

Journey to Happy Ending Chapter 87

Today, Edward was delighted because of the wonderful time he had spent with Daisy yesterday night. He couldn't help smiling the whole morning, thinking about last night.

"Aaron, our CEO seems very happy today. Look, he is constantly smiling in the office. Do you have any clue what's making him so happy? Did something special happen yesterday night?" Rain elbowed Aaron who was sitting beside him and whispered to him.

Aaron turned his head and stared at Rain in contempt. 'If you want to know the answer, why don't you ask for yourself? 'How could I know what the CEO did yesterday night? I don't live with him. Besides, I'm not a Peeping Tom who likes to poke his nose into other people's private lives.' Aaron thought.

Aaron's stare embarrassed Rain, and he touched his handsome nose in regret. 'I am being despised by Aaron yet again. But Edward is acting very suspicious. I have never seen him in such a good mood as today, especially during a meeting. He even ignored the blunders made by the planning department! He is always in an aggressive and daunting mood just like a tiger. It's unusual that he is acting as easygoing as a cat today.' Rain thought.

'Mr. Rain, please let us know about your proposal for the C Financial Group.'" Asked Edward. Edward noticed that Rain was prying into his private affairs during the meeting. He could make out from Rain's dubious expression that he was lost in his thoughts.

Rain felt flustered! He suddenly remembered the saying "what goes around comes around". It applied to him now. And he knew his boss wouldn't let it pass. He realized that he has already earned his punishment for his blabbering.

Rain shot an intrusive look to Edward and reluctantly opened the report in front of him. He began to discuss the plan. He immediately conceded that Edward was still a tiger in the disguise of a cat. He considered himself stupid. He had fooled himself into believing that Edward would not catch his words. Other colleagues in the meeting were wise to keep silent. Only he was dumb enough to bring up this sensitive topic. No wonder that Aaron overlooked him moments ago.

Edward was still smiling coolly, in a playful way. He ignored Rain's worried look and laid back in his chair, smiling cunningly at him.

plan what has to be done by you in the next stage of this program. You will be too stressed if you are not well prepared. But you seem good at finding excuses for your lewd behavior. You are a cunning man! But you pretend that you are good to me. Your brazenness is second

He sighed and said in his heart, 'I finally know how it feels to abuse the help! I'm experiencing it, now that Edward is had know what was in Rain's mind now, he would have become angry and defended himself, 'What? How shameless you call yourself cheap labor? Will anyone believe what liked to give him a chance to speak as long as he wanted. It was an effective way to prevent him how about asking Miss Daisy out tonight? And we can bring Duke as well. We'll have a lot of fun together." As soon as the meeting was over, Rain approached Edward and leaned towards him. With eager eyes will call her later to check with her." Edward paused and replied. He picked up the files from the table and gracefully stood up. He thought it was a good idea to introduce Daisy to his friends.

I have heard that Leena is back. Ask Duke to bring her. I haven't seen her for many years; she must have changed a lot!"

pissed off

to meet." After he finished his words, he walked out of the meeting room. He thought

I will find a place now." Rain was delighted. He had been curious to know more about Daisy. He wondered why such a beautiful and elegant woman was present in that messy place that commander in a few days. Although she knew that the commander was very nice to her. But this has also attracted envy from some vicious people. She tried her best to do everything in order and on time so that no one could find fault with her. She didn't want others to get the wrong idea about