

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 274

The divorce between Caleb and Alina was originally very clear and Alina's evidence was exceptionally complete.

But Caleb bit the bullet, in the most critical time, he sued Alina.

Everyone watching this joke throughout the city of Ingford now had their hearts thumping too, all wondering who would win in the end.

Caleb, "Alina, it's not too late to say it's over."

"It starts tomorrow, it's too late."

Alina looked at the man's sinking face and smiled coldly.

This man, up to now, is still dreaming? Trying to force her to give up in such a way.

However, at this point, no matter what the cost would be, there was no way Alina would say end of story on this matter.

Alina was silent, obviously, there was nothing more to say to Caleb at this time, and it would be a waste of breath to say more.

In that case, what is there to say?

Finally.

Caleb was pissed off.

Outside Mulherd Manor, Chester's car came in just in time, looking at Caleb's legs, which were still not too sharp, his eyes dimmed.

Said Chester, "It's better to be careful now that you're just getting up."

"Don't worry, I'm fine."

Chester's already not-so-good face heard Caleb use such a sarcastic tone and say such words, he was upset inside.

.....

Caleb is gone.

Yet he never gives in.

Inside.

Alina is actually busy. After going to Eglinton, Brandon and the others went back to Shirling.

Their business is headquartered over in Shirling, so various ones now need to be released from there.

Joanna followed Brandon.

Chester stepped forward and sat beside Alina, grabbing her hand as he said.

And Alina’s heart stuttered when she heard there was news, “Where is she?”

“South Eglinton.”

That’s quite a tough place, Caleb actually sent Emma to such a place?

The North Eglinton is the coldest place, while South Eglinton is the place of intense heat.

Whereas North Eglinton has large areas of glacial land, South Eglinton has quite a bit of desert territory with particularly high winds and sand.

It’s a place where people don’t usually get used to the climate, the dryness, the sand. It’s the most unbearable place to be.

And Caleb sent Emma straight to South Eglinton?

“This time, he’s not protective?” Previously, because Chester wanted to send Emma to North Eglinton, Caleb then placed Emma in Werland Villa.

Now he has personally sent her to South Eglinton.

“You don’t think that there might be something going on here?” Chester looked at Alina.

In fact, such a feeling had already been there for Alina before, therefore now when Chester spoke about it, this feeling in her heart was becoming more and more evident at this time as well.

“I feel it.”

“So, my advice is not to get her back now.”

Nowadays, Emma is always the main character. She is involved in many things.

So at this point, why not get her back?

Chester looked at Alina and said, "Let her let her guard down."

"You mean that it was actually Emma's own idea that she would leave this time?"

"Yeah."

After all, if Emma did not want to leave, then Caleb would have kept her by his side.

So the request to leave Werland Villa may not be as simple as public opinion.

Yet every time she was in the face of public opinion, Emma was playing innocent in front of Caleb, fighting to be able to get more.

Now, she left, if she is not willing, she will still pretend pure in front of Caleb.

So it must have been Emma's own volition that she could be sent to South Eglinton.

"Okay." Alina said after thinking about it.

She wanted to see what tricks Emma wanted to pull.

"You little fox." Chester looked at Alina.

The current Emma is really miserable, although the reason behind this departure from Ingford is not known yet.

But to get Emma to make such a compromise, there would be absolutely no way out.

Alina, "I just want to see what's behind this, I am not a fox."

Although she's kind of clear here now that a lot of things are definitely involved with Emma.

But Alina still wants to know why the hell Emma leaves Caleb,

Just wait and see.

As long as it is related to her, the matter will always come to light, not that Emma can really hide it just because she wants to.

.....

Emma was sent away.

Caleb was considered slightly more comfortable.

It was almost all in his mind now to force Alina back, only what he hadn't expected was that things had progressed even to this point.

Alina had no intention of giving in at all.

And she even threatened to make him sue. Where on earth did she get the confidence?

"Sir." Tomas received a call from Caleb and came over, his face full of gravity, as he had taken a call while on the road.

And Caleb was sullen when he saw Tomas's face like this.

"What?"

"Master Chester's men went to South Eglinton, I think they have found Miss Bell."

So Alina's courage was given by Chester?

She thought that by getting Emma back at this time, she would be able to threaten him to stop? She was so arrogant, and this time she must be made to suffer before she would be willing to stop.

However, Tomas continued, "But Master Chester has no intention of letting Emma come back, he just has people watching."

"Didn't mean for her to come back?"

"Yes."

What the hell are they up to?

He was already angry, but now, listening to this report from Tomas, he was even more confused.
