

《Immaculate Spirit》

Chapter 15

Hampton. 03/05/2012. 18:30.

"My baby!" Said his mom when she hugged him.

Nathaniel and his grandmother were talking about the party when they heard the chopper landing. They thought it was Robert coming, they didn't think that he would come home with his moms. They were supposed to come tomorrow to help with the party so seeing them here now was surprising. Releasing him, he got hugged immediately by his other mom, he then closed the round of hugging when he took his grandfather in his arm, noticing his fake pain wince.

"It was planned that I was to fly back here so I thought we could chopper pool." He said in a unemotional voice which fooled no-one in the room.

The relation between him and the lesbian couple was tight to put it mildly and with Karine especially, this was clearly a sign in the right direction. A gesture like that would have been totally inconceivable 4 years ago. They were clearly all trying to make their family work which made Nathaniel heart warm. They all decided to not put him on the spot and keep exchanging greetings.

"Ah yes granny, I met someone while I was running today and I invite her to the party. We need to add her to the entry list." Said Nathaniel which caused every conversation to die down, his family all looking at him.

"Someone?" Ask her grandma.

"Her?" Add Karine with a smirk which made him roll his eyes in amusement.

"That's not like that mom, we just talk and she seems nice so I invite her to come." He clarified.

"Dear I know that you're nice but you can't invite random people to come. All guests are from the elite and are extremely wealthy or from families who wield high authority in the country. That would not be nice to her to drop her in this environment." Said Diane in a kind voice.

"I don't think that will be a problem granny, she wore expensive clothes and jewelry on her. Moreover she tells me that she is a singer and she's going on tour in the coming weeks."

Mary and his grandpa make eyes contact hearing that.

"A female singer? What was her name sweetie?" Ask Mary.

"Taylor Swift. I never heard of her but i didn't have time to get in touch with the trending music so it doesn't mean anything. I was planning to google her when i have the time." Precise Nathaniel in front of his startle family.

"Taylor Swift? Blond hair, blue eyes, 5'10 , extremely pretty?" Questioned Mary rapidly.

"Everything seems right. I take it she's well known?"

"Well known doesn't even cover it, she's like the number one female popstar." Clarified Mary.

"Well done grandson, i could use your friendship to make her sign with us." Said Robert with a gleeful voice.

Nathaniel start to frown and turn to his grandmother.

"Granny can you make grandpa not do that and not bothering my guest please?" Ask Nathaniel with a brilliant smile.

"Don't worry dear, i will make sure he doesn't ever come near her." She answer in a chilling tone looking at her husband instantly.

"You could had ask me directly you know." He said in an wrong tone, his voice gloomy.

"No need, i know who wield real power here." Nathaniel said which triggers a round of laughter from all womens in the room.

"Smart ass grandson" They all hear him grumble, triggering a second round of laughter.
