Okay first I want to really thank everyone for all the reads and comments and favorites. I am really happy y'all are liking it so far. I will be posting 2 chapters today, November 14th, along with this one. They are very long so I hope that's okay.

The Sister of Draoid are characters you've heard of but now you can see what my inspiration for their looks are. Of course if you see a character differently that is completely okay. I just find these character pages fun.

There are five main sisters you will see and then the rest are just names for now.

Just a warning the next two chapters are very fresh and unedited prepare for rewrites if necessary.

Much love ♥♥

- Savannah
