

I'm Richer Than My Billionaire Ex-husband Chapter 75

Alina just felt a headache.

Ever since she returned to Ingford, she felt that Caleb had changed. He has lost the stability he had three years ago and has become suspicious.

He is imperceptible.

More often than not, he is like a psychopath, and his behavior is incomprehensible.

For a long time, Alina was tossed and turned by him before he let her go.

The look on Caleb's face was finally better.

"Don't see him again, or..." The fire of the lighter rushed up.

Instantly, he lit a cigarette.

Alina has a real aversion to the smell of cigarettes and wonders when in the end this man became so addicted to smoking.

He had not finished his words, but Alina knew at this moment that his threat was full of meaning.

She took a deep breath.

Looking to the man already sitting across smoking, she somewhat angrily straightened her lapel, "I left Ingford in that way three years ago, and after that, it's none of your business whose arms I'm in or what kind of words I say."

Anger was like the sparks of a burning cigarette he held in his hand.

Three years ago, why she left and how she had to leave?

All of these things are irritating Caleb's nerves.

Since Alina's return, he has tried to avoid the memory of three years ago as much as possible, no, actually before she came back.

He's been avoiding it too.

No one can bring up what happened three years ago. He has been looking for her, but bringing up three years ago is not okay.

It is clear that those things have long been a taboo in Caleb's world, a taboo that he does not want to face.

And at the moment Alina mentioned it, his eyes deepened, and the moment they met, Caleb felt his throat harden. That scene is still fresh in his mind.

Just as Alina wondered what a man like Caleb would do when faced head-on with what he faced three years ago.

The next moment, he spoke up.

To Alina's surprise, there was no apology, no explanation, but he asked in a stern voice, "Three years ago, he took you away?"

Alina was angry at his words.

She remembered the night she went to the show in Ingford and he blocked her. He asked the same thing, asking if Andre had taken her away.

He even wondered how she and Andre had met, when they had met, and whether the tragic crash at Hasnan Bridge had been premeditated.

He is ruthless, but thinks that she has long betrayed him? Will it make him feel better in his heart to think like that?

So was everything three years ago her fault, and he hated her death on the operating table?

This must be the case.

Anger finally broke Alina's nerves, she got up, picked up the water in front of her and splashed it down on his face.

That's not enough. The cup in her hand was smashed directly on the man's head, and she moved too fast for Caleb to dodge.

The moment the cup rolled to the floor, he only felt a sudden pain in his brain.

"Alina!" Since when on earth did she have such a cranky side?

Caleb just thinks that people who used to think Alina was a lady are blind, and that includes him.

Alina turned around and went into the kitchen, and when she came out again, there was a kitchen knife in her hand.

Lucy hid in the shadows and watched. Just now Alina's defiance of Caleb made her feel happy, yet when Alina came out with the kitchen knife, Lucy's heart was in her throat.

"Lady Alina, what are you doing? Hurry up and put the knife down." Caleb deserve to be beaten, but if Alina had done it herself, it would have been the end of the Hughes.

"Caleb, I'm telling you, you cheated on me back then. It was you who betrayed the marriage, you did something disgusting yourself, don't blame it on me."

"Do you know how disgusting you are? There are so many women in the world, you don't want to sleep with, you had to sleep with Emma, you sincerely disgust me, don't you?"

"I know you didn't like this marriage that was arranged by Grandpa Max back then, you can divorce me if you don't like me, why do you need to engage in such a tactic to dilemma me? Your purpose is achieved, I am really disgusted by you."

"But please don't blame this disgusting stuff on me. I'm telling you, I was not a virgin when I was with you, yes, I was frankly. And what about you? Why did you slept with one of the Hughes family?"

"You're a beast, no, beasts are more noble than you." Alina cursed with anger.

And Caleb's face was getting darker and darker.

Alina was pointing a kitchen knife at him, if Lucy hadn't stopped her, Caleb thought this woman would really cut him up right now.

Lucy hugged Alina's slender waist, "Lady Alina, put the knife down, put it down, good girl."

Lucy is not worried about Caleb, but Alina, after all, if she really did such a thing, she will have to bear the legal responsibility.

Alina said fiercely, "I did not do anything to wrong you, back then whether you are willing or not, I married you before you nodded, do not make a look like I owe you."

"Now, I'll make it up to you, but there's one thing I've changed my mind about." Alina became furious.

Caleb watched her face change.

In the end, Alina said, "I made you whole, but there is a fact that the marriage is betrayed by you, so even if we have the divorce, you got nothing from the family."

Alina said fiercely.

Before in order to get rid of this marriage, she did not want anything, but this man did not cherish her opportunity.

Well, drag it. From now on, she will show him what it takes.

From the moment Emma had done so much to harm her, Alina was going to show the two of them what it cost.

Caleb did not expect to be cursed by her when he asked such a question.

“What do you want?” At this moment, Caleb calmed down.
