

Journey to Happy Ending Chapter 119

Jessica stroked her fair neck in fear. She could hardly believe that Edward had just tried to kill her. She still didn't know enough about Edward.

"Anna, see her out." Edward ordered without another look at Jessica. The coldness continued to emanate from him.

"Miss Jessica, come with me, please." Anna knew Edward's temper. He loved Justin, and Jessica called Justin names. Of course Edward would lose his temper.

Jessica took a last look at the man she loved so much. She knew he'd never belong to her completely. But she didn't mind sharing him with other women as long as she could be by his side. Edward shattered that wish.

The longer she looked at him, the more she wanted him. 'Edward, I will make you marry me and accept our child by all means. Only I am the perfect match for you.' she thought.

Edward gracefully returned to his desk and sat down. He took the call, and Jessica disappeared from his mind.

"Hey, what's up? Do you miss me?" He said gently, smiling broadly. One could hardly link his affectionate look to his coldness and cruelty just moments before.

Jessica could hear him. His gentleness made Jessica's feet soft. Her face grew pale. 'Ah, Edward, you used to be so gentle and caring to me as well. But not now. What about this woman? How long will it take you to dump her? We'll all end up deserted.'

"Edward, don't be so childlike. Will you be home on time?" Daisy said, flipping through the files she had just copied.

you want me home early? I'll think about it." Edward answered playfully. His

She knew that Edward was eloquent. Keeping her words short and sharp was the best way mad? You're usually more cheerful than this." Edward raised his head and saw Jessica standing there. He frowned and gestured to Anna to take her on the other end of that call? Who Daisy quipped. Belinda and her friends were you and get a new wife. Besides, I lost the receipt." Since Daisy was me, but I will punish you severely first, then I will set you free. How about that?" It was quite rare for Daisy to joke around. But as she

Edward, she became more

It won't kill me, will it?" Edward was all excited. It was rare when she joked take." Daisy chuckled. She imagined how gorgeous Edward would look are not thinking about us in bed, are you?" Daisy's giggle made Edward shiver. 'Why Daisy laughed so creepily? How come yet." Daisy's smile vanished, and on the desk. He would have finished his work if not for Jessica. He needed to hurry up, or he wouldn't be home organized her documents and put them in the briefcase on time." Edward just now remembered what she