

King of kings

2259

"No, I'll go after it myself, you go inform Omi immediately, by the way, where did Omi run off to."

"If I'm not wrong, he should be going to the Academy of Immortality."

"Alright, I'm going to chase after Ding Lan." Ding Cangding was in a hurry to chase after someone.

And his men were busy going to the Academy of Immortality.

Right now, Omi was hugging Tang Huan.

Just then, there was a shout from outside, "Omi."

"Who's looking for me."

Omi busily put on his clothes and went out, only to see that it was the dean's men.

"Omi, you're still in the mood to be here, quick, something has happened." The dean's men yelled.

"What's happened?"

"You can see for yourself." Remember the URL .kanshu8.net

A letter was thrown to Omi.

Omi looked at it and was shocked.

"Ting Lan is going to become a monk? Why?" Don Omi was incredulous.

"And you have the nerve to ask why, now that your father-in-law has gone after it, hopefully we can catch up, otherwise."

"Where is the South China Sea?" Omi was busy asking.

"The South China Sea is further south in the South Zhanbu Continent, where a strong man known as the Divine Nun lives, and this Divine Nun is so powerful that even the Immortal Emperor has to respectfully bow down to him. Once you let Miss Ding Lan become a virgin under her throne, I'm afraid you won't be able to get out of it in this life."

"She dares."

"Don't try to be a hero here, it's not for you to yell a few words about whether she dares or not, I'm afraid if she were to rebel, the Immortal Court wouldn't be able to handle it."

"Alright, I'll go after her."

Omi immediately went after them, it wasn't like he had never been to the South Zhanbu Continent before, he could get there in a day.

Omi was about to accept Ding Lan, who would have thought that she would actually run off to become a monk.

"Ding Lan, you must wait for me."

Omi flew at great speed in the direction of South Zhanbu Continent, and that man of the dean's also came along.

Omi asked, "How long has Ding Lan been gone?"

"Can't be sure, but it looks like there's a two or three days."

"What? Two or three days, that's not bad, two or three days has already arrived in the South Sea, and even if it hasn't, it's almost there already."

Omi was remorseful, should have known, he returned home first on that day and came to Immortal's Academy later.

At this moment, on an ocean in the South Zhanbu Continent, Ding Lan was a lone former traveler.

She had arrived at the South Sea Divine Nun's place.

Ding Lan looked up, and on the ocean ahead of her, there was a lonely island with birdsong and flowers on it, giving it a pious charm.

"I'm here, this is the end of this life." Although Ding Lan was a little unhappy inside, but she thought that she had no one at all, and was disheartened, perhaps, this was the best ending for her.

Soon, Ding Lan flew onto the island.

"What for?" A woman on the island asked.

"This immortal, my name is Ding Lan, I wish to worship the divine nun as my master, and I would like to be introduced to you for me."

"Please follow me."

"Thank you, Immortal."

"No need to thank me, if it works out, you'll be my senior sister."

"Mmhmm."

"However, you are young and young, why did you choose to come here to be a nun, do you know that once you enter the nun's door deep as the sea, from then on the dust is a passerby, my master will never let you go back."

"I, I know."

"Let's go."

At this moment, Ding Cangding had only just arrived at the South Zhanbu Continent, and Omi was even more halfway there.

After about another day, Omi had arrived at the South Zhanbu Continent, and the battlefield where the last war with the Old Demon of Heaven had been fought was right below his feet. Although a few days had passed since the war, the smell of blood was still everywhere in the air at the moment.

Only, Omi was in no mood to reminisce and continued to fly south.

After flying for another half day, Omi finally saw a lonely island in front of him.

"There that's the residence of the South Sea Divine Nun." Dean's men said.

A moment later, Omi boarded the island.

"Stop." Came a loud

Shouting, a lower-ranked Immortal suddenly came out, this lower-ranked Immortal's face felt like a child, but his strength was unfathomable.

"Paying homage to senior."

"What kind of person, dares to trespass on Divine Mountain Island."

"May I ask, in the past few days, has there been a woman who came and said she wanted to worship the divine nun? I'm her husband, please tell me."

"Are you talking about Dinlan?"

"It's exactly her, I'm still hoping that senior will tell me where she is."

"Hmph, you're late, she's already my senior sister, and right now, Master is cleaning her dust."

"What."

"You can leave now."

"No, I won't go, can you tell your master to stop quickly, I want to take Ding Lan back, she is my wife."

"Hmm, impossible, if you choose to do it, it doesn't change, I'm going to advise you again to leave now, otherwise, when my master finds out, it might not be so nice."

"Fuck your master."

"Pah." Omi was suddenly slapped, and his body went down like a meteor falling into the ocean.

Omi felt blinded, he was no match for the immortals now.

Omi busily swam out from the depths of the ocean and climbed back onto the shore.

"This time is a warning to you, if you dare to act rashly again, I'll just shoot you to death." That nun said.

Omi wanted to say something else, but Ding Cang Dao panicked and ran out from inside.

"Omi, don't be impulsive." Ding Cangdong shouted and said to that nun, "Fairy Godmother, please forgive me, my son-in-law he is rude."

"You can go now, I will give you one last chance, otherwise, you really will never be able to leave, my master's temper, you definitely don't understand. My master can't tolerate half a bit of sand in his eyes."

Ding Cangding said, "But, Fairy Godmother, I haven't seen my daughter yet."

"Sister Ding has already shaved her head yesterday, today my master is washing away the dust for her, you will not see her, let's go."

Ding Cangding sighed and said, "Omi, let's go."

"I'm not leaving, on what grounds." Omi yelled.

But Cangdong Ding pulled Omi away.

Right now, at the peak of this divine mountain, in a large hall, Ding Lan was sitting in a large hall, and she was accompanied by a nun, the South Sea Divine Nun.

In front of this great hall, a picture appeared in the void, in which Omi shouted that he would not leave, but he was forcibly taken away by Ding Canglang.

That old nun said, "Ding Lan, do you regret it now?"

"Back to Master, perhaps this is my best destiny and I do not regret it."

"If you regret it, I will let you go back, but in exchange I will leave that man behind to be a sweeper boy for me, and one of you must stay."

"No, I don't regret it," Tinglan said aloud.

"Very well, I, the South Sea Divine Nun, am not so easy to talk to, now that I am here, forever."

"Yes, Master." Two lines of tears flowed from Ding Lan's eyes, and in her heart, she said, "Omi, I wish you a lifetime of happiness and eternal farewell."

Then, that old nun waved her hand, that image was gone, and at the same time, this lonely island on the sea disappeared.

Omi and Ding Cangding and the others were also suddenly unable to see the island.

Omi still wanted to rush up to the island and rescue Ding Lan, but the island was gone.

"Where's the island?"

Ding Cang Dao said, "Forget it, Omi, the South Sea divine Nun, her divine mountain island, the gods are out and out, if she doesn't want to be found, the Immortal Emperor can't find her, let alone us."

"Are we just going to let her become a monk?"

"What else is there to do, it's all my fault, if I hadn't forced you together in the first place, there wouldn't be any of this, Tyran is punishing me."

“No, it’s my fault, if I had accepted her earlier, she wouldn’t have made this choice. Ding Lan, you wait, I, Omi, will one day bring you home from here.” Omi clenched his fists and vowed to bite his teeth.

However, Ding Cang Qiong’s men snorted, unless Omi defeated the divine nun, it was a big joke, but defeating the divine nun, was that possible.