

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 228

Was he, for Emma's sake, taking the initiative to break off a clear relationship with her?

"Alina."

Andre looked at her worriedly.

Alina, "He's just a psycho."

"I'll go and find out for you what exactly happened between him and Emma." Andre was also curious.

After all, for three years, Emma had always been by his side, but he had never meant to marry Emma.

However no matter what happens, Caleb always protects her, so Andre was curious about his attitude.

Alina, "What else could it be? It's life-saving kindness."

Alina wasn't sure.

"What kind of life-saving kindness should he repay at the cost of his family's death?"

At one time, Alina had always thought that Caleb was a very responsible man and was just a duty to her.

So, what had happened with him and Emma that, by now, he had to be made to pay back on top of his responsibilities?

But looking at his attitude towards Emma, it seems that he is just being responsible too, so why should he be so responsible?

Even if it was repayment of gratitude, what should have been given to Emma all these years has been given quite a lot.

"It's good to look into it." When Andre did not say it, Alina was not curious, and when it was mentioned by Andre, she, too, was curious about what really happened behind the scenes.

After all, there were very few people who could put Caleb in charge, and so, she also wanted to see what was behind this because of.

Andre nodded his head.

Alina, "Then I have to go back to Ingford again."

Apparently, now Caleb was coming to Shirling, which caused a headache on Alina.

Andre nodded, "Okay."

Although he didn't want to, right now, with all the drama between Alina and Caleb, it wasn't the right time to let him know about the child.

If he really knew about the child, there was no telling how intense the two would be.

When thinking like this, Andre also felt a headache.

"Babe." Alina hugged the child, her eyes were full of reluctance.

All these years, she had always been by the child's side, almost rarely leaving in such a way.

She was sullen and unhappy.

"Are you leaving again?" Penny is very smart and emotionally sensitive.

And such cleverness yet was making Alina's heart sink even more.

Alina, "Yes, I am leaving again."

She was really so sad to leave this child.

"But I want to be with mummy." Penny looked at Alina with tears in her eyes.

Alina, "No, when I finish my work, I will take you everywhere to play, okay?"

Alina just came back, but had to leave so soon.

Penny's dependence on her mother was natural, and Alina knew this, so she was even more reluctant to leave.

Megan knew that Alina was leaving again.

"There's really no end to it." After a few months, it was clear that Caleb was difficult to deal with.

No wonder that Alina had been delayed for so long over in Ingford, yet this matter wasn't even over yet.

"Alina, we're not afraid of them." Megan said to Alina.

Alina was touched.

It was true that she was not afraid.

But she still didn't want Caleb to know about the existence of the child.

That man, in her heart, did not deserve to be a father, he did not deserve a child.

Therefore, in order to prevent him from knowing the existence of the child, it would be inappropriate for Alina to stay in Shirling now.

Megan really could not let Alina go.

She said, "Penny has always missed you so much, but you are leaving just after you have returned."

As Megan said this, she held the child in her arms.

This child was very close to Megan.

A child's feelings were very sensitive, she could tell who was good to her and who was bad to her, especially since Penny was very smart.

"Finish things early over there and come back early."

"Okay."

"I've prepared something for you that's already in the car, so take it."

"We are family." Alina's embarrassed words were interrupted by Megan before she could say them.

Ever since she had arrived in Shirling, everyone here had been instilling in her the notion that they were a family.

Luna knew that Alina was leaving.

Naturally, she was also a bit sad.

On the way out, she took Alina's hand and said, "If you need anything, just call me, I'm your aunt."

"Yes, Auntie."

"Good girl, be careful on the road."

"Okay."

Alina nodded her head.

After she got in the car, people kept waving in place, like she was going away from her family who didn't want her to leave.

In the car.

For a long time, Alina didn't even speak.

Andre looked at her, "What's on your mind?"

"I am missing my family."

She was thinking about what a home should be like, there was a time when her mother was around, she was always warm no matter what time she was.

Her father was also very good to her, and they were all happy together as a family, not to mention the New Year's Eve, even if they spent most of their dinner together every night.

How did a family so harmonious end up in that situation? At this point, she couldn't understand.

Why did Mum and Dad's car have an accident?

They were very precise about the maintenance of their car.

How could there be an accident?

"The phone vibrated, interrupting Alina's thoughts.

She picked up, "Hello, this is Alina."

"Hello, Miss Hughes, according to our comparison, this person may also have a significant relationship with the car accident that happened to your parents."

What?

Alina's body tensed up, and for a moment she couldn't react, subconsciously looking at Andre.

Andre moved his mouth to ask Alina what was going on, and Alina's world went blank at this moment.

At this moment, she couldn't say anything.

She just looked at Andre.

"Miss Hughes, Miss Hughes, are you listening?"

"I am listening." At this moment, Alina's breath was tightening, and she could barely hear her own voice.

Her mind was blank.
