

The Love She Didn't Say by Mona

Chapter 26 Were you worthy of my heart?

Soon Alston Rivers ran out of topics. Elena Forbes was pulled away by her partner, while he, found a corner, and filled him up with wine, one after another.

Elena was a little worried, but she laughs at herself when she saw Julia Green come to him.

After all, he never lacks confidante, and he never needs her. —

After their cooperation details had almost fully discussed, Elena was ready to go back, when a waiter handed her a small note, which says room 309.

She originally did not want to go at all, but afraid something bad will happen, so she decided to go.

After going up to the third floor, someone immediately welcomed her into 309, and there were quite a few people inside.

There is even one unexpected, Joey Smith. He was drugged, eyes bleary. And the culprit is staring at her with an evil leer.

Elena looked at James Channing without moving, “James Channing, you really lack creativity. What do you want, hurry up and say it, I’m busy.”

James pulled Joey Smith by his side, smiling weirdly, “Miss. Forbes, there is no need to hurry, I just want to cooperate with you, but you have always been a myth, I can only start from other places.”

Elena tilted her head and pointed to Joey Smith, “The so-called other places?”. James lit a cigarette, “Don’t worry, he is yours, we didn’t do something outrageous, just some ecstasy!”

Elena sighed. She is not someone who likes to be threatened, but Joey has a pretty face and she likes it!

Thus, the two reached a pleasant discussion on the next step of cooperation. Finally, Elena carried Joey down the stairs, in fact, she is quite strong, but there has been little opportunity to show it.

But this guy’s hands are hanging around her neck, yet refuses to stay still, so she just wanted to throw him away.

But truth be told, she is trying to figure out a way to trap Joey Smith by her side and keep her mind at ease, James Channing straightforwardly sent him to her, which makes her more or less embarrassed.

So, she is going to give something that will be popular in the latter days to James Channing!

Look how good she is, she wants to admire herself.

Elena smoothly carried him to the car, and unexpectedly felt a very unpleasant sight. She turned her head to look, it was Alston Rivers whose eyes were red and obviously drunk, while Julia Green was accompanying him, occasionally glaring at her. Elena looked at Joey Smith at her side and looked at Julia Green over her shoulder.

She didn't say anything, but waved to Alston Rivers, and then got into the car. The driver had just started the car when there was a knock on the window.

Elena speechlessly lowered the car window, "Alston Rivers, we broke up, you go your way, and I'll go mine. Stop harassing me, OK?"

Alston reached out and grabbed her wrist, "Elena, I know you are mad at me, you go back with me, OK? What's so great about him? He is not worthy of your favor!"

Elena Forbes asked back, "What about you? What's good about you? Were you worthy of my heart?"

Chapter 27 You will never have to see me

Watching Elena Forbes's car drive away, Alston Rivers' body swayed and almost fell straight down.

Julia Green was busy catching him and helped the man to the car with difficulty.

Elena Forbes was a little dizzy by the evening wind, she looked at Joey Smith at her side, and let out a soft sigh.

At this moment, she very much wants to talk with someone, but James Channing's ecstasy is too strong, without any signs to wake up, so she can only hold it.

After a month, she finally returned home, and with Joey. How magical. This time, she directly carried him and threw them to the master bedroom, and went to shower herself.

When she came out, Joey Smith was sitting on the sofa in a daze like a log, as if something had sucked his soul.

Elena looked at him, held back her smile, ran to the refrigerator to get him a bottle of mineral water, and mischievously push the cool bottle directly to his face.

Joey jolted hard, then took the water from her hands, silently pressed it on his forehead, and as time grew, his cheeks slowly turned from white to red, from red to scarlet.

Elena feels that this boy is really fun, and doesn't know what he is thinking about in his head, but actually can stimulate himself into this look.

Thinking about it, Elena Forbes raised her hand and grabbed Joey Smith's ear.

Joey tried to dodge away, but she grabbed him back by his ear, "Don't play dumb, I know you're awake, besides, what they gave you was ecstasy and not alcohol, not so much that you'd turn into a fool."

The first time I heard this, Joey Smith covered his face with tears, “I’m sorry, once again I was fooled by others.”

“How can you be so deceitful!” Elena Forbes sighed while ravaging his ears, and didn’t stop until his ears were as red as a lobster.

Joey is very depressed, “we are roommates, he said that the restaurant lacks hands, the salary is very handsome, one night is enough for my year of tuition, so I came over, I did not expect it is another scam!

“Tsk, so you almost even lost yourself in it,” Elena Forbes’s eyes flashed as she began to fool him, “Do you know what conditions I promised them in order to ransom you out?”

“What?” Joey Smith looked confused as he followed what she said down the road.

“Originally, I was my own boss, I was already busy. Now, I have to his consultant time from time, without salary, but also have to give them advice, Joey, you say, what should I do?”

Joey was trembling, “that ..... that how? I don’t know any of the consultants, or I will work for you.”

His distressed look exasperated Elena Forbes, “That depends whether they want you or not.”

Speaking of which, Joey Smith sat upright for a moment, “But, I don’t even know them, so why would they do this to me?”

Elena shrugged, “Maybe it’s because you’re docile!”

Joey Smith rolled his eyes, “No, they are all businessmen, I can tell, it must be because I am too close to you.”

At this point, he finally reacted, “Now I see it, I’m caught in the crossfire!”

Elena narrowed her eyes, “So what? If you feel that I have dragged you down, you can go out right now, and I promise you will never have to see me ever again so that you can live the rest of your life in peace and quiet.”

Chapter 28 There are conditions

But Joey Smith shook his head, “I will not leave, you all tricked me like this, I have to trick you all back!”

“Ambitious!” Elena Forbes patted his shoulder, “quite an idea, just do not know if you have the ability to reach it!”

Joey looked at Elena in a daze, “Elena, aren’t you a little too nice to me!”

“What?” Elena was confused for a moment, “This is nice to you?”

Joey nodded with certainty, “You have brought me out from there, in fact, if you don't want to, you can just leave me there and I would die."

Hearing this, Elena Forbes couldn't hold back, slapped his head, but not heavy, "What bullshit, although I am a little cold-blooded, I can't stand aside and watch a good young man be ruined by that trash!"

Joey "oh", eyes red, and didn't speak.

Elena thought maybe it was her tone was too harsh, for a moment and asked: "Which grade are you in? What major?"

Joey blankly looked at her for a moment: "soon I will be in my senior year, major, it's not a hot major, energy and environmental systems engineering."

Hearing this, Elena did not speak at first but was silent for a long time.

Joey Smith was a little nervous, "Is there something wrong with my major? Although not popular, I still think it is somewhat useful."

Elena looked at him lightly, "You are really an oddball, obviously you should choose economic management, how come you choose a major in energy?"

Joey frowned, "It is good, but I don't like it, so why should I go?"

Elena nodded and suddenly saw light, "Yes, if you don't like it, why have to come near him. Then he would be forced to take you in, but you aren't compatible with him."

Joey Smith didn't understand, "Miss, what did you just say, what do you mean?"

He understands every word, but how can he not understand them at all when putting them together?

Elena smiled, "Nothing if you are willing, come to work in my company, but it just starting, may not pay you too much."

Joey's mouth opened wide, "Ah? You're giving me a job?" Elena Forbes nodded, "Yeah, what, you don't want to?"

Thinking of this possibility, Elena's face sank, and decided to give him a good lecture. However, Joey did not give her this opportunity, but quickly nodded,

"Miss, thank you so much."

His happiness was not faked, making Forbes a little joy. At that moment, she thought of something and asked, "Are you very short of money?"

Joey scratched his head, "Actually, no, the scholarship can cover, but I won't panic if there is money in my hand, so I want to save more."

Hearing this, Elena couldn't help but stick out her thumb and compliment him, "You're indeed good!"

Joey Smith laughed in embarrassment, boldly went up and hugged her, and quickly let go.

He said softly, "Miss, ever since my parents died, no one has been able to treat me as well as you have."

Not only that, but she also helped him many times when he was in trouble, and such she really made him grateful.

"Uh," Elena couldn't help but be a little embarrassed, "You really think too much, I do all this with the understanding that there are conditions!"

Chapter 29 Warm on the surface

"I know," Joey Smith said, "So I'm going to your company, feel free to use me, my master." Elena Forbes very inelegantly rolled her eyes, "where do you learn those tawdry words, too much for my ears, from now on, no more!"

So, Joey Smith aggrieved answered, as if not letting him say slutty words is completely striking down his passion.

Elena was simply amused by such a boy and laughed, "do not play dead, it's too late, go find a clean room to sleep, I won't do that for you."

Throwing down this sentence smartly, Elena pushed the boy out, "Nighty night."

Joey stared at the door outside, pouting disturbingly: "Isn't she supposed to ask me whether I would be her gigolo? How come I have given the milk away, and she still not give some contracts to sign, but instead offering me a job?"

Elena's move puzzled Joey, he is a boy going through numerous hardships from the grassroots, many times he knows that there are risks, but as long as he can put up a fight, he is certainly willing to try something, this time the incident of ecstasy is no exception.

His roommate was too stupid and dared not to look at him when he spoke, how could he be fooled? So, he had to play along reluctantly, and it turned out to be used as a bargaining chip.

That said, at that moment he was really a little pleased, as if he, for the first time so valuable after he was born.

At that time, he guessed what's their intentions, and later did prove that the other party was truly for Elena Forbes.

When he was in dazed, he thought that with Elena Forbes's temper, she would throw him into the sea to feed the sharks.

How could he know that she actually agreed to the other side's request for his sake, and even brought him back once again?

What he expected although did not happen, was very sensitive and found, that Elena Forbes is a very warm-hearted woman! Although the surface is cold and very hard to approach.

But she is so much better than him, who is only warm on the surface. Thinking of this, Joey smiled and pushed open the door of the room next door, and was about to clean it when he found that everything inside was neat and tidy, apparently, she hired a nanny, anyway, much better than he has to clean himself.

He went into the bathroom, took a quick shower, and found pajamas in the closet, not in his size, but it all made him look forward to the future.

Joey inadvertently thought of Alston Rivers, the man who was obviously put on the tip of Elena Forbes's heart, and didn't know now he is in which woman's embrace.

But this is fine, Alston Rivers probably will never have the opportunity to know, Elena Forbes once here has a room for him.

Joey slightly hooked his lips, from now on, this room, will only be filled with Joey Smith's air, as for Alston Rivers, he will be committed to letting Miss.

Forbes has no chance to think of him.

Along with such thoughts, Joey Smith had a good night's sleep.

Next door, Elena Forbes, however, is not as leisurely as he is. Elena's spirit is actually not very good, especially after drinking wine.

She hopped down to make herself some milk, "Ugh, how did you end up like this?" In fact, on second thought, she is much better off now.

In her last life, she was really pitiful, every time she suffered from Alston's unreasonable satires, and there is no way to complain, so many grievances, only to swallow inside.

Chapter 30 Pancakes

Elena Forbes thought, in fact, her life now is quite fulfilling, have time to tease the young, or be busy at work, and simply does not need to do other things.

Such a life, beautiful, and free, can almost be said to be leisurely, if time allows, she certainly would go to a bar for a drink, to see this earth, how to separate the dirt from the clarity.

After drinking the milk, Elena went up to the balcony and sat on it all night long, simply becoming a statue.

During the night, Joey Smith was awakened by thirst and went to the kitchen when he saw such a scene.

He quietly came over, originally wanting to scare her, but found that she just sat there and fell asleep.

Without touching her, you can feel the chill on her body.

Joey sighed, helplessly stared at her, and whispered: "So careless, you would definitely catch a cold!"

He moved his body, leaned down, and picked her up Elena, maybe she felt his touch, Elena's hands very consciously hugged his neck.

At that moment, Joey Smith thought of a lazy and beautiful cat, in his arms, stretching, or curling up to snore, no matter what, all cute, just wanting to spoil her.

After he put Elena back on the bed in her bedroom, he quietly surveyed the places he hadn't looked at properly before.

The arrangement is simple and decent, and there are no extra decorations, not much different from the guest room.

It is evident that her weekday life is not so refined, and one could even say that it is not as refined as a boy's.

Thinking of this, Joey Smith smiled and covered her with a comforter, before leaving the room.

Suddenly it occurred to him that he hadn't had his water yet!

After a moment of hesitation, he pushed the door open again and secretly took out the bottle of water that had rolled down on the sofa.

This time the water is no longer cold, but he still feels cool.

Joey thought cheerfully, maybe because he gets a company of a beautiful woman?

Elena Forbes was awakened by a burst of fragrance, "What is this smell?" As she sat up, she smelled and drifted towards the kitchen. Joey is taking off his apron, and fresh pancakes on the counter. Pancake, for Elena Forbes, is simply the food of legends, she has seen but never eaten.

After all, she has a reputation to keep, otherwise, all the time she used to build her image will be wasted.

But now it's different. It's not like she's surrounded by people who need her to put on airs.

So, Elena Forbes swallowed her saliva and looked at the pancake, and then looked toward Joey with expectation in her eyes.

Joey yet blinked and deliberately said, "Oh, I thought you might not like such things, I only cooked my share, and tried to make you some eggs later."

Then the sparkle in her eyes dimmed, you can even touch her upset. Looking at her like this, Joey couldn't bite down his smile, "Sister, you ..... hah, are too cute!" Elena coldly snorted, turned her head, and went out, she didn't care!

Just sitting on the couch in the living room in exasperation, the pancake that made her mouth water appeared in front of her.

“What?” Elena asked pretending to be cold and fierce. In the eyes of Joey, she now is more like a pet cat.