“I promise wifey” answered her assuredly while c.a.r.e.s.sing her face.

Chapter 205 - Tae's search on pregnancy

After that chat, Rei already asleep and sleeping on the l.a.p of her husband while Tae searching about pregnant woman's personality and about pregnancy on his phone because of the sudden change of his wife behavior and this is what he found out.

Strong moods and emotions are very common in pregnancy, but when do they become more than just normal pregnancy changes? We look at what you should look for and when to seek medical advice.

During pregnancy, and in the postnatal period, there are significant changes in a woman's hormone levels. This can have an effect on how they may feel or behave. Women are often more emotionally up and down during pregnancy and less able to cope with normal stresses than usual. In some respects, this is hardly surprising – there's a huge amount of change going on in a very short period.

When pregnant, you may find they become upset and anxious more easily. This is probably due to both the hormonal and emotional changes that they are experiencing. Being pregnant can affect their lifestyle (for example, they may have stopped drinking alcohol if they're an alcoholic drinker) and the activities or hobbies they do. This in turn can affect their emotions and behaviours. They may also find they feel anxious about all the circ.u.mstances that comes with childbirth and coping with a newborn baby.

Pregnancy is often divided into three sections, or trimesters.

First trimester

The first trimester (up to 12 weeks) can be very overwhelming for some. Women will have just found out that they are pregnant and may be feeling tired, sick, and constipated and have tender b.r.e.a.s.ts. They may well be feeling anxious, excited, exhausted, and delighted all at the same time!

For some women, the first trimester may be accompanied by severe anxiety, especially if they have had problems conceiving or problems in earlier pregnancies. Remember above all, it is natural to feel worried or anxious – the idea of a new baby may require a lot of adjusting to. If, however, their mood changes become severe or unrelenting, please see a doctor for advice.

Second trimester

When you reach the second trimester (from 13 weeks), you may feel more energetic again and feel a little more able to prepare for your baby. You still may have mood swings or feel tearful at times, but often you may feel more positive than in the first trimester and feel more able to undertake gentle physical activity.

Third trimester

The third trimester (from 28 weeks) can be pretty uncomfortable and tiring. As your baby grows, you may struggle to get a good night's sleep due to discomfort or needing the toilet. It's also common to have increasing fears about childbirth, what will happen and whether you will cope up with giving birth. Childbirth classes can be useful in this scenario as they help prepare them and help them to meet others in a similar situation.

The third trimester is often a time when 'nesting' occurs. Women may start tidying and planning, sometimes to excessive proportions. Again, the exact cause of this is not known, but it is likely to be hormonal. Be reassured if it is relatively short-lived and not too dramatic – it is part of a normal pregnancy-related behaviour.

Reactions to body changes

Some women feel uncomfortable with the changes to their body and appearance that occur in pregnancy. This can be very common. For some, however, resentment or anger can form a significant emotion in their pregnancy. Often this is due to the physical symptoms and changes that may be taking place – for example, extreme nausea.

When pregnancy is not plain sailing

Pregnancy is thought by so many people to be a time of happiness and excitement but the reality for most women is that pregnancy is a mixture of ups, downs and other extreme emotions.

Some women appear to breeze through pregnancy with no problems at all. They love being pregnant and don't appear to have problems adjusting at all. For others, it is a more turbulent journey. Pregnancy and childbirth are a time of significant change, and it is completely normal to feel anxious or worried or more vulnerable than normal.

When a woman's mood in pregnancy becomes down or low for a prolonged period of time, it may be an indication that there may be more than just normal pregnancy worries.

The risk of this is increased in women who have experienced troublesome symptoms during pregnancy – for example, extreme back pain. Also women who have a past history of depression or bipolar disorder are at increased risk of depression and other mental health problems during pregnancy.

If feeling down or anxious is affecting your everyday life, please mention it to your doctor. You don't have to have a particular mental health problem to be offered help dealing with worrying thoughts or feelings. However, if you have developed depression, it is important to get the help you need.

Feeling on cloud nine

Occasionally during pregnancy or shortly after childbirth, a woman's mood can become elated or confused (psychotic) rather than low or depressed. This is rare, but if it occurs, it can develop rapidly into postpartum psychosis. Symptoms may include confusion, unpredictable behaviour and hallucinations. If someone you know develops these signs, please seek medical help immediately.

Domestic abuse is something rarely talked about or linked with pregnancy. However, the strong ranges of emotions experienced in pregnancy mean that domestic abuse is more likely to happen than at other times. If your relationship is problematic or violent please ask for help.

“I can’t help it Auntie Rei but if I’m being myself then she might found it weird or maybe she think that I’m a kid with an a.d.u.l.t inside me”

“Ha, ha so you also think that one?”

“Nah it’s alright Auntie, my chauffeur is just outside the door and of course I don’t want you to get tired because you’re pregnant and Uncle Tae just arrived from work so Uncle must be tired”

Both Tae and Rei are speechless again because of his actions then what he said is true and Rei is already 4 months pregnant and her stomach already obvious that she's pregnant but still no body knows that she's pregnant since she entered in and out in the VIP Area.

After making sure that Jinyu is out of sight, Tae commented him to his wife.

"He's too m.a.t.u.r.ed compared to his age. Are we sure that Jinyu is a 8 years old boy?"

"See I told you and his really quite m.a.t.u.r.e compare to his age but then I guess it's his true nature"

Then Tae approach his wife "what did you feel today?"

"I'm fine Tae and they behave well. I think only that day that they've punished you"

"Ha, ha that's right but if you feel something wrong just informed me right away"

"Even you're on performing?"

"Uh-uh but well" paused then c.a.r.e.s.s her belly "our babies understand how busy their Papa is"

"You're already fluent in Ceno Dear and I'm proud of you" (then kiss her husband on the lips and continue) "I guess all of them were surprised if they see you and then heard you speaking it"

"Uh-uh but H-Hon, I'm quiet nervous to meet them" already used of it that Rei take the initiative first to kiss him or being intimate after a week that they're doing the deeds.

"Where's my dear who performs with full of confidence, mmm?"

"It's different Hon because it's your family and my in laws"

“Don’t worry they’re all kind and nice”

“Uh-uh but it’s my first time meeting them and you’re already pregnant with our child”

“Silly, you knock me out legally because we’re husband and wife”

At that time he was to enraged knowing his sister getting married who just date for a year and not knowing his true personalities and intentions. Yet, on this situation of him is more worse compared to his brother in law because they got married without formally asking Rei’s hand to them and most of all Rei’s pregnant with their first child without their knowledge. He trust his wife and know that there kind and nice but the first impression will last. He knows that formally asking her hand to them is the best gentlemen to do and most of all it’s one of there culture to ask the hand from the family before getting married and yet here he is, getting shortcut and married his loving wife Rei without formalities. He even propose to her in inappropriate way and they’re almost doing the deed While on the way he heard his wife again and confiding him maybe she knows that his been thinking and regretting that he didn’t propose to her romantically.

“Just be yourself Dear and trust me whomever I love and chose they will respect for my decision. I know you’re regretting that you didn’t propose to me romantically but if you blame someone then blame me because I’m the one who force you to do that and of course we did the deeds with my full consent and permission. So don’t worry about it anymore and trust me, mmm and also I’m being knocked out as a you’re legally wife” Rei said to her husband while driving

“Thank you Hon and I always trust you” said while tapping her head.

Tae is really glad that he have a wife who really understand him fully without telling to her and Rei can sense it. His really lucky indeed because the one he got married with is the one he really love and Rei is the love of his life. And now his love of his life is pregnant for their first baby.

“We’re almost there Dear but we got stuck up from the traffic”

“Yeah, yeah My En but Sis is you know, (didn’t mention R since the kids are with them and they will only tell them when they reach 18 to avoid them being worried or concern her and including them because they’re still young and want them to be a kid and act as their age) so all of our movements are monitored by her, so it’s impossible for her to not be aware and of course Sis already know that we’re in invited”

“Mei, you forgot that Rei is an Artist Manager so she might be busy”

Rei : (she looks to the kids first and then continue after confirming that they already covered their ears) don't worry Ma, I didn't got knock down by Tae in force and got married because I'm pregnant. We did the deeds after we registered our Marriage and both of us did it with both of our consent and permission and of course we did it with love.

Aya ; Then that's good, so how are....(didn't finish because the other two wife suddenly laugh) and why are you laughing Mei and Lyn?

Mei : Geez Ma you're too serious and we laugh because this is the first time that Sis telling it to us without feeling embarrassed or awkward but well if I'm on Sis shoes then maybe I might give it up right away and then get married later. Imagine Rei already in love with Mr. Jun when she's around 16 and now he become her husband.

Aya : Yeah, yeah and that's also the reason why you got pregnant with En then followed with your wedding but at least Rei did it after getting married.

Mei : Are you sure Ma? Both I and Lyn almost did it even we're still dating our husbands then both of us did the deeds when we're an engage couple. (all of them speechless because of her big mouth)

Aya : You're unbelievable Mei

Mei : Well it's me, so you can't help it Ma but I guess Sis also did what I and Lyn did because Sis is my sister because same feathers flock together.

Aya : Rei just said that she did the deeds after registering their marriage.

Mei : Ohh, but let's ask Sis, so Sis?

Rei : (hesitating if she tell it or not)

Mei : Just tell the truth Sis and you already married so no worries. All of us are (looking if the kids are still covering their ears before continuing) m.a.t.u.r.e here and the kids didn't heard us. (yes they didn't heard anything because they talk in a low voice and the kids are still covering their ears but if they talk with a loud voice then covering their ears would be a useless for them so they talk in a low voice)

Rei : Well.... (the family are anticipating to hear it) we almost did it but Tae didn't do it because he will wait for the time that I will have his last name first before doing the deeds.

Aya : I see, good, good Mr. Jun and it's really love and not an infatuation.

Both : (En and El) eh, what do you mean by that Ma?

Aya : I didn't mean that you don't love your wife.

Lyn : It means that both of you El and Bro En have a low self control compared to Mr. Jun

Mei : I see, I see and that's only mean that Sis have a very low charm. Ha, ha, ha

All : ‘How she did come to that conclusion?’”

Aya : Alright, alright enough with that topic and the kids are here.

All : Okay (then all of them except Tae signing the kids that’s it’s alright now)

Aya : So now Rei, can you formally introduce Mr. Jun to us?

Rei : Yes Ma

Tae : Nice to meet you Ma, El, Lyn, Mei and Bro En. I'm Jun Tae Woo, Rei's former boyfriend and now her husband. I'm 29 years old and 3 years gap between Rei but age doesn't matter as long as you love your partner. Sorry if I didn't ask Rei hands from all of you and marry her without your knowledge but I promise that I will love Rei truthfully and stay with her forever until the day I will lose my breath. Thank you for raising Rei with so much love and full of kindness. Sorry if I didn't held a wedding to her but at the right time I will give her a proper wedding after I disclose it with the media but for now we will still stay marriage in secret. My family already meet Rei and they welcomed Rei wholeheartedly and hope you will also welcome me to your family wholeheartedly. I'm planning to tell it the day when we have a ceremony but then I think you deserve to know it secondly since Rei already know how I love her. I fall in love at first sight with Rei during the day she step out at the airport parking area, at that time my team also just arrive from our overseas concert but then my eyes caught the attention of Rei and that the day I fall in love with her. My heart already knows that I fall in love with her that day but my mind keep denying it. Again I meet her for the second time on the second day and Rei that time is too cute that I can't help but looking to her. As if knowing that I'm looking to her, our team car been stuck by a traffic and I can observe her. I can sense that Rei is not a Senian because seeing a current news she frown since she doesn't understand anything yet. Later by later I've become busy and same with Rei but then as if we fated together, I always heard Rei achievements and her progress and that's also the day that my mind acknowledge that I'm truly in love with her so after realizing it I've become a stalker of her in a good way since I'm always watching her afar and keep up to date about her. During the live interview I watch with all my wants because in the company rules it's compulsory to watch whether you like it or not but not with me because I watch it without a force and then at the studio, I steal a kiss on the TV without letting my team know that I love her. After that Rei have received a tickets of us from Mr. Hwang our CEO, so I already noticed Rei the moment she got in the premises and then out of her and my team knowledge I always seeing her off from a far and making sure that she got inside in the car safe and sound. During our fan meeting, I was late because of my sudden solo schedule but that as what fate telling us, my Manager almost hit her but thankfully she didn't got hit since My Manager is a professional one and fast enough to step the break. In S Country we have a rule that if you hit someone, you must making sure that they're alright by sending them to hospital or got their home safe. At that time I didn't know it's Rei but then when I realized it's her, I'm too shocked and surprised because it's her but keeping my self calm and in control. We seat side by side and then drop her off to her home. Two Months later I didn't heard anything from her house since we just living at the same floor and just opposite to each other house, I got worried that time and always distracted of her whereabouts and then Rei suddenly appear in front of me so I ask her to become a friend and gladly she accept my offer. We become friends and I will visit her everynight and we always chat and we become close until I lost out of control and kiss her before confessing my feelings to her. Rei didn't answered my confession but she didn't reject me until she decide that we try in trial relationship before we become official. Rei return back to her hometown and I miss her too much and I already know that I can't leave without her on my life. Rei is like my breather and I can't breathe without her. I'm really deeply falling in love with her that why I'm already aware that Rei is my other half and will be my wife and now Rei is officially my wife for 4 months and pregnant to our first child.

All : (speechless because they really feel how Tae love Rei and now they know why Rei become more convince that Tae is really right for him because she can sense it, even them can sense it how deep his love to Rei)

Ellyn : (who rarely react but react for the first time) woah, Uncle you're really in love with Auntie Rei and I hope that someday I will also have someone who like you who truly love me for who I am.

All : (speechless)

Mei : Ehem, ehem you're still young but well someday you will find that man

Eiwr : Yul Aproau Mua

Aya : Thank you for telling us you're real feelings to Rei and welcome to our Family Mr. Jun

All : Welcome Mr. Jun

Rei : Geez guys I'm also Mrs Jun so why not him Tae or Woo, whatever you like (that cause of them to laugh because of her)
