

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 263

Caleb's account can't be used? Emma's account wasn't working, and now, neither was Caleb's.

"What, you're upset she doesn't have any money to spend? That's a quick move on your part." She had only just applied for it, and Caleb had someone send her his card?

Without waiting for Caleb to say anything, Alina sarcastically said, "She's just a cripple now, what kind of money does she need to use?"

"Alina, when exactly did you become so mean?"

"Do you still want me to be kind?"

What did she get when she was being kind? These people have driven her to a dead end time and time again.

"When you and she did that to me three years ago, you were a lot meaner than I am now."

After what Emma did.

Caleb is much more defensive of her.

So, calling her mean?

How dare he?

Caleb's heart was heaving.

Eventually, the anger went away.

When Alina was left alone, there was a moment of silence in her world.

Emma's call came in.

When things had come to this point, Emma must want to swallow her up.

But at the beginning, when Alina cared to dwell on that property, things were bound to go that way too.

It's just that both Caleb and Emma are not used to it.

But whether these two people are used to it or not, Alina doesn't care half as much.

"Hello."

“Alina, you will go to hell.” Emma shouted hysterically.

Alina was smiling, and listening to the trembling tone of Emma’s voice over the phone, she knew that Emma was angry.

Alina, “I’m just defending my legal rights, how should I go to hell?”

“Are those really yours?”

“As long as there’s a marriage certificate between Caleb and me, those things are half mine.”

Emma, “What the hell do you want?”

“You seem to be in a hurry for money? Why? Tell me.”

At this moment, Alina’s tone was spoken in such a profound manner.

“It seems that you’re really in a hurry for money. Tell me, how much do you need, I can lend it to you.”

This was said with such irony.

Emma, “I don’t.”

When she said this, there was a hint of weakness in Emma’s tone that could not be concealed.

Alina’s words were so sharp that it was impossible to dodge them, and there was even a moment when she was about to tell everything out.

She never knew that Alina would have such a sharp and frightening side.

“Since there’s no rush for money, wait for the end of the divorce case between him and me.”

“...”

“By the way, let me remind you, Caleb is now reluctant to divorce, how long have you to wait?”

“Alina!”

When Emma heard Alina’s words, her face even turned white in this instant.

Alina, “But it doesn’t matter, anyway, you live in Werland Villa, you don’t lack food and clothing, so I think you definitely don’t need money now.”

After saying that, Alina simply hung up the phone.

Emma got pissed off, not expecting at all that things would come to such a point.

What the hell is this nowadays?

Why?

Why are things the way they are?

What qualifications, exactly, does she have?

Just after Alina's call hung up, she received a text message from Brodie, just a few short words, "I have limited patience."

Apparently, if he waited until three days later, he would see the money.

Now, however, where the hell was she going to get the money?

When Vanessa and Julia heard about the progress of the matter between Alina and Caleb, especially when they heard that Emma's account had been frozen.

A long-awaited smile appeared on Vanessa's face.

Julia, "Alina is not giving in this time."

"Shouldn't have given in."

"..."

"Julia, hopefully you will never encounter such a situation, and once you do, learn from Alina."

"Mum."

"One can be soft-hearted at any time, but only at this time, women must not be soft-hearted."

To an outsider, Alina seemed to be doing too much. Emma was forced by her to the point where she had no way out.

But Emma deserved it.

"Yes, I'll remember." Julia nodded, understanding Vanessa's teachings.

Vanessa once had a really bad impression of Alina, after all, Alina had a stained life.

But on the matter of Caleb and Alina's divorce, she is not on Alina.

As for the relationship between Alina and Chester, no one can say how it will develop in the future, right? And woman is qualified to pursue love after her divorce.

At this point, Vanessa was in no hurry at all, and right now she was relieved to see Emma being torn apart like that.

"All these years Emma has had your second brother to protect her, and life has just been too good." Vanessa said.

Emma had long forgotten that Caleb was a married man.

Since she had stirred up a man's marriage, then she had to pay the price.

"Yeah, Caleb has given her a lot over the years. That's not to mention the material things, just those resources she used to have, they're all Caleb's connections."

Emma looked rightful before, as if getting everything from Caleb was not too much.

It's great to watch her finally get cleaned up now.

Emma had come to Eglinton.

There was really nothing she could do now, she had to be by Alina's side at all times for fear that Brodie would make a move.

Once Brodie really gives those things to Alina, then her life will really be over.

Chester, "Hector."

"Yes, sir."

"Take this woman to North Eglinton."

At the sound of it, faces went white.

"No, I'm not going." Her voice was all panic.

She doesn't want to go to North Eglinton, that place is really horrible, whatever punishment she needs, just don't go to North Eglinton.

Alina, "What the hell do you want?"

“Alina, I was wrong, I really know I was wrong, let me follow you in the future, okay?”
