

The Love She Didn't Say by Mona

Chapter 5 Congratulations

Alston Rivers got this answer and suddenly laughed.

It's the exasperated laugh.

This woman is brazening to this extent.

Cheated and got pregnant with someone else. And so righteous. "Elena Forbes, I thought you were just greedy and vain, I didn't think.....you were still so cheap!"

But then suddenly Alston Rivers realized something.

"That's your real purpose for divorce, right? What you say that you want to bring me and Lizzy together, but in fact, it's your belly that can no longer be covered, and you're afraid that when the time comes you'll be disgraced!"

Elena sat up from the bed.

Her stunning face was covered with frost, without the slightest hint of blood.

She didn't try to argue.

Because whatever she said he won't believe it.

Instead, she took a document out of her bag.

Handed it to Alston.

He wrinkled his brow and asked, "What is this again?"

"Divorce papers."

She choked and spat out the words clearly.

Alston Rivers clenched his fist. "I'm surprised you're so impatient." Elena did not deny, that although her heart has been dripping blood painfully, her face is still even.

This look makes Alston Rivers even more furious.

"Before you and I got married, our respective properties were notarized, yours is still yours, and as for what my parents gave us as a wedding gift, I didn't want it either, all yours."

After saying this, she breathed a sigh of relief and all the gloom on her face turned into a smile.

"Congratulations, you are finally free."

"Obviously I am the one should say congratulation to you, right? Miss. Forbes is back to single and happy with her new lover." He bared his teeth, one word at a time, viciously.

Her eyelids lowered, not daring to look at him.

"All the best wishes to you and Elizabeth Taylor." She is giving her blessing.

The heartbroken sourness in the words, but Alston Rivers did not taste it at all.

The man, however, bit her lips in a fury. "That man, did he do the same to you?"

Elena was startled.

Tears fell.

"Alston.....she called out softly,the aggravation in her heart couldn't help but flow out.

She loves him.

Love him to death. How can there be another man?

Alston's kiss gave her courage. Elena Forbes stretched out her hand and hugged him,attempting to get closer to him. She asked with expectation,"Alston,you don't want to divorce, either,right?"

Alston Rivers froze.

She continued to pursue the question with expectation,"If so,then we won't get divorced,OK?".

It splits her heart to leave him. Even if she dies,she still wants to be Alston Rivers'wife.

So,her tombstone can be engraved with:Mrs.Rivers lies here.

She hugged him even tighter and kissed him,"Alston, I love you." The man is overwhelmed and doesn't know how to react.

As the kiss deepens.

He pushed her away with all his strength. "Elena Forbes,you really make me sick."After being with another man,how dare she still has the face to claim she loves him.

Elena Forbes looked at him with fascination,tears sparkling in her beautiful eyes. He also wanted to say she is shameless.

But she looked so pitiful that he couldn't open his mouth again.

Not to mention they are divorced. She,Elena Forbes has nothing to do with him,anymore!

He gritted his teeth, "Don't show up in front of me ever again, Lizzy doesn't like it."

Saying that Elena understood.

That kiss was only a stress reaction when a man thought he was"cuckolded". He never loves her. All these years,he only loves Elizabeth Taylor. Elena's eyes,once again,dimmed.

When she got up again,she no longer had the slightest intention to stay and left the ward directly

Alston Rivers looked at the woman's lonely back,his face stiffened and froze. The hand that holds the divorce papers is trembling. This kind of woman, better stays away from her. She is not worthy.

But why,he is so disturbing,as a part of his left with her?