

King of kings

1966

At this moment, in the distant sky, a slender woman was stunned, and she was Princess Ayana.

Princess Ayana had just followed behind.

However, what Princess Ayana didn't expect was that Omi had killed so many of her strongest people in a flash, Omi had been as strong as an immortal.

Omi's gaze immediately shot off into the distance and found Princess Ayana.

Omi snorted, "Bitch."

Omi would never forget how Princess Ayana disliked him, nor would she forget that she sent people to chase Omi and the others down.

Of course, whether or not the matter of sending people after them was really her doing, had yet to be confirmed, but it was also unprovable because the person in question was already, even her father, the Saint King, was already, and even if Ayana said it wasn't her, it was empty words.

Omi rushed up in a flash.

Ayana looked at Omi with a pale face.

Omi strangled Ayana's neck and hoisted her up.

"Princess Ayana, we meet again, I didn't expect that it would be this kind of scene," Omi said. First URL m.kanshu8.net

"Tang, Omi, you, you actually."

"How dare you kill so many of your clansmen in one instant? Haha, that's just what you saw, and what you didn't see, shall I tell you, like, about your father."

"Ah, my father he?"

"Your father took two parahumans with him to kill me and exterminate my human race, but unfortunately, he's dead now."

"This, this is impossible, my father is the strongest parahumans of the Seven Seas."

"Believe it or not, now, it's your turn to die."

Ayana grieved inside, in fact, ever since Omi's sword test competition, Princess Ayana thought about Omi every day, and the more she thought about it, the more she thought that she, might have fallen in love with this humble human. These days, she thought about him day and night, but never would she have expected that today, she would finally meet the person she missed, and even more so, it was this kind of scene, he had become the Half Immortal Clan's sworn enemy.

"You really killed my father?" Princess Ayana asked with a tug at her heart.

"Is there any point in me lying to you when you're dead on arrival? Not only your father, but now I've taken care of your entire Half Immortal Clan's parahumans."

"I don't believe that all of the parahumans of our clan are still cultivating in the clan."

"In that case, I'll let you watch the end of the Half Immortal Clan with your own eyes." After saying that, Omi took Ayala and flew back into the air above the Half Immortal Clan.

Omi cast a rather large spell.

"Boom." On the ground, a monstrous flame rose from the ground out of nowhere.

"Wow." The flames were incomparably powerful, or, a person of this level was vulnerable to his spell.

The entire Half Immortal Clan caught fire, as if the entire Half Immortal Clan had been thrown into a furnace.

"No." Princess Ayala shrieked, watching her clan die.

Omi sighed inwardly, the more powerful he was, the more he treated the weak as ruminants, Omi didn't have to be so cruel, but there was no choice, if he didn't destroy the Half Immortal Clan today, the day Omi would ascend, the entire human race would die.

Ayana cried in the sky, after dozens of breaths, the entire Half Immortal Clan had been reduced to ruins, but still, not a single parahuman had appeared.

Ayala was desperate, she finally believed that all the parahumans of the Half Immortal Clan, had been killed off up.

"Ooooh." Ayala let out a painful cry.

Omi hoisted Ayala up and said, "It's your turn, Ayala, today's calamity is not that I, Tang, am heartless, but that your Half Immortal Clan is too arrogant and deceitful."

Ayala was hanging in Omi's hands, her eyes full of despair.

Omi was about to kill her, when Little Fire flew in.

"Brother Chen."

"Little Fire, you're just in time, the powerful Half Immortals have been mostly killed, and the rest of the surrounding area is full of weaklings, these weaklings are in your hands. I'll give you more than three hundred mouths of Bimbo Qi, you go and exterminate the rest, the remaining population is estimated to still occupy seventy percent of the entire Half Immortal Clan, you have to save the Bimbo Qi."

"Yes, Minister."

Omi gave all the Bimbo Qi to Little Flame, the remaining seventy percent or so of the Half Immortal Clan, Omi didn't even need to kill them himself, let Little Flame go, just vent the hatred within Little Flame, untie his heart, the powerful ones are all purged anyway.

Omi just Flame killed, only the half-immortal royal city, the royal city, at most, only occupy thirty percent of the population, scattered around at least another seventy percent, but all are weaker.

Aya cried and looked at Omi with a prayer in her eyes.

Omi said, "Are you regretting that you didn't marry me? If you marry me, maybe it won't end up like this today, there are times when you are out of your depth and I am out of my depth. Magnify your eyes a little, there are races dying and rising every day throughout the universe, and that's nothing."

"Kill me." Ayato said in prayer.

"Sure." Don Omi raised his hand to shoot down.

But Don Omi couldn't seem to do it, after all, he had coveted it before.

Omi suddenly hugged Ayala and rushed to the ground, to a bush on the ground, and tore Ayala's clothes off.

After that, Omi forcibly gave Ayana a what.

More than an hour later, Omi emerged from the bush and said, "Although you don't like me and dislike me, and even sent that ninth stage of the tribulation to kill me, I really want to kill you, but, after all, I once liked you and I couldn't do it. Today, I've exchanged defilement for your life, and I'll consider myself Omi's benevolence. If you can't take revenge, it means that your Half Immortal clan should die. If you can take revenge, that means I deserve to die. Farewell."

Omi said and flew away directly.

Ayana cried helplessly in the bushes, the truth was that Omi didn't understand her heart at all, she didn't dislike Omi, nor did she send anyone to kill him. Instead, Ayana felt fond of Omi, but unfortunately, there was no point in justifying any of this now, Omi had become the man who killed her father and exterminated her family.

Ayala stood up, and in the grass, a bright red was incredibly striking, showing Ayala's newly lost virginity.

Ayala gritted her teeth and said, "Omi, you exterminated my race, I will seek revenge on you."

Omi went to Little Fire after that, helped Little Fire, and exterminated the entire Half Immortal race.

After exterminating the entire Half Immortal race, Omi and Little Fire left the Half Immortal race.

"Little Fire, now that the entire Half Immortal Clan has been buried with them for Yan Ling and Mei, the hatred within you has almost been resolved."

Little Fire said, "Thank you, Brother Minister, if it wasn't for you, how could I kill so many Half Immortal Clan people."

"No need to thank you, exterminating the Half Immortal Clan is also for the safety of humanity."

