

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 203

The air was quiet.

However, it was also very dangerous.

For a long, long time, the scene was quiet for who knows how long, no one spoke again before Caleb took a breather.

Looking at Alina, he only felt that she was now against him.

She was once so gentle, so sensible and reasonable, now she had changed.

Now every word that comes out of her mouth is so sharp and cold.

Finally, Caleb spoke, "You can go."

All the people looked towards Caleb in disbelief, he actually let Alina leave?

So, at this critical moment, in the end, he still chose Emma?

Emma took the initiative to say she wanted to leave. He did not agree, but he told Alina to leave?

Alina raised her eyebrows, a smile on her face, and she simply got up, "Okay."

Naturally, she had to leave.

She hadn't wanted to be here in the first place.

However, the moment she turned around, she heard Caleb say, "Tomorrow morning, 10am, Civil Affairs Bureau."

Alina, "Good."

This one word was still so crisp and clear.

And everyone present had fluctuations in their heart because of this word.

It took a lot of trouble to get remarried, and now he was going to divorce again?

And among them, Emma, who was a bit overwhelmed by the reaction, had an unprecedented pleasure in her eyes at this instant.

Alina left, without looking back.

She had no even a word of blame or questioning, that was how indifferent she was to their relationship now.

“Master Caleb, what are you doing?” Lois watched Alina disappear into the doorway, finally reacting to what had actually happened here the moment before.

And under this alarming cry from Lois, Caleb finally came back to his senses.

However, Alina had already left.

She had left so simply, without the slightest remorse.

This was her attitude towards their relationship.

“Caleb.” When Emma saw the change in Caleb’s eyes, her heart, which had been soothing, also rose to her throat at this moment.

Why even at this point in time, he would still show eyes with love towards Alina.

Caleb looked at Emma, and upon seeing the redness and swelling on her face, his eyes became darker.

“They didn’t find a doctor for you?” Finally, the topic still came to Emma.

What had happened here in the past few days?

Emma lowered her head in aggravation, and at this moment, she didn’t say anything about walking away, but that pitiful look in her eyes made the man’s heart feel guilty.

Alina went back to Mulherd Manor and made a call to Jacob called. Even if Caleb promised to divorce, she will not be good enough to give up.

For everything on Emma, she was determined to take back.

Now all the spearheads are still aimed at Emma, making her defensive as well.

Jacob suggested that she goes to the Civil Affairs Bureau to get a divorce, but to go through the procedure, after all, it all involves the recovery and distribution of property.

And now Caleb obviously has no plans for this, and Alina doesn’t want to get involved with him that much.

Therefore this matter was left to Jacob to handle.

“Humph.”

Alina dropped her phone on the coffee table and sat in the dimly lit space, her mind still filled with that photo from the police station.

How could Emma do that to her grandmother?

For this matter of marriage, who exactly is in Caleb’s heart, she doesn’t care at all.

She doesn’t know when in the end, she has been cold to Caleb to such an extent.

Probably, she has saved up enough despair.

And therefore, in this marriage, all her attention now is on Emma.

It won’t end well.

After all that had happened, she would not just walk away .

Even before she went in, she would definitely make Emma suffer.

Andre’s phone call came.

“You went back to Mulherd Manor?”

“Yes.”

“Emma is still at Werland Villa?”

“Yes.”

Although Alina did not care about Caleb, but Caleb did that, which surprised Andre.

“Alina.”

“Yes?”

“Why don’t you think about me?”

“What?” At Andre’s sudden words, Alina was a bit confused, what did he mean? She didn’t understand at all.

Andre, “I will take good care of you.”

“What are you talking about?” Does she look pathetic now?

To outsiders, she was abandoned by Caleb, which was indeed pathetic.

“Do I look like someone who needs to be pitied?”

During the birth of Penny, she was bleeding profusely, she hadn't even cried once, had she?

Now, instead, she was making Andre feel pity for her.

“It's not pity.”

“Okay, okay, I'm upset right now.”

“What's bothering you?”

“The matter of Eglinton and the divorce. That Caleb is so immoral, he wants to do a dry divorce like this.”

A dry divorce?

He was at fault, but doesn't want to pay anything.

So, hardly anyone would agree to that, right?

He was really bullying.

“Do you want me to come over?” Andre could not stand it.

That stance was as if he wanted to come over and help Alina fight.

And such a stance undoubtedly surprised Alina.

She said, “No need.”

How could she not handle such a small matter? Besides, did she look like someone who could be bullied that easily?

“Don't take a loss.” Andre said to Alina.

Alina, “Of course.”

Having suffered such a big loss on Caleb back then, she had spared Emma last time too.

This time, she would get back.

Probably she once looked too soft, so much so that this group of people dared to flaunt their authority like this.
