“Uh-uh”

“I know it’s kind of fast pace for me but this is what I really feel and I can’t control anymore. I saw you first the moment you step first here in S Country. You were talking with Secretary Han that time and both of you we’re still standing in the parking area. At that time, I and the team we’re also there with similar reason to yours, you just arrive but for us we need to leave for our concert tour even though we just arrived and we need to leave on the next day. I thought that I will only saw you that time so I took a picture of you. On the day the team and I were going to leave, I happened to see you watching the current news that time. I know you still don’t understand our language that time, so I saw you’re every expressions that time and then again I took a picture of you. Then again, I’m away for a month for the team concert then when I came back I didn’t heard anything about you but then when you already finish your internship I heard all about your updates since we’re from entertainment department and allowed to gossip or do whatever we want as long as the paparazzi will not caught us. During that time I don’t know if I meet you again but I feel that we will meet on the right time. When I know that it’s you become the guest for the Live Show Interview, I’m really glad and I already know you will be the one who will get that title. Even if it’s not compulsory to watch, I will watch you. Believe it or not, when I’m alone and the team we’re in the rehearsal room, I kiss the monitor as if kissing you. During I watch you, it’s like your the artist and I’m not. I think we’re in different world that I think I can’t catch you up or unreachable but I didn’t give up or lose hope. I also noticed your watching our concert and you’re seating in the VIP seats, I don’t know if you realize that I watch you but the moment you arrive in the Event Hall, I already notice your presence, so that’s why I always look at you everytime it’s my turn and when you leave in the area, I also watch you and back to the team after I know that you already in your car. Until that day that we meet by accident, I didn’t notice it was you since I’m sleeping that time and suddenly awake when the manager suddenly stop the car and then I know it’s you the moment you speak. My heart that time almost explode that I suddenly called you together with the manager but at least I didn’t call you using your name only so my feelings that time didn’t get exposed. When I know that you just living next door of our team unit, I’m really glad. That’s why the moment the Manager left us, I initiate to talk to you even I’m really shy and nervous that time. I didn’t allowed you to drop me off to my family house because we still don’t know each other and I don’t want you to get tired and most of all you almost got hit by us. After that accident we didn’t meet again since of our time conflict but after we came back from our local concert tour, I visit your unit every night that I notice you didn’t even arrived every night, so I get worried and that’s why I always visit your unit then a month after you get back safe and sound, I’m very glad since I taught that something happened to you. So I forgot my shyness that time and ask you to become your friend, I’m really got nervous because you may not like to become my friend because I’m an artist, I know you’re not like that but still I’m scared. The moment you accept my friendship without hesitation, I was really happy and almost hugged you but I control myself. If I tell you the truth, I’m a certified stalker of you Rei but I really like you and I really love you. So Rei, can you be my girlfriend?”

“That.....”

“I know you’re not easy to get but I want an answer right now. I won’t mind if you reject me right now because I already kiss you and I won’t give up on courting you until you answered me.”

“....”

“Please Rei, can you answer me if you can be my girlfriend?”
