

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 255

Alina looked at Chester.

A smile lifted the corners of his mouth, "You know what he said to me yesterday?"

"What was said?"

"He said he agreed you to be with me."

"Only, you stop here?" Chester had a thorough insight into each person's heart.

And it was natural to see what Caleb's purpose was in making such a request at this time.

He just didn't expect that Caleb could actually say something like that.

Alina, "Yes, you really know him."

In saying this, there was no sourness in Alina's tone, there was only endless anger.

"What qualifications does he have to say that?" All night long, Alina was thinking about this question.

Whatever she wants to do, it seems to have nothing to do with Caleb anymore.

How dare he use such a reason to trade with her?

What a joke.

"In that case, don't take it to heart then." Chester said as he looked at Alina.

Alina, "Chester."

"Yeah?"

"Actually, you shouldn't be so close to me at this time."

"There's that nonsense again, come on, I'll take you to a nice meal."

To put it mildly, they should avoid suspicion, shouldn't they? Especially when Alina was still aware of Chester's attitude.

"Alina, your future must require a new choice, and everyone has the right to pursue you, understand?"

Inside Alina, there was a touch of boredom.

Yes, her future, whatever life she leads, will surely be her own choice.

Just the fact that Chester was there for her in such a way at her most difficult time had given her a lot of courage as well.

Alina was grateful for this.

“Thanks.”

“Don’t talk nonsense.” What he wanted was never a thank you from her.

Chester seems to know Alina very well.

Dark clouds over Werland Villa.

And the fact that Alina is now actually with Chester, going around to eat delicious food, has stimulated Caleb’s nerves even more.

Nowadays, even if Emma is smug in her heart, she does not dare to say anything casually in front of Caleb.

In particular, she could now see clearly how important Alina was in Caleb’s heart.

More talk, more mistakes.

She’s kind of completely learned that the hard way these days, so if she can keep her mouth shut now, then she’ll keep it shut.

Anyway, Caleb will not leave her alone, and whatever happens, Caleb will definitely take care of it.

Alina, at last, has moved away.

The thought of Alina making a move on her at any time during this time made Emma furious.

Now that Alina has moved out, it’s an easy day for her.

Just what Emma didn’t expect was that soon, this day would not really be easy for her.

So what Alina moved out?

Everything was undCaleb.

Chester took Alina to her favourite snack.

Whenever Alina is in a bad mood, if she goes for a big meal, she'll definitely feel better.

"Why aren't you eating?"

"It's a treat to watch you eat."

Was that sarcasm on her?

On this point, Alina didn't bother with Chester and stuffed a fried dumpling into her mouth with one bite, it was delicious.

"Delicious."

"..."

"You taste it." Alina said as he looked to Chester.

She noticed that Chester seemed to be very fussy about food.

All the time he is watching her eat. And he, himself, basically doesn't eat much.

"I don't eat too much spice." Chester said.

Alina, "Oh."

But if there's no chilli in the food, does it taste like nothing at all? Her mother used to like spicy food.

At first her father didn't eat it, but then he was influenced by her mother's taste and ended up eating it bit by bit.

"Then you're eating something that's strangely tasteless."

"Is it really that good?"

"Of course, just try it." Alina handed a fried dumpling to Chester, in her opinion, the food couldn't be so moderate.

Otherwise, life would have to lose its colour.

Looking at the fried dumpling handed over by Alina, a touch of mildness flashed in Chester's eyes, and as he grabbed her wrist.

By the time Alina reacted, Chester had already eaten it with her chopsticks.

Something collapsed in her world and her face flushed.

It's a good thing no one here in Ingford dares to report about Chester casually, otherwise, the two of them would be on the news.

Chester, "Well, it's nice."

Is it because the person feeding it tastes different? Or does he really like it?

Alina bowed her head and her hands were unsteady when she clipped the dumplings.

Chester looked at her flustered and confused look, the smile at the corner of his mouth became more and more gentle, and his eyes were even more spoiled.

"Alina."

"Yeah?"

"I want more."

"You order another one, I don't have enough." Alina knew what he meant, so she was not willing to do so.

Chester, "You can't finish it all."

"Then I'll eat it for you." Anyway, she couldn't be giving it to him to eat.

"Okay."

It was as if the man had swindled Alina into some kind of trap, smiling like a fox.

Chester is not a eater of chillies, but he still ordered it slightly spicy because Alina loves it.

...

Lawyer Jacob was quick and had already explained the relevant information to the lawyer on Caleb, while Caleb was already in a bad mood, and now that he had received such news, he was pissed off.

"Alina did not agree?"

No matter what the cost, she did not agree.

The more Caleb thought about it, the angrier he became.

He wanted to tear Alina to pieces.

And Emma's face grew paler and paler as she saw the things in question.

"Caleb, why won't she just leave me alone? Those things really have nothing to do with me, believe me."
