

Journey to Happy Ending Chapter 200

"Honey, do you remember your promise?" Edward looked up from her chest, staring at Daisy hopefully. He wasn't sure if this counted as love, but all he wanted at this moment was Daisy's trust.

"Yes, of course. Why are you asking me this all of a sudden?" Daisy asked curiously, wrapping her arms around Edward's neck.

"Nothing. I was just afraid that you might have forgotten." Not wanting the matter to affect Daisy's military exercises, Edward decided to lie about it. Because things have reached this point and his uncertainty grew. Jessica's confidence made him panic. He had to get to the bottom of it carefully before he could know everything.

Daisy made a face at him. "You're treating me like a three-year-old kid! Relax, your colonel isn't that forgetful." Daisy playfully pinched Edward's face. She had to pinch a bit harder because his skin was so smooth. How could his skin be so delicate?

"Ouch, are you trying to ruin my face?" Edward grabbed her hand, wondering if Daisy had something against his face. Why did she pinch him so hard?

"Yes! After I disfigure you, you'll only be mine." Daisy looked at him seriously with a sly look in her eyes. She was happy as long as Edward didn't look as depressed as he did earlier. Seeing him like that only made her upset.

"Don't worry. Even if I'm not disfigured, I'm still only yours." Edward didn't care if Daisy was serious or not. He was willing to believe everything she said, even if she was just comforting him. He was willing to accept them all.

"These are your words! Don't flirt around behind my back, or I will destroy you." Daisy came closer, whispering the threat in his ear.

right now? I'd love to be ravished by you." Edward grinned wickedly. His hands

away from doing?" Daisy shrieked as reading the reports tomorrow. We're going to bed now." Edward said shamelessly. Carrying Daisy, he strode towards the bedroom with purpose.

tomorrow!" Daisy rolled her eyes. Edward's intentions were too obvious. He would devour her

Edward entered the bedroom, he couldn't wait to give Daisy a him to be so enthusiastic, she responded to his passion instinctively.

her on the soft mattress. He panted slightly as they looked deeply into each other's eyes.

"I want you." Edward smiled naughtily. His polite words contradicted his lewd actions, making Daisy want to slap him. Wasn't he already on top of her? Why did he have neck and without warning, gave Edward a passionate kiss. It

"you're not paying attention!" Daisy's seductive voice rang through his ears. If Edward was going to leave her hanging a while, she was definitely going to show Admiration and laughter shone in Edward's eyes. He raised his eyebrows at Daisy as he looked him when she saw his knew what Daisy was thinking now, his face would probably look very