

King of kings

Chapter 1871

These thousands of descendants, all descendants of Omi and some of his brothers and sisters, voluntarily followed Omi to live in the Spiritual Realm.

Omi was only giving it a try, and didn't know whether it would be a blessing or a curse to take them to the Spiritual Realm.

Afterwards, Omi split open the spatial boundary and brought thousands of people back to the Spiritual Realm, appearing in the First Sea of the Spiritual Realm.

The reason why he appeared in the First Sea was because the First Sea had the weakest space, and Omi had to choose a safe place to bring so many people.

Omi brought these thousands of people to a certain city in the One Heavy Sea and said to everyone, "We'll stay here for about half a year, and during this half year, each of you must become familiar with the Spiritual Realm, and each of you must step into the Spiritual Harmony Stage or above and officially start on the path of immortal cultivation. After that, I'll take you all to my place, Tang Ji Gate."

In the six months that followed, Omi helped each and every one of them to successfully reach the Spiritual Harmony Stage.

Omi could only help them here, after all, there were so many people.

However, there was one person that Omi couldn't help, and that was the robot Blackhawk.

Omi couldn't help Black Hawk refine spirit stones, and Black Hawk couldn't absorb spiritual energy, and Black Hawk's cultivation direction was all completely different.

To put it bluntly, Black Hawk's cultivation direction was more towards magic weapons, low grade magic weapons, intermediate grade magic weapons, high grade magic weapons, top grade magic weapons, heavenly grade magic weapons, and pseudo-immortal weapons.

Yes, Black Hawk's cultivation direction was the same as that of a Dharma weapon. Remember the URL . kanshu8 . net

Omi was also a bit cryptic, a robot, to put it bluntly, was a magic treasure that produced a soul.

The difference was that the robot could cultivate on its own to make itself more advanced, whereas the magic treasure, however, relied on its master to sacrifice it and needed the master to use spiritual power to drive it in order to function.

"Black Hawk, it's been half a year since you came to the spirit world, have you groped for anything?" Omi asked.

"Senior Tang, I found that our robot clan is very similar to the spirit world's magic tools." Black Eagle said.

"That's right, but you guys are more flexible and superior than the magic tools. Blackhawk, keep working hard, in the future, maybe your robot clan can become something more powerful than a magic weapon, or even replace it and become a weapon that people seek after."

Black Hawk said, "Senior Tang, we will not become someone's weapon, we are also a race, but we will always follow Senior Tang."

"Haha, let's talk about these later, Black Eagle, what level have you reached now?"

Blackhawk said apologetically, "If I were to be judged based on the Spiritual Realm's magic weapon levels, right now, I'm still very far away from even a Primary Inferior Magic Weapon."

"Too weak." Omi gave Black Hawk two words.

"Yes, a random flying sword with no rank could cut me to pieces." Black Eagle said, "He was so strong in the mortal realm that no human was a match, but in the spirit realm, he was weak."

"Don't worry Senior Tang, I will definitely intensify my research so that I can upgrade myself, but after all, I am alone now, I don't have any helpers or factories, I have to produce materials, I have to have a processing plant, I also have to have a laboratory and so on, alas." Blackhawk sighed.

Machines and artifacts, word for word, while many things were in common, many differences existed as well.

Omi casually turned over something that looked like a necklace.

&nb

sp; "Blackhawk, do you know what this is?"

"The necklace?" Black Eagle looked at Omi in confusion.

Omi's mind moved, and with a clatter, that black necklace expanded and changed, and in the blink of an eye, it turned into a huge steel giant hundreds of meters tall.

"Roar." The steel giant let out a roar, each roar was like that sharp, piercing sound that steel makes when it rubs against each other.

Omi said, "This is a magic weapon of mine, I haven't used it for quite a while, this magic weapon of mine can shrink into a necklace when not in use, I call him the Steel Giant. Black Hawk, now look at it with your eyes, my Iron Giant, does it contain a high level of technology?"

Black Eagle's body was trembling at the moment, stammering, "Senior Tang, I've really opened my eyes, I'm completely unable to use science to explain why a necklace this small would expand into such a large steel giant, what about the law of conservation of energy? It's as if it completely broke physics as I knew it. I suddenly realized that the science contained in your Iron Giant is beyond my reach."

Omi casually flipped out another jade slip and said, "This is a transmission jade slip, and this, you should be able to understand, can transmit sound for a thousand miles." After saying that, Omi immediately sent a message out, "Hey, hey, Thousand Extremities, what are you doing? I'm now in the One Heavy Sea, I brought thousands of people this time, now there seems to be a problem, the Rainbow Bridge can only take 100 people at a time, even if all eight Rainbow Bridges are taken over by me, I can only take 800 people, how am I supposed to do with these thousands of people?"

Not long after, Omi's jade slip vibrated, and a message from Mu Qianji came from inside, "Ah, can't you just tear through space to the Six Seas?"

"Because I've brought so many people with me, the space in the First Sea is weak, so I can only choose to settle here, it's more secure."

"Then we'll have to transport them up here in several years."

"That's all that can be done."

After that, Omi ended his call with Mu Qianji.

Black Eagle asked, "Senior Tang, this jade slip of yours is the equivalent of a telephone, right?"

"Yes, you can say that. However, this jade slip of mine, there are no satellites, and this spirit world has no satellites to connect the two sides."

"Ah, no satellite signal to connect? So how did that work?"

"Oh, how would I know ah, even the entire spirit world doesn't know the principle."

After that, Omi took out a few more magic tools, and scrolls and such, and these things were brought out, and they really scared Blackhawk to death, because Blackhawk couldn't even imagine how this was done, what the principle was.

Blackhawk couldn't explain it at all, or the technology that Blackhawk currently possessed was not up to this level. That bit of high technology on the robot was simply still too small compared to the magic weapon.

If Blackhawk was to evolve in the future, he would definitely go on an upgrade path that was exactly the same as the level of the magic weapon, and if he couldn't explain and research the mysteries of the magic weapon, then Blackhawk would stagnate, and wouldn't even be able to live in the spirit world, becoming something that was obsolete and backward in the spirit world.

"Everyone, let's go, follow me to the Five Seas first."

Omi led thousands of people from the First Heavy Sea, straight to reach the Five Heavy Seas.

Once they reached the Five Heavy Seas, it would be more troublesome to continue to the Six Heavy Seas, and they had to pass through the Rainbow Bridge. There was still less than half a month until the Rainbow Bridge opened, and since it couldn't take that many people on board at once, it would probably take several years to bring these thousands of people up to the Six Heavy Sea.