

Will You Help

We finally got home and i grabbed a quick snack and snuggled up with ash in our room.

Ashtray put on his favorite show he's been watching for a very long time now.

"hey ash" ashtray looked down at me.

"you know how i said i needed to talk to you"

"yeah what's up" he said scooting up.

"well my sister lexi, she has a play"

"what's the point of this" he said raising an eyebrow.

"well uh she wants me and you to be in a scene"

"what!" ash got loud.

"i know it sounds horrible ash, but please. i haven't seen her in forever and it made her happy that i told her i'd talk to you about it." i said sitting cross cross on the bed.

"how long will i be on stage" ash said getting quiet.

"about 5 minutes"

Ash had a loud exhale, "i guess i'll help".

"oh my gosh! really? your the best" i hugged him.

I couldn't believe ashtray was gonna help, he's the shy guy and doesn't talk. it's gonna be weird seeing him talk.

"so what's the play about" he said

"um, to be honest i'm not really sure. Lexi said it's about her life and she needed us. I'll talk to her about it tomorrow."

"your going to school?" ash said getting in a angry voice.

"only till the plays done, i haven't seen lexi in forever"

"i'll go with you" he said getting quieter

"go with me where.." i said confused.

"to school" "only till the plays over" he copied my words.

I giggled.

"you, going to school" i laughed more.

he picked up a pillow and hit me with it till we got in a big pillow fight.

Continue reading next part □