

SEQUEL UPDATE!

Hello

As you may see, KIR (Keeping It Real) has ended very quickly... I have one reason for that.

I will be planning to write a "sequel" to KIR. And I'm working on my ideas for the plot. I think Lintley will be meeting the "one" in her life. But I'm not sure for the other girls. My point is Lintley, she will be meeting her "the one."

I am currently working on my other story "The Hall" and I was inspired. So I decided to end KIR and proceed to the sequel-- where I think the love will begin.

((Wait, The Hall is a horror-love story... Actually, more of a love than horror. I admit. Hehe. But it has scary stuff happening now. Better read it!))

And to my best friends, they also inspired me to create a love story... a better love story.

STAY TUNED!

I still don't have a schedule for writing this "sequel." Compared to a movie, it's really really coming soon. :)

THANK YOU!

To all my readers.

x

IaraBiag ✨

Finished Reading
Keeping It Real