

The Love She Didn't Say by Mona

Chapter 31 Why are you here

“Sorry, I lied,” Joey Smith smiled brightly, pushing the pancake closer to her again, “Try it.”

Elena Forbes did not withstand the temptation, struggling for a long time, and finally said, “delicious!”

Joey Smith is happily eating his share, unexpectedly heard Elena say: “How about that, you cook for me every day, I will pay you at the level of Michelin chefs!”

“Allow me to refuse,” his face sank for a moment, “what do you take me for?”

Elena did not expect his reaction would be so fierce, so she gave him a strange look, “Friends, what else can it be? Correct counting keeps good friendship, that’s my principle.”

Joey took a deep breath before saying, “If you really want, I’ll bring you food afterward when I work in your company, but I won’t be here to be your cook.”

“Whatever!” Elena Forbes has no opinion at all on this. This time she is here to enjoy life, why still restrict herself so rigidly.

At this time, Joey’s face was much better, “SO you will eat whatever I make?”

Elena looked at him, brows arched, “How is it possible? Generally speaking, there will certainly be a difference between those who like to eat and those who don’t, I will naturally pick the ones I like, why should I go for the ones I don’t like?”

Joey Smith blinked; these words seem a bit familiar!

At the moment when the two were bickering, Alston Rivers was waking up from his sleep. Feeling the person lying in the crook of his arm, his first reaction was to shout, “Elena.”

After that, he came to sense, no, this time, Elena Forbes didn’t marry him, and how could she sleep in his arms!

As rigid as she is, it is absolutely impossible for her to sleep with anyone until they are married.

Thinking of this, Alston pushed the person off him at once and sat up with a frown, “Julia Green, why are you here?”

Julia Green, who was pushed away, opened her eyes all of a sudden and said confusedly,

“What’s wrong?”

Just after she finished, she reacted with a panicked look, “Mr. Rivers.” Saying so, she pulled the quilt to cover her body.

Alston’s face was black to the core at this time, “Did you set me up?” Julia Green shook her head repeatedly, “How can it be, Mr. Rivers, no, it was you

..... it's you are hugging me tightly and won't let me go.”

Alston Rivers' gloomy face made Julia completely unable to see how much he believed in the end.

At the same time, she was actually a bit glad that after all, it was indeed Alston Rivers who took the initiative to hug her last night.

She turned on the recording at the time to prove it, just in case, after all, the man she faced was no ordinary man, and she had to figure out how to avoid the risk if she wanted to do so.

Alston showered with cold water, he also thought about what happened last night.

Drank some wine and looked at the young boy standing with Elena Forbes when he had very mixed feelings, then watched her take the boy away.

As anger surged to his heart, he came up with a childish method of revenge, and at this time, Julia Green crashed into him.

It's not that he doesn't understand what this woman wants, but it doesn't matter, as long as he can get back at Elena Forbes.

But now he was still complicated inside when he thought about this, after all, before this, he still likes Elizabeth Taylor, and even want to be celibate for her.

Chapter 32 Who would cherish her

In fact, while they were still in bed, the gossip about them was already swirling. And Elena Forbes found it only after she finished breakfast and looked through her phone.

She lightly coughed out, “Oh my God, this wild? Elizabeth Taylor's friend, she actually did not even have the chance to show up her face in front of him this time?”

Elena doesn't think that Julia Green will be some innocent girl, just look at the way of the two kiss while going upstairs, you can see how eager is Alston Rivers, simply.

So, thinking in this way, a wave of sadness engulfed her, because she thought of herself.

At this time in her previous life, she had already married Alston Rivers, and also consummated the marriage.

But the man's disgust for her was so penetrating that it reached his bones.

Each time, she only felt his hatred, never pleasure.

She was really blind at that time, couldn't see, couldn't understand, while holding him up to the sky, and had reduced herself to the dust.

A grain of dust, hoping to get his love, but who will cherish a speck of dust?

That can only ever be in a dream.

Joey Smith, who was also checking his emails, inadvertently looked up and saw the crystal tears at the corners of Elena Forbes's eyes.

He was dazed and raised his hand to reach the teardrop.

When the teardrop with coolness on his fingertips, Joey Smith suddenly felt a burst of heartache.

Elena Forbes was surprised by his finger and looked at Joey with wide eyes, "What are you doing?"

Joey Smith sighed and took a tissue to wipe away her tears. Then shrugged at her, "Miss, why are you acting like a kid in front of me!" Elena froze, she did not know, when her image crushed in front of him.

She tilted her head, "You can choose not to see me."

Joey did not speak but just squatted on the ground, propping up his chin and looking at her seriously.

The fiery gaze made Elena Forbes a bit at a loss, almost annoyed. She was thankful that a phone ringing came to break her embarrassment.

Elena Forbes answered the phone in a hurry and didn't even look at who was calling.

"Hello?" Forbes Elena asked as she walked towards the bedroom.

What came from the other end of the phone was a voice she could never forget.

Elizabeth Taylor's soft voice came over, "Elena Forbes, don't you love Alston Rivers deeply, why is that bitch Julia Green slept with him!"

"Bitch?" Elena Forbes repeated subconsciously, she was just a little surprised by the sudden foul-mouthed Elizabeth Taylor.

"Elizabeth Taylor, you shouldn't ask me about this, he never loves me, you know that. He did not sleep with me, isn't that very normal."

Elena Forbes's voice was so even that Elizabeth Taylor was a bit flustered.

She said with great confusion, "Elena Forbes, did you lose your mind, at this time, shouldn't you take advantage of the situation and strike as soon as possible? What's the point of pretending?"

Elena pursed her mouth, she always thinks Elizabeth Taylor, this woman, is feather-headed and insatiably avaricious.

When she knew that her old lover had hooked up with her best friend, her bestie immediately became the bitch in her mouth, and her old lover must be the prize of the competition.

This can show her Elizabeth Taylor, how great she is, being abroad, but somehow still can manipulate this man's heart. Who would not brag about it!

Unfortunately, she really doesn't have a good eye for people, so she ran away with fraud and scoundrel, so she doesn't know what to say.
