

A Mate for the Latecomer By Veronica Vito

Chapter 16 Not Worth It

Claire again gave me a warning look, she slams her hands on the table then pointed a finger at me.

“Oh, dear don’t roll your eyes at me cause when I do-”

“oh f you, when you do I’ll make sure it will stay that way forever”

Everyone from the Daluna and Moonbridge growls at me including my mate. This made her give me a smirk which I want to wipe off of her face if only she’s a statue.

Serena looks at us “back to the topic here.... so you” she pointed at me “slept with my mate and his brother and look at where it got you,” She said with a grin. ” Now what? you’re moving towards him” she pointed to Eric than to Josh.

Nobody knows my mate yet except Claire and Aberdeen. I just nod my head in return.

“I guess that’s all you’re ever good at, spreading your legs and never using that brain of yours” Serena taunts me and I laugh at that.

“I wonder what your parents would think I mean poor them a s is their daughter” I didn’t want to change the way I act even though I felt like ripping her apart.

“Oh Sere! my nose just bled from the aault. Aww, my former best friend is so high and mighty just because she is mated to an Alpha. Dear, what a disappointment!” she was to jump and break my nose but her mate held her back.

ADVERTISEMENT

My laugh died down

“Oh, moon goddess isn’t that what you and she were good at years ago before you met your mates” the room is now filled with growls just because I insult their lunas but hey they just cross it.

“Tsk Tsk you know you should have believed him” I pointed to her mate Alden and brother Dexter “and him when they say they never slept with me that also goes for the rest of you in here.”

The smile went “my parents were at least proud of me cause they knew I’ve never slept with your fing mate. Oh Sere, you see the truth is I never did.”

Their jaw drops and I smile in victory “but I felt the pain when you” Eric started but he stopped once he realized his mistake. Everyone in the room now looks between the two of us.

“Right! when I first felt my ex-mate mated someone” since the truth is out might as well just play my cards.

“The thought of kissing someone, make out, Mark and fully mated just to get back at my mate never left my thought but then to think again you’re not worth it.”

I saw a painful look on his face, clearly hurt is there. I wonder why now but I just don’t give a f about him anymore like he ever did in the beginning.

The room again was silent everyone gasped in surprise at the new information. Don’t know if the fact that I played their mind or that I’m Eric’s mate, the ex-mate. Lucian was unmoved next to Eric yet Alpha Reed’s expression was unreadable.

ADVERTISEMENT

“Why would I just destroy myself for someone who’s not worth it. So I ask the witch Jea to do the work for me and I gave her something in return.”

“If you didn’t sleep with them then what you were after,” Serena asked.

“Info Serena... Info and my ex-best friend didn’t even let me explain anything. Despite all that I don’t care cause I always make sure to succeed in everything which I eventually did” I grin at them.

“Except for your mate,”

Claire smirk at me but hell no I’m not going to let her win this one.

“Claire when I say to succeed in everything I mean it. Didn’t you get the memo?”

Everyone stares at me in awe, turning the tables and it was my turn to smirk and her face had just gone pale.

“We kiss and we almost” I stop in the mid-sentence just wanted to see her reaction “do you want details” I wink at her, oh I love playing her.

ADVERTISEMENT

“Can you blame us, we’re mates. Gosh Claire I should pluck that luna crown from your head. Then again if I think about everything you’re not worth it and he’s not worth the wait” I gesture towards Eric

“Every goddamn person in Cascade doesn’t worth the effort except for my pack The Alcaders.”

My fingers raised pointing around to Eric, Serena, and their packs.

“YOU’RE ALL NOT WORTH IT.”

I held my head high shrugging my shoulder with my back straighten then I got the hell out of there.

Love your family, love your neighbors, love your friends, love your enemies, and never forget to love yourself. Sometimes you have to give credit to yourself. Never let anyone stumble on you many times. Remember when you live your life, live it in a way you always wanted it to be so that you won’t ever regret

Love Xox,

Nica