, "Hmm."

"I have to go back first."

"Okay."

Nova didn't ask why Caleb got hurt. It wasn't the right time to ask it. She just wanted to leave as quickly as possible.

However, the moment she packed her things, Alina spoke coldly, "Why is Dr. Nova in a hurry?"

It was already tense.

Alina asked so aggressively, which made people feel even tense.

Alina got up and came to Nova step by step.

The more closer Alina got to her, the more she could feel the oppression from Alina.

Although she didn't hurt Alina directly, for the people involved back then, Alina didn't want to let them go easily...

Her slender fingers gently swiped across the medical kit, “Snap...” The medical kit that had been closed by Nova was opened again.

Alina gently rummaged the stuff in the medical kit. Then she showed a dangerous smile.

She said, “People all say that the doctor’s hands and these cold instruments are used to save people. Does Dr. Nova think there is a contradiction in this sentence?”

She looked into Nova’s eyes and was smiling.

However, that kind of smile made people feel creepy.

Nova frowned.

She was tense. When she heard Alina’s words, she was actually ... speechless.

That thing, in the end, was still...

Seeing Nova didn’t answer, Alina saw a sealed syringe. She picked it up, and opened it. Then she just looked at it, “Back then, the syringe was so big, right?”

“Enough.”

Caleb’s face was gloomy. Finally, he couldn’t stand it.

Alina raised her eyebrows and looked at Caleb.

She still had a smile in her eyes, “No? Or is it too small?”

Caleb and Nova didn’t know what to say.

Emma showed off in front of Alina just now. But her face turned pale at this moment because of this tense atmosphere.

She probably never thought that Alina would have such a scary side.

Alina put down the syringe in her hand and took the largest one.

“Dr. Nova, you’re so special. It’s just a home diagnosis. Do you need to carry such a large syringe with you? Or do you always do this kind of things?”

Nova’s face changed.

Alina’s words were too sharp, which made them speechless.

Alina found a needle that matched the syringe. The moment she matched them, she smiled even more dangerously.

At this moment, she was just like a madman.

“If the children see it... they will scare to cry, right?” Alina glanced at Caleb, whose face was already gloomy.

Caleb had a thick white bandage wrapped around his forehead. But now it was still bleeding.

He was trying to endure something now.

Alina, “Mr. Collins, do you think this syringe is scary?”

She seemed to mean it.

The more Caleb avoided, the more she tried to use this topic to stimulate him.

“Put it down.” Caleb looked at Alina with angry eyes.

He was trembling.

Alina of course saw his reaction. But she was laughing, still laughing...

However, such laughter also made people feel an endless horror.

She was really a terrible person.

Alina, “Will it hurt if I stick it in someone, Mr. Collins?”

Would it hurt?

Such a question was clearly unnecessary.

“Ahhh...” Nova couldn’t help but screamed in muffled pain. The sound of gasping cut through the already tense room.

Emma instantly grabbed the armrest of the wheelchair. She looked at Alina in horror, as if she was looking at a madman.

It was so crazy.

Alina actually....

At the moment, Emma couldn’t find the right words to describe Alina. She was really terrible.

Alina actually stuck the needle in Nova.

She did it without any hesitation...

The cold sweat on Nova's forehead dropped down. Caleb was also shocked.

He just looked at such calm Alina for a long time. Even if he was a man, he couldn't react immediately.

"Does it hurt?"

Alina looked at Nova.

Nova looked at Alina as if she were looking at the devil.

Yes... Devil. Now the word, devil, was perfect to describe Alina.

She actually...

"Alina." Caleb finally came to his senses and looked at Alina tremblingly. He was suppressing himself.

Alina looked at Caleb innocently, who was completely different from the woman who had done something bad just now.

But seeing Nova's painful face, Caleb had to admit that Alina was really ruthless just now.

She was really cruel.

Caleb wanted to say something, but he still didn't say anything in the end.

Alina, "I'm sorry. I didn't know it would hurt."

She was like an innocent little girl who was looking at everyone, as if she completely didn't know what she did.

However, the innocence she was showing now made almost everyone present feel the danger in her.

She was really terrible...

Devil? Lunatic?

In fact, these were not enough to describe Alina's madness at the moment. She was really scary. At the moment she changed her face, everyone was so nervous.
