

Journey to Happy Ending Chapter 71

Belinda was as quick-witted as ever. Daisy felt speechless. She changed her expression. If she is her father's daughter, she would still be her mom's daughter. What is the difference?

'Emmm... Ok, I accept that you are smart. Now tell me, are you free this weekend?' Belinda and Daisy haven't seen each other for years. Daisy missed her very much.

"Are you planning on standing me up again?" Belinda complained sourly while putting the contract away.

"I want to go shopping with you if you've got time, but I am fine if you don't want to come with me. There are many other things I'd rather do." Daisy knew Belinda couldn't resist the temptation of a shopping spree.

'Daisy! I dare you! You must go shopping with me.' Belinda's booming voice caught Edward and Mary's attention.

No..., Belinda immediately regretted uttering Daisy's name aloud. Although Mary was familiar with Daisy, she wasn't sure whether Daisy's name would ring a bell to Edward. Belinda's shout definitely caught Mary's attention, and the reason behind her hostility became clear.

'Aren't you afraid of being hunted down anymore?' Daisy didn't realize what an unfavorable situation Belinda had put herself into.

'I feel like I am being hunted down now.' Belinda grumbled. Edward, why were you staring at me? Am I doing something illegal?
