

Journey to Happy Ending Chapter 157

When Daisy came back to her senses, the sensual atmosphere had reached a climax. It was too late to get away now. Daisy cursed herself in her heart, 'Daisy, you're such a dirty horny woman. Why are you always tempted by his sexy look?'

Edward didn't care what was on Daisy's mind. He was completely turned on by her. He couldn't wait to strip off her clothes. But when he reached inside her pajamas and put his hands on her soft breasts, he was surprised. Daisy didn't wear underwear.

"You came prepared." Edward murmured breathlessly in her ear with a cunning smile. 'That saves me the energy of taking them off.' He thought.

"Edward, let go." Daisy pushed hard on his strong chest. All that earned her was a tighter grip.

"Hey, you got me all hot and bothered, and you want to stop?" Edward said while smiling slyly. It was impossible for him to give up this beautiful moment.

"But... We are in the study room." Daisy was still struggling. Justin also lived on the same floor. If he were to walk in... And there was Leena who lived in the guest room downstairs. Leena had a curious mind and was dynamic, often capricious. Daisy was not sure whether she would come upstairs suddenly.

"Yes, I know we're in the study. But what's wrong with it?" Edward looked at her with a mischievous smile. He rested his gaze on her pretty pink face.

"Don't you fear that someone might come in at any time?" Daisy thought herself too stupid to discuss such a sensitive topic with him now.

think anyone's awake in the middle of the night? Find a better excuse. I'm not buying that give up a good opportunity like this, especially not beat him in a war of words. But that you're trying to be careful around me? Huh?" Edward narrowed his eyes and gazed at Daisy's cool face. It was undeniable that Daisy's reason sounded reasonable.

be careful around you? So you really don't know what kind of pursed her lips. She was still trying to push

I like in your eyes? Colonel Daisy?" Edward said and laughed loudly. It can tell, you're just so so." Daisy replied with a look of disgust. But when she looked into his charming arms with a dangerous look. The Daisy mumbled. She didn't expect this would turn Edward on. He now? Well then..." Edward murmured this word by word in her ear. The gentle and warm breath set Daisy into and looked away. She didn't dare meet his gaze. She was not a good liar, and a flirtatious smile. Daisy had gone all out