

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 295

Acceptance of Emma is out of the question.

Vanessa said, "Wait, it's the last three days, isn't it?"

"So, Mom?"

"I told him to check that woman." This time, instead of the same sabre-rattling as before, he was told properly.

And Caleb is stubborn.

You argue with him over such things, he won't listen.

Now the wedding of the two is on the horizon.

How could Vanessa possibly let Emma really enter this Collins family's door?

It was so hard to let that woman have nothing and get the punishment she deserved, and that would not let her have anything more.

"Check her out?" Julia looked at Vanessa in confusion, obviously not understanding what Vanessa meant by this.

It means to let Caleb to see clearly what kind of person is Emma?

"If he could see clearly, he would have seen clearly long ago, right?" Julia looked at Vanessa with some uncertainty.

Vanessa took a sign. This is what worries her the most.

After all these years of not seeing clearly, can he really see clearly this time?

"Wait."

"Okay."

Julia nodded and knew that there really didn't seem to be any better way out now other than to wait.

This is something that Caleb has to see for himself, and only when he sees it clearly for himself will he be more convinced.

Before, they said too much.

Yet Caleb not once did he believe it.

Emma is really bold, after Caleb went back to Werland Villa, she has been asking Caleb.

What exactly did Vanessa say, yet Caleb didn't mention a single word.

Rather, he looked at Emma with profound eyes.

Such profundity makes Emma's heart panic.

"Caleb, the wedding dress is settled." Seeing that Caleb would not say anything, Emma turned to the matter of the wedding dress.

She thought Tomas had told Caleb about the wedding dress.

What she didn't expect, however, was that Caleb didn't know anything, so now when she brought up the issue, he just nodded his head.

"Okay."

Other than that, not one more word.

At those words, her eyes instantly filled with aggression.

What does that mean? It felt like all the aggravation she had suffered on Yoyo's side because of Alina had been for nothing.

"I have something else to do, so I'll go to the study first."

Emma originally wanted to say something to show her aggression, however, Caleb wanted to go to the study, so she could only nod her head.

"Okay."

Looking at the man's back as he turned to go upstairs, Emma could feel that he was as if he had no warmth at all.

Caleb went upstairs.

Emma was in a wheelchair.

For a long, long time she didn't come back to her sense.

What really happened when he went to Collins Castle?

Or did they say something bad about her again to stop the wedding between her and Caleb? That must be it.

No. Things have come to this point, she has to marry Caleb, there is no other way out.

So now no matter who it is, don't try to stop it between her and Caleb.

Calculation and ruthlessness flashed in her eyes.

Brodie's call came in.

Emma wanted to smash the phone.

Brodie is now a bottomless pit for her, this while time and again the phone calls, besides asking for money, as if there is no serious business.

She did not want to pick it up.

But she had to pick up the phone, "Hello."

"I need..."

"Brodie!" The man on the other side of the phone hadn't finished his sentence when he was interrupted by Emma grimly.

"I know what you want, but how long has it been?" The anger in Emma's tone at the moment was suppressed.

She will never have peace in her life if this continues.

"Urgent need now, give me 100,000." The man on the other side of the phone said in a direct manner.

And Emma was already angry and furious, and now when she heard Brodie say such things, her heart was heaving even more.

Although this time it's not much to ask for.

But she has nothing under her name now, and although she has Caleb's card, this will be discovered by Caleb sooner or later if this is given to Brodie.

Although the man had now begun to suspect her, at least, there was no proof.

All she has to do is deny it, but if there's a trace of his card, that's a different story.

"I don't have money now."

"Then find a way." The man on the other side of the phone instantly became angry when he heard Emma's tone start to harden.

Hearing the strong tone, her heart was now heaving even more.

"If you don't give me, then I'll have to go to Miss Hughes."

Emma's already not-so-good face was even more furious when she heard that Brodie was looking for Alina again.

"Tomorrow." In the end, she could not be tough on Brodie at this time.

After all, she was about to marry Caleb, and didn't want to really bring things to such a head at this time.

And therefore, she compromised.

"By five o'clock tomorrow afternoon."

The man on the other side of the phone simply hung up the phone.

And the moment Emma sat where she was, frantically scratching her hair, and as she looked up, she saw Lois standing at the partition somehow, looking at her grimly, with a hint of disdain.

And Emma's heart thumped even more.

Did she, just now, hear it all?

The thought that Lois might have heard it made her heart thump even harder.

"Lois?" Emma looked at Lois tentatively, not saying anything but waiting for Lois to take the initiative.

Yet Lois just passed her by without saying anything and went straight to the kitchen.

Such icy disdain made Emma's heart, moreover, rise to her throat.

Turning back, she looked at Lois, "Lois, did you just now..."

"What are you afraid of?" Lois looked at Emma mockingly.

And Emma was already panicking in her heart, and now when she heard the words from Lois's mouth, she couldn't help but turn even whiter.

Lois heard it.

“Lois,” she spoke again, and her teeth all chattered.

No matter how upset and angry she was with Lois before, now she begged. Yet her heart was full of poisonous intentions.

Why is it such an accident in her world?

As if anything nasty was happening in her world.

Lois looked at Emma and drank all the water in a glass, “Master Caleb has his own decision.”

So, she is to tell Caleb?

She heard it all?

No, she can't tell Caleb, if Caleb knows about Brodie, then things will definitely be found out.
