

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 252

Emma lowered her head.

Without a word, she silenced everything that had happened yesterday, and the more she did, the heavier Caleb's breathing became.

And then, he said, "There are some grudges between you and her, and you have to go and settle them yourself."

"It can't be resolved now that she's decided I'm the one who killed her loved ones."

At this moment, Caleb thought of Alina yesterday, and he admitted that when Alina gets crazy, no one can stop her.

Up to now, Caleb's brain was aching.

The thought of what she said yesterday when she left with her suitcase made her eyes sharper.

Tomas came.

Seeing Caleb and Emma having breakfast together, especially after seeing the injury on Emma's face, his heart stuttered.

Since he was beaten by Alina yesterday, the scene could be described as chaotic to the extreme.

After breakfast.

Caleb then had Emma sent to the hospital.

In the study.

Caleb took two hard puffs of his cigarette and couldn't squash the stuffy weight in his heart, "Last night, where was she?"

Nowadays, when Caleb is asking about Alina, there is surprisingly some helplessness in his tone.

Tomas, "In Mulherd Manor."

Hearing that she was only in Mulherd Manor, Caleb had a surprisingly relieved feeling.

"In a moment, you go to Mulherd Manor and look for her" When he said this, he paused, as if he was thinking about something.

And then, Caleb said, "Ask her what she wants."

This matter must come to an end.

On hearing that he was told to go and find Alina, Tomas only felt that all his bones were loosened up as a result.

“You are trying to get her to stop in this way?”

Whatever the conditions, meet her?

But thinking about Alina’s attitude, Tomas felt headaches, so did Caleb.

“After all, it’s her beloved parents and grandmother, and I don’t think Lady Alina would accept whatever the terms were at this point.”

After all, this is not like anything else.

If this were any other matter, Caleb would have given some favours and the matter would have been settled, but this matter was completely different.

At least in the opinion of Tomas.

“Especially now that Lady Alina has lacked nothing.”

Yes.

Behind her, she now has VIG.

He got the relevant information that VIG, which is run by Andre, still has shares of Alina.

Not to mention the benefits gained from the fashion show, just those shares in VIG would make Alina a lot of money a year.

And what benefit could Caleb’s current so-called benefit be, other than sending Alina off with money?

However, the last thing Alina lacks right now is money.

At this moment Caleb understood one thing, that is, anything that can be solved with money is a good thing.

It’s a real headache if he can’t fix things with money.

“That depends on your ability.” Caleb looked at Tomas with cold eyes.

At the sound of those words, Tomas was going to cry.

Thinking about that attitude of Alina last night, it was obvious that she was very dissatisfied with that evidence that he had personally investigated.

So while striking at Emma, she slapped him twice in the face.

If he came up to it at this time, according to Alina's temper, she might do something to him.

Just thinking about it gives Tomas a headache.

...

Marry woke up early in the morning and made Alina her favourite breakfast, however, Alina's appetite has not been very good for some time now.

So she was wan all the way through the eating.

The butler entered.

"Miss, Tomas is here."

"Which Tomas?"

"The special assistant of Master Caleb."

When she heard this person, Alina's face darkened even more.

Marry, "Miss."

"Yeah?"

"Madam has always been very kind to you." Marry said in a somewhat sad tone.

Marry, who has been with her grandmother for so many years, has seen the tactics of these people.

More than that, she knew exactly why Caleb had sent Tomas at this time.

It seems that this man is going to cover up Emma to the end?

"Marry, I know what you're worried about, and there probably won't be anyone else in the world but me to get justice for Mom and Dad and Grandma."

To say the least, if Grandpa knew about it, things would have been turned upside down too.

But Grandpa always did things with aplomb.

Then it would hasten the early arrival of the price of Emma, but, that's not what she wants.

And she, not only for Mum and Dad, but for Grandma...

This is the main reason why, for example, she did not allow her grandfather to interfere in this matter.

Without waiting for Marry to say anything, Stella's phone call came in.

Alina picked up, "Stella."

"It's in three days, isn't it?"

"Right."

In three days' time, her divorce case with Caleb will go to court. At that time, she will let the reasons for the divorce between them, and even the current status of their marriage, be made public.

Naturally, she has to get divorced.

And not only will she get back what belongs to her, she will make sure that the two bitches got ashamed.

"Then I'll get ready and get a few more media together."

"Good."

It is better to go over the whole Ingford report.

But if they all went, it would be a completely different story if this triggered a gathering of public opinion.

On this lawsuit, Alina made complete preparations.

After hanging up Stella's phone, Alina said to the butler, "Let Tomas come in."

"Yes."

The butler nodded.

As Marry listened to Alina's explanation to Stella over the phone, she knew exactly what Alina meant.

In her heart, she was relieved.

Tomas came in.

His face was still swollen.

It was clear how hard Alina had struck yesterday in his anger.

“Lady Alina.”

“Here for Emma?” Alina put down the spoon, picked up the napkin on one side and gently wiped the stain from the corner of her mouth.

The gentleness and elegance in the way she moved made Tomas frightened.

Because once upon a time, Alina’s gentleness was true gentleness. Nowadays, such gentleness gives a feeling of a catalyst.

He nodded, his face full of gravity.

The corners of Alina’s mouth lifted up in a smile, “You know exactly what kind of temper I have now.”