

King of kings

Chapter 2466

Omi saw a, smaller than a sesame seed, no, because it was too small, there was no light anymore, in the very edge corner of this star map.

This dot of light, smaller than a sesame seed, was marked with four words: "No Man's World".

Omi intuitively felt that this one that was marked as no man's world must be their world, the Sky World.

The reason why it was marked as an uninhabited world was probably because this map hadn't been updated for tens of billions of years, and tens of billions of years ago, when this Heavenly World was still in collapse, there hadn't been any humans.

Omi immediately enlarged this map, and kept enlarging it by thousands of times, and the entire virtual star map became huge, dozens of miles in radius.

The point of light, which was smaller than a sesame seed before, also became the size of a basketball.

Omi saw that inside this basketball-sized world of the sky was desolate, top, middle and bottom, divided into three layers in total. At the bottom, there were again many smaller and smaller star dots, among this star dot, one of them emitted a dazzling light as if it was the sun, and around this dazzling star dot, there were many more star dots revolving around it. These tiny dots on the first layer were so small that it hurt the eyes of Omi's eyes to see them. In short, one of these dots in this bottom layer was the mortal realm where Omi had once lived.

And the middle layer, from right to left, was divided into seven vertical compartments, somewhat similar to, the First Sea, Second Sea, Third Sea, and up to the Seventh Sea of the Spiritual Realm.

The topmost layer, however, occupied the largest position, taking up almost one-half of the entire 'basketball'. In other words, the middle line of this 'basketball' upwards, were all the third layer of space.

In this third level of space, the plane below, there were mountains and seas, and the area was vast, much like the Earth Immortal Realm. The top, on the other hand, was much smaller because of the curved shape, and floated a very small suspended mountain, much like the Immortal Realm.

Omi took a deep breath. Remember the URL . kanshu8 . net

Seeing this map, Omi suddenly felt that he was too small.

No, it was the entire Heavenly World that was too small.

Omi was now able to completely understand what the universe was.

Omi re-shrunk the map and returned to the previous map that was even smaller than Sesame.

Omi looked across the board and saw that the Sky World was really in a very marginal corner, barely noticed by anyone.

In the entire map, there were at least hundreds of thousands of points of light that were similar to the size of a soybean.

Of course, there were even bigger dots of light, similar to the size of a watermelon, similar to the size of a pumpkin.

In the scale of the Heavenly World that was smaller than a sesame seed, this world that was as big as a watermelon pumpkin really needed to be described as a giant.

However, there was a larger, or rather, the largest point of light, and in the proportion that the Sky World was a sesame seed, this largest point of light was at least as big as a round table.

“Oh my god.” Omi’s entire body was silly when he saw a round table as big as this, the largest world.

Indeed, Omi had the feeling of a frog running out of a well to see the world outside.

Once upon a time, when Omi was in the Mortal Realm, he thought that the stars in the sky were huge, the solar system, the galaxy, huge. Later, stepping through the void to the Spiritual Realm, he discovered that there were even bigger places. Then, when he came to the Immortal Realm, he saw it was so big and thought, this is the biggest place in the entire universe.

But now, when he saw the map of the entire universe, Omi felt ridiculous for his once childish thoughts.

That largest point of light, as big as a round table, it was centered in the center of the entire map, that is, the center of the universe. It was surrounded, circle by circle, layer by layer.

There were many other points of light scattered about, and the further you went to the outer layer, the smaller it became, and the Sky World was just on the edge of the outermost layer.

Omi stopped looking at the map and sighed deeply.

For a long time, Omi opened that thick book again.

This thick book was not one that detailed the universe. Rather, it was a book that introduced the Huo Lun Divine King.

The Huo Lun God King, was a super-powerful person in the universe whose realm had reached God King, and in the entire universe, his wealth, ranked in the top one hundred, and was the main world, a dignified super-person.

The Huo Lun God King, had as many as fifty colonial worlds under his hands, and among them, the largest colonial world was an eighth-grade world.

In his heart, Omi said, “How big is an eighth-grade world?”

Omi immediately opened the map to take a look.

The first thing Omi checked was that the Sky World was marked on the map, the smallest world, level 32.

Omi smiled bitterly, it seemed that they, the Heavenly World, were all too high to be colonized by the Huo Lun God King.

Omi continued to flip through the books again.

Unfortunately, this itself was simply the autobiography of the Huo Lun God King, saying how he was able to step by step in the universe and have his current position.

Of course, after reading this book, Omi had almost learned, some knowledge about gods.

The strength and weakness of gods were divided into six classes, lower grade gods, middle grade gods, upper grade gods, god kings, god emperors, and god emperors.

"Phew." Omi exhaled a breath.

Right now, he wasn't even an ass.

Of course, through the Huo Lun God King's self-creation, he learned that the entire universe, wasn't full of gods; in other worlds, even the main world, the vast majority of them, were at the immortal level, and gods, relative to all population bases, occupied a ratio of less than one in ten thousand.

However, even though the ratio of gods was small, it couldn't overwhelm a large base. Running all over the place was exaggerated, but in those huge worlds, it was true that they were everywhere.

Omi's heart was unsettled for a long time after reading it.

Omi opened the door only a day later.

Outside the door, there were already many people gathered.

Not to mention Omi's family, but Blue Emperor, Qin Zhong and others were all standing outside the door in a daze.

It was as if, Omi was the main body, but unfortunately, Omi, the main body, wasn't even a god.

Omi: "Everyone, come in."

Everyone was busy walking in.

Nian Shi was busy asking, "Omi, what's up? Did you just look at the map?"

"Oh, it's really not an exaggeration to describe us as frogs at the bottom of a well. We're too small, but let's not panic, at least in my opinion, that Huo Lun God King isn't many levels away from us."

"Omi, don't tease." Everyone seemed to be unable to tease, Omi's what words, the ones underneath the hand of others, the Huo Lun God King, are so strong.

Omi said, "Gods, there are six levels, lower gods, middle gods, upper gods, god kings, god emperors. That Huo Lun, who colonized us, is just a God King, only three or four levels away from us."

Everyone looked at Omi and didn't say anything, it looked like although it was only separated by not much, but in reality, if you wanted to become a God King, whether the difficulty was small or large, you could know with your feet.

Omi also knew it inside, but he was just trying to increase everyone's confidence by seeing how frustrated everyone was.
