

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 185

After saying that, she hung up the phone.

And then, she looked at Emma.

Emma looked at Alina with unprecedented terror in her eyes.

Alina is really scary now, no one knows what she will do next, she will do something out of control.

When Alina threw the eel in her hand into a bucket of water, Emma felt like she had survived.

Alina looked at the frightened Emma, the corners of her mouth curled up, "I won't do it quick."

The words were gentle, but also devilish.

Emma had felt she had survived, but now when she saw Alina's face, she felt she really had to get out of here.

Otherwise, she would really die.

"Lois."

"Yes, Lady Alina."

"Save two for me, I'll be back to play."

"Yes, Lady Alina." nodded Lois.

Play?

Emma's face was whiter for it.

She knew exactly what Alina meant by playing, Alina was killing her.

As soon as Alina had left, Emma called Caleb like crazy, she wanted to get out of here, no matter what Chester did to her.

And staying here, under the same roof as Alina, Emma felt she would be driven mad sooner or later.

So now she just wanted to go, no matter what, she wanted to get out of here.

She was scared, really scared.

But no matter how much she called Caleb, there was no answer.

“Stop calling.” Lois sent for the eels and left two in the bucket.

The moment she saw the heads sticking up, Emma vomited, out of fear.

Lois, “What’s the point of being a bad person?”

To put it mildly, if Emma had really followed her own path, her future would have been bright.

But she had to get involved in other people’s marriages, so no one would feel sorry for her, no matter what she was going through with Alina.

If this had happened before, Emma would have been very vocal about it.

But now, when she saw the eels, she didn’t dare.

She had been terrified of long insects since she was a child in the countryside, when her family lived in the mountains and snakes were always present.

She was really scared.

Alina was unable to leave Werland Villa, but because of an important matter at the police station, security finally called Tomas and asked Caleb personally, and Alina was able to leave Werland Villa.

Her car was at Mulherd Manor.

Werland Villa didn’t even have a driver and she didn’t want to go back to that place after she got out.

She was going to walk up to get a taxi.

But then, as she was halfway, the horn of a car blared behind her and Alina turned around and saw the number plate of Chester.

When she saw the car, Alina’s brain hurt even more.

“Get in.” The man passed her by and brought the car to a steady stop.

Alina, “No, we’re not on the same way.”

“What do you mean?”

Alina didn’t know what to say at this point.

She took a few deep breaths, pushed down the weight of her heart, and then looked at Chester with apprehension.

When she saw the silence in the man's eyes, Alina felt that she had been too mean.

But given what had happened before, she couldn't be too complacent, "I'll go and get a taxi, it's easy."

"Alina, are you afraid of me?"

The man looked at her calmly and the words were so irresistible to Alina that she had to say that it was true.

But keeping distance in her heart is not the same as admitting it outwardly.

Eventually, Alina got in the car.

Chester knew she was going to the police station, so he didn't say anything and drove her there.

They didn't say much on the way.

When they got there, Alina got out of the car.

"Go back, Chester, I'll go straight back to Mulherd Manor when I'm done."

And with that, Alina was off in a hurry.

She hadn't wanted to go back from the Werland Villa today, even though it was to torment Emma badly.

But it wasn't as if she had nothing better to do than torment her.

It's not an easy day.

Even if Alina doesn't do anything, Emma is having a hard time.

Inside the police station.

Some of the stuff from the hospital was pulled out, all of which Alina had seen before, but this time there was a new screenshot outside the hospital.

It was just a side face.

However, Alina recognized it immediately, "That's Emma."

Before her grandmother passed away, Emma had been in her grandmother's room?

Alina's mind, at that moment, was completely lost.

Emma said that she hadn't had time to visit her grandmother for a long time,

She had been busy with other things.

So at her grandmother's funeral, she cried a lot and blamed herself, saying that she had taken good care of her grandmother.

At that time, she didn't know who Emma really was.

But now, before she passed away, Emma was the last one to enter her room? So why did Emma act as if she hadn't been able to see her grandmother?

"It's Emma, it's Emma." Although it was just a side face, Alina could clearly identify it.

When she looked at the back, she thought it looked familiar, but she didn't expect to find a screenshot outside the hospital.

Even though it was only a surveillance camera, it was a bit blurry, but Alina recognized it immediately.

Emma had been in front of her at all times, so she couldn't have been mistaken.

"Are you sure?"

"Yes, I'm sure."

It was only a photograph, Alina, however, was absolutely sure that it was Emma.

"Well, we'll start the investigation into her now, and we'd like you to keep it to yourself for now."

"....."

"After all, it's only a photo now."

So the evidence is there to be found.

Everything related to Emma back then also has to be compared absolutely and completely certain to be sure.

Alina, however, was 100% certain.
