

Journey to Happy Ending Chapter 94

Daisy had not expected this whimsical action at all. She was so embarrassed that she buried her face in his chest. She thought that there was no way for her to show her face in public again. She didn't have to look to know that people around them were all staring at her. Her reputation was again ruined by Edward Mu.

Belinda looked at Daisy curiously, thinking, 'She finally got what she worked so hard for. From the way that Edward had treated her, did it mean her 12-year-long one-sided obsession for him was finally going to be requited?' If that was the case, Belinda would be so happy for Daisy, because she knew how difficult Daisy's life was, and she was the only one who knew how persistent and dedicated Daisy's love was.

"Edward, you're so amazing! You're my idol!" Leena started to rile up the crowd. She liked assertive men.

"Girl, you trying to fall in love or what?" Rain asked her humorously, thinking that if this was enough to make someone her idol, then she would have gone crazy if she had seen how Mr. Mu flirted with other women in public.

"What? How old do you think I am? Why can't I fall in love?" The truth was, not only had she fallen in love, but she also had an one night stand with someone after some drinks. But could she just say that aloud? Certainly not, unless she had a death wish.

"You fell for somebody?" Duke furrowed his brows and asked Leena seriously. How on earth did he forget that this young lady over here has already reached the age for love and romance? But when he thought about some other man in her life, a bitterness arose in his heart.

"No, brother, I was just joking." Leena tried to change the subject. As for someone she fell for... There could be one! How about the handsome foreign boy? And because of an exciting moment with him, she had lost her most precious virginity.
