

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 248

Saying that, Brandon handed the list of models to Alina.

Alina took it, and with just one glance, her pupils couldn't help but shrink.

Although she had been with Andre before, whenever there was a show, Andre had always given her some first-rate names.

But now this list given by Chester was simply international models.

"Can't we afford it?" After all, what she was showing here was entirely her own work.

So when it came to using models, Alina had never been too particular about it.

But she actually knew in her heart that a model with a high flow rate could make her work twice as good or show people more of her merits.

But all these years.

She had come this far without using these big international names, she just didn't expect that, by this time, she would have the opportunity to work with these people.

"It's all friendly support."

Alina, "Big brother is very familiar with these famous models?"

"I think so, I've contacted them all, they said they would definitely be there on the day and were happy to do so."

When Caleb had held the main exhibition for Emma before, he hadn't even used such big first-tier names, and they were all models he didn't know at the time.

Or was it that Caleb didn't care much about that, but the work?

"Then let's use it." Alina was a bit torn, after all, now Brandon had already contacted the models.

If this wasn't used, that would probably be even worse, and Alina obviously absolutely couldn't do that.

Brandon nodded his head, "Naturally, we have to use it, and this time the effect will definitely be better than any of your previous ones."

And she knew it was good.

She couldn't tell if the audience were all looking at the models by then.

If she could reflect the strengths of her work on such excellent models, then she would really have succeeded.

Downstairs.

Hector Perry came.

“Sir.”

Chester, “How is it?”

“Master Caleb always wanted us to leave.” Obviously, all those movements were directed at getting Chester to leave.

Chester smiled, with a bit of sarcasm.

“He is dreaming.” His voice was ironic.

“Don’t worry, it’s all taken care of.”

“Okay.”

Chester nodded, and endless sharpness shone in his eyes, obviously, he didn’t expect that his younger brother, for Emma, was so stupid to such an extent, and even now, he was still so protective of that woman.

So was there anything in this world that he would not do for that woman?

As for why exactly Caleb let him leave, this was clear in Chester’s mind, and Andre was worried about because of Caleb.

In Oklens, for the sake of Emma, he was constantly suppressing Alina.

Things had happened to such a point, Caleb knew that this scene could not be overturned casually.

Emma is really and utterly standing on a high position, standing on a high position that even Chester can’t do anything about.

Before, Emma did not stand in that dazzling position, so now, no matter what he said, he had to push him up.

What's more, Caleb thought of a key point, that is, no matter what kind of attitude he had towards Alina now.

Between them, it had to end.

And a swift end at that, or else this woman would set the scene even more unraveling.

Tomas came over.

"Sir."

"Yes?"

"Lawyer Jacob won't see you, at least not until the lawsuit is over." Tomas said in an apprehensive tone.

Caleb froze.

Tomas' face was grave as he handed a document to Caleb, "This is what you asked to check."

"The result is out?"

"Yes, it is indeed not Miss Bell."

Thinking about how Alina had been pursuing Emma these past few days, Caleb felt his heart raise to his throat.

Caleb took out the document, his eyes became dark.

"The Cooper family?"

"Yes." Tomas nodded.

Caleb had heard of the grudge between the Cooper family and the Hughes family, if it was the Cooper family that interfered, Caleb still agreed this point.

So, whether it was Erica or Leyla and Beau, it was actually the Cooper family that did it.

In that case, what exactly was Alina's movement these past few days?

Especially since she was so confident, she had even stirred the matter up to Collins Castle.

"Where is she now?"

Thinking about that woman, Caleb's head hurts badly now.

Tomas, "At Waterside Villa."

This time, Caleb's face went even darker instantly.

Wasn't he at the Collins Castle when he left? Now she was really getting together with Chester all the time.

He didn't know when they had become so close, but if she was really the 'Abby' that Chester was talking about, then between them...

At this point in time, Caleb could no longer think about it. His inner heart was even more tumbling because of this.

In the dark.

Emma listened to the conversation between Caleb and Tomas, and was relieved.

She sent a message 'It's done.' and then deleted it as quickly as possible.

Everything was silent.

Alina was eating dinner at Waterside Villa, Chester said he would go to Eglinton Show with Alina.

Alina, "Not necessary."

"Abby, I meant what I said to you."

Alina felt it.

She was distancing him constantly, yet Chester was pressing harder every step of the way.

Without waiting for her to speak, Chester continued, "I know you still can't get past that hurdle in your heart, don't worry, I will give you time and wait for you."

And Alina's heart was chokingly tangled together.

"I will respect you, but I won't give you up."

His words let Alina know what it really meant.
