

Last Man 24

Chapter 24 - Exploration of Rei Family's Home

Both El and Mei families just put their things right away the moment they step inside to their room, they even get out at the same time and step down in the stairs, then they saw their Mother waiting for them.

“Oh, you’re fast”

“Well Ma, I’m excited to explore our house because Sis is a good planner and designer.” “You’re right Mei, Rei is the one planning and designing the house but since she’s not a pro, she just explained the details of what she wants and plan to our house.”

“Ha, ha, so Sis really did it”

“Mom please be quiet and Grandma, let’s start now or else Aunt Rei will be here without us knowing and realizing that she got home already”

“That’s right, that’s right, hanks my little boy Ken.”

“So let’s start and explore the outside of our house”

All of them get out and then Aya start explaining and detailing the house from what she heard from Rei when she explains it to their Architect.

“So, first that’s our gate, Rei chose the dark blue one for the gate since it’s not too bright or even dark and it’s cool color to our eyes, the size was like that because perhaps maybe you will purchase a car or van in the future and park it to our garage near the gate. It’s automatically lock so whenever someone going in and out we will need to carry the key or most of the time bringing the keys with you all the time. I, Rei, you El and Mei have each keys so you can go around while bringing your key without disturbing one of us. This is our lobby for our resting and relaxing time, you can also have tea or coffee time in that table. This is our pool, it’s just a 4.5 feet because Mei you’re dream house is to have a pool and then this is our garden, Rei decide to have a garden since I’m old and in order not getting bored so she add a garden and knowing that I like flowers and plants, that's our fish pond in the corner because of all us like to pet the fish, especially you El. All of this are outside part of the house, ah, wait if you notice it, our house is only one storey but when we get inside it's three storey, right?"

"That's right Grandma/Mama Grand" the kids react first.

"Well your Aunt Rei plan it on purpose, well for the reason was to attract less attention, even the pool is in hidden area."

"Right Ma, at first I'm really surprise that we have pool and I didn't even notice it when we walk around but then when we closing our distance to here, we really have a pool."

Everyone nodded "geez Sis, is really cunning"

"Ha, ha I'm also surprised when I heard that from Rei but for now let's go inside."

Everyone followed Aya and all of them get inside then Aya continue where she left off.

"So this is our living room, we have both sala set and couch, that's our 65" Smart TV, speakers and amplifiers. This is our dining room with dining sets and 18 seaters. This is our kitchen room. Our family restroom is in between to our study room and my room. Rei, decide that my room is on this ground floor to avoid me getting injured or any accidents. If I need something, I just need to press the intercom since it's connected to each of your room, El, Rei and you Mei. So, as I said awhile ago this is my room, our family restroom and that's our study room and beside of it it's our guest room. Now let's go upstairs"

Aya can still walk alone even she's 65+ and didn't even have a cane to support her walk and balance but she carefully and slowly walk because Rei will be upset if she's careless enough that cause for her to be injured and something might happens when she's not around. Sooner, they arrive in the second floor and then aya begin to explain again.

"So this is your room El, let's get inside alright?" El nodded "good, so for now I will explain this room only since Rei and Mei room having the same design also and the difference only is the room paint color. So El and Mei, this is you're room look like, this is master bed for husband and wife, 2 rooms for the kids separated by gender, so Rei already provided a room if you will have a daughter Mei and a son for you El. (The two married couples blush then Mei realized something)

“Eh, then don’t tell me Rei also have a room like this?”

“Of course, she get ready and prepare for her future husband and kids. Well we don’t know when and for now, this is El, Rei and you Mei rooms look like, my room and the guest room don’t have any additional rooms but then all rooms have the same furnitures, the rooms also have own rest room each, no appliances provided in order for us to rest well and a balcony in each room which all of the rooms have a glass wall that only the insiders can see what the outside look, the air-conditioning of each room is a split type and one centralized air-conditioning for the dining room, living room and the kitchen area.

For the third floor is a big space for multipurpose such as any events or if you want to physically fit, then you can exercise whatever you want to, well we don’t have any equipment for whatever exercises you want but we have one treadmill, so you can use it whenever you want.”

Everyone have a shock and surprise expressions and then the first one to react is Mei.

“Ma, ma I think Sis forgot something that really important to you and us”

“If your talking about our prayer room or for our meditation room, well it’s inside in our study and meeting room, so let’s get down and see from your own eyes”

Then everyone stepping down the stairs one by one and entered inside the said room. After getting in, everyone jaw dropped because the study room consists of a large bookstands with a height of 6” since mostly of them are 5’5” only Mei’s husband the tallest which is 6’7”, the large bookstands are full of books, then a three small bookstands align and each of them have a books which they knows it’s El, Rei and Mei’s handbooks and school books from when they we’re still a student during that time. Then they also notice the table and 18 seats. At the left corner are 5 desktop computers with tables and chairs and they notice one unit of machine that they know it has a scanner, photocopier and printer at the same time. At the right corner, they notice the prayer room and they get inside together. Then all of a sudden they became silent because they can feel that the room is really solemn and peace, after a few minutes they get out and then all of them asking together in sync except for Aya.

“Why it become so cold in all of a sudden?”

“Ah, that’s right I forgot, we also have another one centralized air-conditioning in this room and it will automatically turning on the moment the door will open and someone’s entering the room then turning off the moment the door will close without no one’s around in the room. The temperature will automatically change based on the number of persons entering the room.”

All said in unison “then many of us entering in this room will become more cold?”

Aya nodded and said “that’s what Rei told me, it’s my first time to witness it and to feel it since only I and Rei will entering in this room. But you will be used of it since both of you are from J Country and T Country that both of the country have a winter season. For now let’s seat and continue to our discussions”.

“Okay Ma/Grandma/Mama Grand.”
