

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 276

In Marry's age, in their perception, once a man and a woman become husband and wife, then it is natural to live well.

Divorce even seems to them that many times may be the best solution in the moment, but once it's involved for life, it was probably the saddest ending of all.

Marry, who has such deep-rooted ideas, is already supporting the end of Alina and Caleb at this moment.

She can see how desperate this marriage really is.

Now all people are waiting for the divorce lawsuit between Alina and Caleb.

The more it got to the end, the more curious everyone became as to who would win in the end between Alina and Caleb.

Caleb, after leaving from Mulherd Manor, went back to Werland Villa.

As he smoked cigarette after cigarette in the study, Tomas watched the annoyed Caleb, and chills ran down his spine.

"Sir." Eventually, Tomas broke this silence.

Caleb pushed the cigarette butt into the ashtray, looking at Tomas, he said, "Check it out."

"What?"

"She's been very abnormal this time." Finally, Caleb still faced up to this question from Emma.

When he was on Eglinton, in fact, he had all but sensed that something was wrong with Emma, after all she was not someone who would bow down to Alina.

She begged Alina when she was in Eglinton and now, surprisingly, she wanted to leave here.

He had arranged for Emma many places to go, yet Emma refused to leave him.

But when Alina was in Werland Villa, she would rather go to North Eglinton than continue to face Alina.

This time she was determined to leave.

Caleb wouldn't believe that there was nothing wrong with this.

“Yes.”

Tomas instantly understood exactly what Caleb meant .

Emma’s behavior was indeed strange.

“Tomas.”

“Yes”

“Get to the bottom of it.” Every thing, from now on, has to be cleared up.

Or rather, at this moment Caleb actually realised that there were really too many things that were not considered clear in his world before.

While in the past, Tomas tried to dig out the truth, he would be stopped in the middle of the process by Caleb.

Hence, many things became unclear.

Or is it that Emma, at that time, was never suspected and therefore it was clear or not that, it was not that important to Caleb at that time?

No matter what it was really like once, but now Caleb wanted to find it out.

Tomas walked away.

When Caleb was left alone in the study, “Alina,” he murmured the name softly.

All that came to mind was how hysterical Alina had been towards him all this time, why?

Because, every single thing involved now is bottom line for Alina.

And those, in her heart, are the wounds that cannot be touched.

In such a situation, she wished to tear Emma to pieces, so it didn’t matter who was defending Emma at this time, they are definitely on the opposite side of the fence from her.

Before, Caleb once trusted Emma, and today, with Alina’s reminder, in the end, he still wavered from that conviction in his heart.

In recalling the perversity of Emma during this time, he only felt that conviction had turned so ironic.

Emma, in the midst of this chaos, eventually, controlled Brodie.

Naturally, it's money.

Brodie is a gambler, all he wants is money, so money will set him right.

Although money was now so hard for Emma, but she borrowed it from Kara.

Brodie, for now, is at peace.

On the phone, Emma said to Caleb, "Chester's people are watching me all the time."

Caleb, "So?"

"I want to come back."

Now that the matter of Brodie is taken care of, it is only natural that she should return to Caleb.

She had left earlier purely because she was worried that Brodie had given those things to Alina and she was too scared to face it.

There is no need to worry now, Brodie is at least at peace for the moment, so at this time, she should return to Caleb.

Because it was only by Caleb so that no one would suspect what he had done to Alina's parents and grandmother.

"Back?"

Caleb had not expected Emma to be so perverse.

Emma, "Yes, Chester won't let me go, I'm afraid"

The latter words, which Emma did not continue, did make it clear that her current situation frightened her.

And Caleb had a duty to her, and in the midst of such fear, surely this man would let her go back, wouldn't he?

"I'll have Tomas get you back."

"Okay."

Getting these words from Caleb, Emma smiled.

Alina, just you wait.

Things will be tilted in her favour little by little, just wait until it's over, and then, see what she can do to her.

Thinking of her own inner torment during this time, Emma was just incomparably tormented inside.

But now it's better, no need to worry and fear.

As long as Brodie doesn't make a fuss, then Alina won't get any more evidence, so there will be nothing she can do on that matter.

In thinking this, Emma felt better.

Caleb had already felt that Emma had been perverse for some time, and now all of a sudden she was coming back, and his eyebrows were tightly knitted together.

It was a time when he was even more determined to get to the bottom of it.

When the news came to Alina that Emma was coming back, her eyebrows knitted together.

"There must be something behind this." Alina looked at Chester and said.

It was more suspicious.

There are so many suspicious spots in Emma.
