

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 41

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
: Aftermath

I blink my eyes looking at the ceiling and I knew I was back in my room.

I burst into tears with my hands trying to reach for my broken heart.

If people thought their Alpha's son bit me due to disrespecting him then they are damn right.

The b didn't mark me. He bit me on the neck. He was going to kill me.

I sob out loud then started to sit up leaning my back against the bed headboard.

The door opens my mom's back was facing me as she struggles to close it with a tray of food in her hands.

I wanted to help her but I feel like I have been wrecked by a train besides I was crying like a child.

"Adaah" she looks at me as if she was to cry

"Mom"

"Oh thank moon goddess" she quickly walks towards me before placing the tray on the nightstands and hugging the life out of me.

She started to cry but I held her close running my hands up and down on her back comforting her. We sat there crying in each other's arms.

I should have listened when she said to stay away from Matteo. I should have walked away from him back then. Now everybody knows I'm his Mate and the jokes on me since it's Quinn he was mating not me.

"I'm sorry" I apologize while sobbing in her arms.

"I thought we're going to lose you" she cries while holding me

ADVERTISEMENT

"It is okay mom, I'm here and I am truly sorry" she sniffles "let me link your father" the door slams open.

My father came running in and hug me tightly, then pulls my mom into the hug. My father was strong enough not to show his tears but my mom never was.

She may be the one with the attude but when it comes to me she just became weak.

"We thought we would lose you" I pull them both in a hug comforting them.

"Hey, it's okay I'm here with you, aren't I?" my mother wipe off her tear while my dad pulls her in his arms. I wipe off my tears deciding to tell them the truth.

"Mom, dad" my tears began to drop again. "I'm sorry I didn't listen to you about staying away from Matteo" my mother looks with shock then she slowly pulls away from my dad's arms.

My father on the other side looks confused. I quickly got out of the bed and kneel in front of them.

"I'm sorry I disobey you, mom. Please forgive me mom but you have to understand I love him and I couldn't stay away he's my mate" my voice cracks in the end and I was crying again.

My father staggers back and slowly sinks onto the ground. I thought he was going to be disappointed in me but he just started to tear up.

"It can't be" he murmured "Oh! my poor daughter" he cries looking up the ceiling.

"Why moon goddess?" he threw his hands up and my mom moves to comfort him.

Then she extends her hand to me motioning for me to come over. I got up and ran towards them. I knew my mom is going to forgive me no matter what I do despite me being a disobedient child.

"Oh our poor baby" they both embrace me tightly and all of us were in tears again. It's almost an hour since we have been in that position until they both lead me back to bed.

They sat me down on the bed with both of them on each side of me. My mother rubs my shoulder while my father just sat there taking a deep breath.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Adaah," they both look at each other than me. This time I am getting nervous "I'm sorry about the life you're living and what you're going through now. It's my entire fault"

He squeezes his eyes shut "I'm sorry for bringing my curse upon you," my father apologize but my mom went and kneel in front of him.

"Oh no honey, you're never a curse to us. We are both blessed to have you. I am grateful to have you as my husband and mate. Our daughter" she held my hand squeezing it.

"She is proud to call you her father" I nod my head yes then lay it upon his shoulder. I love my parents equally and that's the truth.

I look around myself "mom, what time is it?"

"It's 10 am" she answers.

'He must have mated her already, is he happy now? Did he regret doing this to me?' I wonder to myself.

"Eat your breakfast dear, we will be downstairs" they both kissed me on the forehead "besides you have a guest here."

They went out of the door but before it closes I heard my mom saying to my dad "are you sure this is going to work."

I then use my werewolf hearing to eardrop on their conversation. "We have to try honey" my dad answers.

"What if it doesn't work?" she asks again but that's it my dad must have known I'm listening to their conversation.

They were silent again, I heard footsteps then my door opens. Gia and Cora came running inside the room hugging me.

They both burst into tears "we thought you're going to die; you scare the hell out of us b*" I chuckle pulling out of their hug wiping away my tears.

"Ohh come on; don't be mad besides you two shouldn't be crying as tonight is the prom. Aren't you supposed to look for your dress instead of moping in my room?"

ADVERTISEMENT

They both became silent Cora look at Gia then at me. "Addy you've been in bed for a week" I took a deep breath.

I didn't know how to feel any more about that and don't even know what to say. I'm just too emotional right now that all I want to do is to cry again and again.

Suddenly I felt the urge to apologize to them and I owe it to my friends.

"I'm sorry" I try not to cry "about not telling you about Matteo and me" I started to tear up but I quickly wipe off my tears.

"I'm sorry about not letting you guys know that he was my mate and we were dating" I took another deep breath.

"I'm sorry-" they cut me off

"MATE" they both shouted and I look at them with confusion.

"Wait," Cora stops me with her hand in the air "so are you saying you and Matteo are mates?"

Gia on the other side shook her head probably trying to hear if what I was saying before is correct.

"Are you guys saying that you never knew the night he bit me that I'm his mate?" I ask nervously

Their jaws drop and they both nodded their head no and I slowly wanted to die then.

What did I get myself into and how come they knew nothing about it. To think again they were at the stadium but should rumor be spreading around by now.

Now I am confused as hell too.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 42

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

: Only a Time

My friends stare at me in disbelief.

"No way" Gia tries to slap herself again.

"You, Matteo wow! That a hole" Cora stood up with her hands on both hips.

"If he was here I would skril him alive before feeding dogs with his ba-" she stops in mid-sentence seeing us both stare at her.

"What?" she rolls her eyes and I crack up laughing.

"Wow, never thought I would live the day to hear you talk like that... Woوو wow" Gia and I applaud her with enthusiasm.

"You are both crazy but seriously I despise him" she sat down on the other side of the bed.

"So you wanna tell us about you and him again" I lower my head in shame fiddling with my hands.

"It's okay you can take your time, maybe" I interrupted her, cutting out what she was trying to say.

"I knew he was my Mate on my eighteen birthday when I came to pick you guys up."

I took a deep breath then there I began to tell them how everything between him and I began. From the first moments up to the one that I gradually began to fall in love with him.

Our first kiss, the way he makes me feel when he's around and I stupidly believe everything he says.

How we sneak around everyone's back to go on dates, then I finally admitted that I love him and how he avoids me afterward. I also told them how I find out about the truth and I confronted him.

ADVERTISEMENT

I was in tears after telling them about it "I love him you know that. I just fell for all his lies. f, it felt like I wanted to die when he admitted the truth" I beat on my heart sobbing out hard.

"Gosh" I try to wipe my tears again

"I'm sorry for not telling you guys. I'm sorry" I sob.

"Did you ever think of telling us?" Gia asks

"I did try but you went in heat and Cora left for her pack... I'm sorry guys and it is okay if you hate me I deserve it."

They both surprisingly hug me tightly "aww our poor baby, we could never hate you" their hands smoothing my back with comfort.

"You know I think things are making sense now," Gia says while pulling away.

She held my hand "I overheard my dad and the Gamma's conversations the day after Matteo attack you. I didn't understand then but now I can piece the puzzle" she took a deep breath.

"I heard the Alpha practically gather Bilford College football team including the ones that were there at the event and have ordered everyone never to speak of what happened that night.

He made them submit and swore to never utter anything about his Mate. Well now I know you're his Mate," she sighs.

"I don't know why the Alpha then does not want you and Matteo to be Mate. I mean you are a daughter of a top warrior" Cora says with curiosity.

Gia shrugged her shoulders "yeah now I'm curious too," he finger pointed the end of her mouth as if thinking before giving up.

"I wish I knew more or maybe I'll try and snoop around my dad's office. Anyways I also heard the pack warriors are looking for"

Gia looks as if she didn't want to say it but Cora was hard out gesturing at her to spill the beans.

ADVERTISEMENT

"Matteo, he ran away after he bit you on that night" she blurted.

"p*" Cora scoffs at that and we just sat there in surprise,

"And girl you are one spy who listens in to her father's conversation... bad girl" she nods her head at Gia.

Gia bluff folding her arms "can you blame me for being there. I never told them this: hey dad I'm here to start your conversation and I'll listen in a corner" she rolls her eyes and flips her hair dramatically.

"Besides it wasn't so bad to listen in, now we get most info, and what about you?" Cora just heaves her shoulders with a mock expression.

"Ahh right, the only thing you listen in is when there's p*, balls, and" her words were muffled by the pillow making me laugh.

Gia narrows her eyes at Cora "Oh you won't get away b*" and she threw her with another pillow

"Major b*" Cora retort throwing another one.

We all ended up in a pillow fight as if I wasn't in a bad shape when I woke up. We play around chasing each other like kids until we're exhausted and hungry.

We made lunch then watched random movies on TV. Then play dare games without alcohol. We were so childish and for a moment I forgot all about what happened.

Gia was the first one to head home. She got picked up by Ed then Cora got picked up by Jem as they have a date today.

I sat there in the living room by myself staring at the TV, even though I wasn't interested. I still watch it until it was dark.

I went and prepared the dinner trying to get myself busy. Afterward, I sat there at the kitchen table taking a break.

ADVERTISEMENT

I was so consumed with my thoughts on the time I was happy, every moment of it before I fell in love.

Suddenly I thought of Matteo and the days we spent together and that's when I broke down again.

It wasn't easy to forget what he did to me, especially when my heart stupidly loves him.

It felt like it happens yesterday so I cried there in the kitchen with no one to comfort me this time.

A lot of bad thoughts consume my mind like not wanting to live anymore.

I was too hurt that I could not know what to do.

No matter what happiness I felt earlier with my friends I knew it was only for a moment.

Because once when I'm alone this is me.

The foolish,

Stupid

Broken

Adaah.

Who does nothing about her broken heart but cry in pain again and again.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito Chapter 43

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
: Beautiful Moments

I was crying to myself and at the same time, I try to control my breath when I hear the door suddenly opens and my parents walk in.

Rapidly, I wipe off my tears and ran to the kitchen tub splashing water on my face. I try to put on a smile, calming myself down before going back in the living room to greet them.

They look with shock when they turn and find me standing there with a smile.

Yeah, I am just going to pretend that everything is fine that I am perfectly okay.

“Oh honey,” my mom came and hug me while my dad kisses me on the forehead.

“I have prepared our dinner” I pressed my lips together, again my mom kisses me on the forehead.

“You should have waited for me to come and do it but thank you honey” she smiles at me and my dad squeezes her hands.

“We have something to ask you but after dinner,” my dad says while taking off his jacket.

We all went back to the kitchen to have our dinner. It was pleasant and I enjoy it very much, we laugh and talk more.

My parents were telling me the first time she found out she was pregnant with me and all those moments when I was young.

Then I thought of my wish on my 18th birthday maybe having a sibling would help me out.

ADVERTISEMENT

“Mom, can I have another sibling”

I put my hand over my mouth; damn I can't believe I said that. I sounded like a kid asking her mom to buy her a Barbie doll that is sold in a store.

My parents look stunned before they both burst into laughter at what I just said.

I watch them exchange looks, my mom rolling her eyes, and my dad chuckled at her before he takes a fork and eats his pasta with a smile.

My mom then looks at me smiling “well dear we'll see but your sibling will not be born tonight”

My dad's head suddenly pops up smirking and my mom shook off his hand.

“Your father is such a cheeky man, trust me, dear. He was so cheeky that's why your late nana Natasha made him stand in his birthday suit in front of the shop.”

I try not to laugh at my dad who scrunched his brows.

"Oh, you wouldn't tell our daughter my most embarrassing moment when yet you are one say woman I met" he complains.

I felt a little bit embarrassed of hearing this but then again there was nothing to be embarrassed about. These are moments other kids long for.

"You ask for it" my mom took her fork and sticks it in her pasta acting like those high school girls in the movie.

"Oh yeah then you want our daughter to know how mom Natasha scold us"

ADVERTISEMENT

My mom coughs out loudly kicking at my dad's leg glaring at him. As if he just realized what he was going to say he smiles at me suddenly changing the topic.

"You know what your mom is lucky to have me as her mate" my mom rolls her eyes at that.

"Oh keep telling that yourself leather boy" she retorts. "We both know that no girl at the time could be compared to this beauty" my mother shrugged her shoulders with a proud smile.

My father chuckles "you know they call me a leather king, not some boy" he nodded his head before turning towards me.

"Yeah, they use to call your mom the goddess. I was never interested when my friends who go to her pack school talk about her. I always thought she's just another spoilt brat" he admitted and I saw my mom smile.

"Not until we met each other" he continues "and found out..."

"the goddess was mated to the leather King," I finish for them and he winks at my mom.

I didn't know my parents could still act like teenagers who just fell in love yesterday.

They both smile at each other and I try to push away my other unwanted thoughts like my mate and I.

Putting on my brave smile, I push it all away and basket it at this moment with my parents.

I am very happy that they never neglected or reject one another at first sight.

ADVERTISEMENT

We finish up our dinner then I help my mom to clean up the kitchen before we went into the living room.

My parents sat me down opposite them; "Adaah, your mom and I went to the Alpha today" I became stiff.

They gave me a reauring smile that it's nothing bad or what I am thinking right now. Feeling relief, I breathe slowly and nod at them waiting for whatever they want to say.

"We have asked to transfer you to another pack" my dad's shoulders were down, he looks at me with sad eyes.

"Unfortunately we can't move packs now, we tried to ask the Alpha but he wouldn't let us."

My mom took his hand in hers "honey so we have decided another way. We have asked Luna Elle and she agreed to your early college admission."

I look between the two of them with confused "love you're leaving the day after tomorrow"

I let out a breath that I didn't know I have been holding. I guess this is it I am going to miss my graduation but I know I need to leave for me to live this life a little.

So without second thoughts, I accept it, without putting up any fight or even a complaint because, to me, this may just be what I need now.

After our talk I did a group chat with my friends telling them about my parent's decision, they were sad but knew it was for the best.

Later on, I lie there on my bed thinking of certain someone until I finally close my eyes reminiscing on beautiful moments with my parents.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 44

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
: Packing

I woke up the next day and remembered that I need to pack my stuff as I will be leaving tomorrow.

It may be too soon but I know I need this. Not to escape but air to breathe just for a time before I come back and face my demons or should I say my one own demon.

My eyes slowly dart around my room taking in every picture of it, from the painting to the walls than to the bookshelves and everything else inside this room.

I stood up and began to look for my clothes to take and things to be left here.

Afterward, I moved to my left bookshelf to look for any books to take with me.

I was choosing from my old edition collection when suddenly a book fell off the shelf and landed on the floor.

I put it back on the shelf and turn to leave but that is when I realized a photo on the floor. It must have fallen off from the book.

I pick it up turning it over only to find my father smiling beside a female who clung onto his arms and a man on his other side looking at the woman.

I turn it over again just to read the words I read in the pack.

"To our great luna Helena Colby- Reed" I mutter under my breath then "James Holland," I kept on repeating their names especially the girl's name.

Wait! it reminds me that she has the same last name as Matteo, not that she's a luna.

My curiosity won over, I know there is a lot of Reed in this world but I know I have to push my luck. So I dialed Gia's number and she answers it after four rings.

"Hey, baby girl" I don't like being called a baby girl.

I groan "I don't like being called the baby girl"

"Why?" she teases

ADVERTISEMENT

"Because I'm no baby" she laughs at that.

"Well, it's not a bad thing to be a baby" I knew she wouldn't give up so I wanted to ask her straight away.

"Anyways that's not why I called" she stops laughing then I hear her shuffling around.

"Yeah, keep going I'm listening" I sat down on the bed with the photo in my hand.

"Do you know any woman named Helena Colby-Reed by any chance?"

Gia was quiet after I mention the woman's name "Gia"

"It's our former luna" she smoothly says.

"Why do you ask?" she asks me

"Nothing just wanted to know"

She was about to press me with her questions but I quickly changed the subject.

"So are you coming today?"

"Yeah, why not? I wouldn't miss a one last night with my Bestie" she starts to snuffle. "Aww my baby has grown up," she said.

"So I'll be seeing you tonight," I ask and she replied yes, and before that, I say thank you to her before cutting off the line.

My bedroom door opens, there stood my father and mom with small bags in their hands

"Breakfast" my dad held it up and I excitedly nodded yes.

ADVERTISEMENT

We went downstairs to the kitchen and started to unpack our food before we all eat.

My mind couldn't forget about the photo and I know I need to talk to my dad about it maybe it will make me understand a little of what's going on.

"Dad" I have to ask him now; it is now or never

"What was your relationship with the former luna and who is he?"

I handed him the photo which made my dad stop eating while mom just slowly takes her portion. He sat there thinking maybe I shouldn't ask him that question.

He sighs "they were my best friends" it looks as if the topic hit him hard. My father looks hurt and I regret asking it.

He put it aside and took a deep breath

"You see; I wasn't originally in this pack but my friends were the reason I ended up here. We were so close to each other that we were inseparable and we even make a pact to move once the other moves.

It was him, I and her not until she found her mate and moves away. It hit James hard since he has a crush on her that he ended up switching packs. Around that time, I met your mother” he pulls my mom’s hand into his entwining their fingers together.

“My friends wanted me to come here, and because I made a pact I moved here and left your mother there as she didn’t want to come,” he glances at her with sadness.

“I thought I could still trust them yet in the end they both betray me. They have their motives and I blindly follow them. I should have listened to your mom when she told me to stay in my pack” he heavily sighs with a hurt look.

I could feel his emotions and I became sad. My mom moves closer laying her head on his shoulder as she rubs his hands smoothly.

He looks back at me with a smile “but I’m happy because now I have you two in my life” I nod my head at him.

“Your mom was the best thing that ever happens to me and you were the gift that we both would cherish in our hearts,” he opens his left arm and I move to snuggle closer to him.

“I know you have more questions Adaah but one at the time. We have this whole life ahead of us” he’s right I gesture over at my mom and she smiles with a nod.

ADVERTISEMENT

We finish up breakfast and continue with packing my stuff. When it’s around 3 pm my parents went back to pick up my grandmother from the Moonbridge Pack and I stay at home.

I didn’t want to go as I am not ready to go out especially to my grandma’s pack as it will bring back some memories of me and him.

My mind then wonders about my dad’s friends I wonder what happens then.

I know Matteo told me his mother left him when he was young with another Alpha but then why do I feel like that wasn’t the case.

Now I know she used to be my dad’s best friend. It got me wondering what happened.

I have so many questions that I want to push my dad with but he told me one at the time and I know that the topic of his two friends hits him hard.

I sat on the couch playing with my phone while I waited for the girls who have texted me to be here soon.

There was a knock on the door knowing very well it must be the girls.

"You can come in, the door is open" yes I have left it open for my friends.

I was still playing on my phone. I hear nothing

"Gia, Cora you know" I turn to find Matteo standing there 2 meters away from the couch I'm sitting on.

I thought he was going to kill me, to finish off what he started the other night but nothing happens.

My heart races a little while I try to calm my breath. We both stare at each other for almost 30 minutes. I was like a lost girl again that has fallen in love with him.

Not until he tries to take a step forward and then suddenly hates to replace it and despises him, that all want to do is to hate him.

So I ended up screaming at him "what the hell are you here for?"

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 45

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
: Pain and Promises

Matteo's POV

"What the hell are you doing here?" she snarls at me.

I know she hated me right now but I have to make things right this instant.

Yes, I have been hiding from my father, and last week I have been in hell and thought of truly giving myself to Adaah.

The past weeks made me rethink a lot of things especially my decisions. It even makes me realize that I am falling for her too and I want this to work between us.

I miss her and I damn well regret what I did.

I couldn't sleep for eight days thinking about Adaah and me.

Aaron has been helping me out a lot. He has been giving me advice about the essence of having your true mate beside you. He even scolded me for doing that to her, the granddaughter of nana Gloria who has been helping us out a lot.

So Jay never called me not until today and told me that he heard Adaah is leaving. So without caring about being caught by my dad I came here for Addasah.

I didn't care at all, I just want to see her and tell her what I feel. I sighed taking a step towards her

"Adaah"

"Don't you dare say my name" she snarls at me.

"I know what I did is un-" I didn't get to finish as the next thing I know she SLAPS me hard.

"I deserve that," I say while trying to reach for her but she pushes away my hand and slaps me on the other cheek.

"How dare you show your face to me now?" I receive another slap, then she began to hit me everywhere and I stood there not doing anything.

ADVERTISEMENT

I know she hates me and that is why she is doing this. She pushes me then began to scratch and claw at my skin but I did not care.

It hurts, Thunder now was growling mad for what she's doing but I shut him off completely. I just want her to hear me out and Thunder won't destroy this opportunity for us.

Blood began to ooze out of my skin.

"Adaah" I force her to stop before I took her hands laying them upon my heart.

I felt her claws digging in my skin, as it reached for my heart. I wince a little but I pretend not to be phased by it. At this point, I don't care whether she kills me or not because I deserve it.

Her hand slowly made its way into my skin. She's reaching for my heart. My breath hitch, still I try my best to remain emotionless.

Thunder was trying so hard to break down my walls but I knew that if I let him out he's going to punish and mark her right here.

Her palm now reaches my heart, her hands touch it and I felt it beat slowly. Here I was going to die by her hands. If I didn't have any Alpha blood I'm sure I won't be able to live any longer.

My breath slows down I smile looking at her as her eyes were focused on her hand as it disappeared in my skin.

My body was weak but I reach out for her just this one last time. I caress her cheek feeling those sparks again.

Closing my eyes about to fall and die. Adaah pulls back her hands then fell on her knees crying.

She looks at the blood in her hands while sobbing.

I drop down on my knees before her feeling weak. If I was a human, I would be dead by then. There's a hole in my left chest. I probably need stches but I know only my mate can heal this open wound but I'm not going to beg to be saved.

I felt her hands around my shoulder embracing me. Then she put her head to the open cut and slowly my skin began to heal back together.

She was sobbing in my chest uncontrollably. My tears now wet her hair. I pull her back once I had my strength back. Wiping off her tears I caress her cheek gently.

"Adaah, I'm sorry" I cry

ADVERTISEMENT

"I am so sorry and it's okay if you don't trust, forgive or believe me right now."

I cup her face in my hands "look at me Adaah" she closed her eyes tightly refusing to look at me.

"Adaah please" I beg her and waited until she finally opens up those beautiful sapphire eyes of hers.

"I know you're leaving for college and you may not believe this but please I want to promise you something"

I move closer to her our face inches from one another letting her hand falls on my beaten heart

"I promise you under the moon goddess witness that I Matteo Evan Reed will wait for you. I promise when you come back I'll be the better mate for you. I'll make you my luna and try my hardest to be the best man you wanted and deserve to have."

This time my forehead is against hers and I nuzzle my nose against hers. I pull out a ring from my pocket, it's one of my grandma's rings and I wanted to give it to her as a symbol of my promise and a token of my heart.

"I'm sorry for everything and I promise to be that mate and man for you" she sobs out loud.

"Adaah, this is my promise ring it belongs to my grandma and I promise with this ring on my grandmother's soul and my fathers grave that I would stand by my words I vow to you before"

She keeps on sobbing trying to pull away but I pull her to my chest hugging her tightly never even wanting to let go or this moment to be a dream.

Some time afterward I carry her back to her room, and then went downstairs to clean my blood on the floor.

I came back and found her already shower and on the bed. I made her lie down then pull a duvet over her.

I was to leave when she held back my hand "please sleep with me" and she pulls me down beside her.

I watch her until she fell asleep and I made my way out there afraid my father caught me.

Unfortunately, I came out of her house only to be surrounded by the Beta and my father's warrior.

"Seize him" I bare out my fang challenging them not to move any closer.

ADVERTISEMENT

I was to jump attacking them but something stings my neck and I'm out like a feather.

I woke up again with a headache; I take a look around and find myself in my father's room on a chair and not in a chain. I look in front of me and find my father sitting there behind his desk with eyes narrowing at me.

"We need to talk" finding my strength back I stood up. "Sorry Alpha but no" he glares at me

"Adaah and" I cut him off "if you are going to say I can't be with Adaah then you're wrong. I won't stay away this time"

He growls at me slamming his fist on the desk.

"I want my mate, not Quinn so please just accept it because no matter what you do I'll run away," I said.

I wasn't joking when I came back here for Adaah I meant every word I say.

"You will not mate her" he is trying to control his breath. His hands clenched on each side of the desk.

“Matteo” his voice raised in a hoarse tone “sit down” he orders me using his Alpha side.

“If you still want to see her eyes open again then sit down and let’s talk” he threatens me.

“You think that would stop me, you won’t even kill her because you know I won’t let you”

“Oh, I will kill her and her parents if you think I’m bluffing don’t test my limits, Matteo. Now sit back down” he orders me again in his Alpha tone.

My body tries to fight against it yet it was forced to submit and I ended up losing it.

I sat in front of him he took a whisky then sit back behind his desk.

“We have a lot to talk about. Shall we start?”

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 46

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
: Last Night

I woke up with no sign of Matteo. I sat there on my bed with tears from my eyes.

Alera hates me for what I did but I kept on telling her that it was just a dream.

I must be dreaming I thought to myself then I felt a cold metal in my right palm.

Opening my palm, I saw the promise ring he gave me. It was beautifully made with little white diamonds surrounding it and a medium diamond in the middle.

Admiration was the word I would say this moment when looking at this ring.

Then reality hits me that everything wasn’t a dream. Matteo was here and I almost kill him not until I saw those green eyes again and that face whom I use to dream of every day.

I felt this urge to throw the ring away but since he said it belongs to his grandma I have respect for that and keep it.

‘Then what if it’s a lie’ my subconscious reminded me but again I still hold on to that hope that my mate was being sincere and he meant every word he says.

Alera on the other hand was determined that what Matteo says was true. She said she talks to Thunder, his wolf and he confirms that his human side truly meant every word of his promise.

Reaching for my draw I pull out my jewelry box and took out my necklace. It was a gift from my parents so I slide the ring to it before putting it on my neck.

Jumping out of bed I went and look myself over the mirror touching the necklace and the ring on my chest.

My thoughts wonder how many girls are out there who believe their mate's words easily.

ADVERTISEMENT

I remember I used to be the one who vows on not to let any man walk over me but now my words seem to throw back in my face because Matteo did break my heart.

I understand now why it is so easy to believe because when you fell deeply in love there is nothing else you would do except believe in that person.

I heard screams from downstairs outside of the house. I quickly run down knowing that it was Gia and Cora.

I open the door "what? Come next time this house is close" I jokingly open it wide and before I close it they both tackle me on the ground.

"Ahhh get your a off of me?" I scream over the top of my lungs and they both giggle.

"I'm pretty sure if it was a guy you wouldn't be saying that right Adaah" Gia wiggle her brows and Cora nodded her head in agreement

"Tsk Tsk bad Addy," she winks

"Oh to hell with that, you two are too heavy and you are both crushing my poor bones" I dramatically push them off and they both narrow their eyes which made me laugh.

"YAH then go look for new friends" Cora dramatically throw back her hair.

"There's no need to look for one; being alone is not so bad at all" I poke out my tongue to them like a child.

"Touché" they both fan their face with their hands and I couldn't stop myself from laughing.

"Oh come on, you know you're my only two besties in this whole werewolf world"

"Liar you're going to have new ones there" they both pretend to not believe me.

ADVERTISEMENT

"They wouldn't take your place" Cora pushes herself up "damn right, now let's go kick some balls" and we laugh again.

My parents arrived with nana Gloria when it was getting pretty dark.

"Grandma" I hug her almost knocking her down. "Hoi, you almost got my back dislocated" she complains about a small laugh.

"I miss you"

"And I to you my dear" I lead her on the couch.

We all gather around talking to each other. My grandma told us about mom's most embarraing moments in life and my dad couldn't help but laugh.

Gia and Cora join me and my mom was hitting my dad's chest with embarrament.

My mom went to fix dinner with grandma and I head upstairs to my room to get a cardigan as I was getting cold.

I am in my room when I hear a light knock on the door. "Come in" my dad walk inside and close the door behind him.

"He was here right?" I wanted to lie but he goes on "I know Matteo was here" he sat beside me taking my hands in his.

"If you love him then you have every right to do so. He's your mate and doesn't blame yourself for falling in love. It wasn't any of your faults that you guys are paired up" he kisses my forehead.

"As for your mother, you should understand a mother's instinct; she didn't want you to get hurt but know she loves you so much and support every choice you made."

The door opens and my mom stood there. I run up to her hugging her tightly telling her how much I love her and their dad.

ADVERTISEMENT

After our emotional moments, we went back downstairs and straight to the kitchen where nana Gloria and the girls are.

Grandma is telling them about the food she cooks and both girls were sitting around the table with their expression which screams ahhhh then oh can't wait to taste it.

We have our dinner then later on grandma wanted to talk to me. We talk for almost an hour.

She was telling me that she knew Matteo and I are mates but didn't want to interfere with our lives.

We didn't talk much of Matteo instead she gave me advice and encouraged me to be brave and know that everything will heal in time.

Afterward, I went and kiss my parents' goodnight then spend the whole night chatting, laughing, playing dare games, and then ended up watching a movie.

Following that the girls went to bed but I wasn't sleeping.

My fingers still brush and play with the ring on my neck with my thoughts on him.

I push my legs towards my chest hugging them there while I watch the moon outside with my hands still on his ring.

"He promised, Alera" I link her "he promised"

Feeling a confidence rise through me with a determination that he has made me a promise I whisper to myself.

"I can't wait to be back after four years" that I kiss his ring.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 47

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

: Secrets and Goodbyes

Matteo's Pov

I can't believe what I just hear from my father, some part of me wanted to deny it but his words have already gotten in my head.

His threats have completely won over me. I did not know my mother elopes with someone else who was not an Alpha.

I always thought she chose another by coming clean to my father yet that wasn't the case at all.

Precisely the prisoner namely James who escapes from the cell was the one who tries to elope with my mother.

Hadaah's father was best friends with those two. Another surprising info for me.

My father said my mother brought her friends from her old packs. He didn't approve of it but she made him do it.

She made him believe and blindly he trusted her as she was his Mate. So they were all accepted and stays together in the packhouse without him knowing my mother's evil scheme behind his back.

She has planned to betray him and the pack. The three of them were also willing to sell them off to the rogues and hunters who have been planning on conquering their lands.

The three were going to escape when the maacre occurs but it was the gamma that found out about the scheme and told my dad about it before it happens.

On the proposed night of the maacre, they pretend to know nothing about it so they watch every move they make and when the rogues attack they knew what to do.

His Beta and others deal with the fight while he chases after my mother.

Yet once they arrived there was another fight that already broke out there and my mother's lifeless body was on the ground.

Lyndon kills almost one hundred wolves consisting of hunters and rogues cold-heartedly and James was no near to be found.

So they took the traitor in and announced him as his top warrior instead of being the traitor.

ADVERTISEMENT

I asked him why but only told me that Adaah's father is a special wolf and as a future Alpha I might need his strength to protect our pack.

I know now that my father is only using Adaah's father. So I try my luck and beg him I want to try my relationship with Adaah but he dismissed me cold-heartedly.

He didn't want me, his son to be friends with a traitor's daughter that's why he always asks me whenever he saw us around each other.

Indeed, once he found out we're Mate he even hates them more. He completely bans me from mating her or choosing her as my mate.

My dad threatened me that he's going to expose Lyndon's doing to everyone including his identy that he won't even tell me at all.

He also reminded me of what happened to the traitors. This I clench my fist tighter.

For anyone who brands as a traitor would be executed and not him but his whole family will be slaughtered and I don't want that to happen

"You wouldn't want that right Matteo?" I sat there staring at him not knowing what to do.

"Then consider me not your son anymore. Stripped me off of my birth rights into this family" my father scoffs.

"You see I can't Matteo now make a choice," I sat there wishing that this wasn't real.

"Matteo" he kept on repeating my name while I sat there thinking deeply.

I just promised Adaah to be a better mate for her. My eyes shut and I was hoping this is just a nightmare unfortunately it is not.

"Matteo, time is ticking and you know our Beta with our warriors are waiting outside of her house for my orders. One wrong choice and she is long gone Matteo along with her grandma" my eyes widen.

My father looks at me with amus*t and I snarl at him.

"Everyone in that house will die if you don't make the right choice now Matteo" he grabs his whisky bottle and drinks it.

ADVERTISEMENT

"1" he counted" two"

"Fine I'll take the deal, I won't be her mate" he smiles at me with sinister then I felt something twist around my leg.

I look to find an anklet that I didn't know existed not until now when it twists around and locks on my right leg automatically.

"What's this?"

"To keep tracks of your whereabouts," he said like it was nothing. That what he's doing to me now is nothing.

I despise my dad now, how could he do this to his son. I hated him officially and all the b he told me. I won't even believe it until I confirmed it with my own eyes.

I wanted to challenge him so badly but Thunder told me I wasn't ready besides I have to think of Adaah and her family.

Hate keeps billing up in me cursing the man I used to idolize. Today he officially crosses the line and until death, I'll never want to call him my father.

"How could you do this to your son" I spat at him and standing up I made my way to the door

"I hope you won't try anything funny Matteo" he calls out to me but I shut it in his face.

I never slept that night because in my head I was only thinking of Adaah.

When morning comes here I am at her home hiding from the woods and waiting for the time she comes out to leave.

After four hours I finally get to see her with her bags and suitcases being put inside the car.

I wanted to be there and hug her one last time but I couldn't.

"Adaah"

ADVERTISEMENT

I whisper repeating her name over and over again. Hoping the wind would carry it to her and for her to hear me out.

I watch her leave in the car waving goodbye to her parents, friends, and nana Gloria.

I wanted to be there, I so desperately want to be the last person she hugs before she goes. If I knew yesterday was my last day near her I would have held onto her tight while she sleeps.

The car moves and my legs move with it. I was still in the woods hiding from everyone.

I try and catch up with the car, I sped up my speed ready to pounce on it. Stopping her from leaving and kidnapping her right here but the alarm of the anklet stops me.

The reminder that I cannot go near her or do what I'm about to do.

Will she ever forgive me if I let her parents die I thought aside then I stopped myself from running?

Tears welled up in my eyes as the car began to get further away from my vision.

“Goodbye Adaah”

I couldn't control my emotions and I ended up breaking down into tears and fell on my knees.

Thunder claws at our walls trying to push through but he couldn't. We howl one last time for our mate before I walk away with my heart breaking into pieces and my tears never stop falling from my eyes.

I know I am going to break her heart again once she returns but it's either that or she dies.

She will degrade me as a liar or even worse kill me for my lies but I know one thing is not a lie

And that my heart now beats and only long for Adaah.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 48

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
: Daluna's Pack

The car arrived late at night, most of the lights were out and there were only guards around the place.

The driver drops me off in front of a huge gate where there are two wolves' statues standing proudly at each side of the gate.

I saw a man coming then he opens up the gate before extending his hand to me.

“Hi I don't know if you remember me but I'm Beta Lucian” he gave me a welcoming smile and I shook his hand in return.

I do remember him it's not like I have any memory loss besides Matteo almost breaking his bones makes him memorable. I know I sounded like a b* but I just want to be one.

'Good luck on that' Alera said through our link.

Despite the time I arrive, Lucian still shows me off to the campus. We put my suitcases in my allocated room then we went around other places.

He also told me that there are only two of us who admit earlier it was just me and a transfer student from King's College.

After going around, he then took me back to the Alpha's house saying the Luna and Alpha are expecting me tonight.

The institution campus was not far from their house. I love how they design everything they built up here in their Pack. It was like another paradise to me, especially now the lights illuminated the beautiful scenery of the place.

Everything was beautiful and even the surroundings were so peaceful and I could feel my body coming back to life.

ADVERTISEMENT

When we made it to the Alpha's house I gasp in amazement. Paradise wasn't even the word to describe it.

"Wow I want to own it" I exclaimed and kept on admiring the packhouse

"You know it's funny, that is exactly what my mate says when she first saw it too," someone said from behind me and I turn to find the Alpha looking at the house.

He came and stood beside me "my mate said she doesn't want to live in it she wanted to own it" he smiles while saying it.

"So I design and built another one" my eyes widen at him more like I'm impressed. "Yet she insists to have this one, so I moved the pack to the new one and we moved in here," he ended with a smile.

"I hope you're not saying anything bad about me" another voice interrupted

"Because if you did or do so you'll be sleeping on the couch tonight love" Luna Elle came and stood beside her mate.

Alpha Eric pulls her closer by the waist. "Nah, it's just you and her having the same motives of wanting to own this house one day" Alpha Eric pointed in my direction and I blush to myself.

Elle squints her brow "sorry Addy but this house is mine forever right Alpha but I don't mind sharing" she winks at him then she smiles at me.

I return her smile and take a look back at the house. It was indeed one of the most beautiful houses I have ever seen.

"Welcome to Daluna, now come on we should get inside," they both lead me in with their arms around one another and Elle's smile never leaving her face.

Once inside I was more than amazed at how everything is being set up here.

ADVERTISEMENT

A baby's cry intervenes me from staring around like a lost child. I turn to find both the luna and Alpha showering a baby with their kisses.

I just remembered that the last time I saw her she was pregnant but now she has a cute chubby baby.

"Cyrus says hello to Adaah" she coos at the child kissing him on the forehead. "Adaah, this is our son Cyrus" she proudly shows him to me.

The baby yawn and I just feel like pinching those pink cheeks of him. He is so cute and probably a heartbreaker when he grows up.

"Sorry, that you couldn't meet the rest of the family. It is just us and Lady Margaret here. My sister Milly is now with her mate's pack and Dana she's at the Packhouse," Alpha Eric's says then he calls for Margaret to set up the tables.

"Alpha Eric"

"Oh dear please do call me Eric no formalities between us in this house," he says as I look on nervously and luna Elle who stood beside me squeezing my hand with reaurance.

"Don't worry dear, we won't bite" she teases making my mood feel lighter.

"I told you before to call me Elle" she plays around with her son tickling him in the stomach.

"Luna, Alpha the dinner is ready" Margaret bow her head before taking Cyrus from Elle's arms.

We sat down saying our grace to the moon goddess before we eat.

"So how well do you know my parents?" I ask Eric

ADVERTISEMENT

"I don't but your mom was my dad's good old friend. He says she was like his own sibling. The last time they met is when your mom moves to your dad's best friend's pack," he says taking a scoop of his food while his other hand took hold of Elle's.

It kind of reminds me of my parents and I suddenly miss them so much. I haven't even called them that I made it safe to Daluna's Pack.

We talk for a while over dinner then they went to put Cyrus in bed while I excuse myself for a walk.

Elle had changed her mind and made me stay at their house, and so she has already told Lucian of their decisions. They ask to let someone bring my suitcases here by tomorrow early.

I walk through the trees in front of the house when I saw two figures emerge from the dark.

Their steps got nearer and finally, they were almost made it to where I am now standing.

I scrunched my shoulders and squints my brows. Alera whine with disgust at the person next to Lucian.

"Hello," his grins almost made me jump and hide under anything that would keep me away from him.

'Typical Kevin' I mutter under my breath and at the same I ignore him and made my way back to the house.

I should have known that there are devils like him who will try and appear everywhere I go. To think it's a coincidence but no it's not.

Walking back inside the house I wish for the moon goddess for the four years to be over with.

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 49

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3

: Going Home

Four years later

"She can't come home Lyndon, not now" I hear my mom reminding my dad through the phone.

"She needs to finish her training" it was like she is the one talking to me over the phone but not my dad.

"Dad, please tell mom I need to be there for my brother's birth"

"I heard that and no you can't" she calls over.

“You heard that honey, you can’t come home but will send you photos” he chimes and I just gave up on that and told them I love you before ending the call.

Indeed, I am not necessarily giving up as I am packing my clothes in my suitcase. Ughh...how can they not want me to be there? seriously I want to be there when my brother is born. Therefore, I am going there as a surprise whether they like it or not.

Who knows Matteo is going to be surprised too, and I just hope he has kept his promises. After all, it has been four years of going to College here and now I finally want to go back home.

I am back in the dorms after staying with Elle and Eric for one year in their home. I then request to move into the dorms.

Despite them wanting me to stay there but I still want to experience moving in with a roommate which was unfortunate.

My one and only roommate were sent back home after getting herself pregnant with her mate since then I live on my own.

My parents and I talk a lot through the phone over the years. They wanted me to come over and visit but I refused as I still wasn’t over my heartbreak.

Now that I’m finally over everything and I want to go home to see them but they wouldn’t let me. Especially now my mom’s pregnancy is due this month and whenever I ask of Matteo my dad would say to forget him, and that was it nothing else.

Over the four years, I hardly contact Cora or Gia. The last time I met Cora was when her brother came here in the track of his Mate who got kidnapped by her crazy ex-fiancée, and then that was a year ago.

I heard from several people who went to her pack that she got grounded as her infidelity with Jem has been finally caught.

ADVERTISEMENT

As for Gia, the last time we talk was a year back. She has moved in with Ed and they have gone around other packs for vacation.

I have made new friends over the years and Kevin was quite annoyed, that I almost over the past three years of my life want to give up and go home.

The guy has been a nightmare. He may have not physically haraed me but he did sually hara me verbally. Thanks to my dad for teaching me self-defense that I could defend myself every time he tries to touch me.

The last time we entered into combat was on the night of our dorm party. He pretends to get drunk and tries to seduce me and when he couldn't he tries to get physical which I put up pretty much a good fight.

Beta Lucian found us fighting and Kevin was expelled from the College with Elle standing her ground that he would not step any foot in their pack. Thanks for that he was sent back home and I could finally live my last year in College happily without any more trouble.

"Adaah" someone knocked on my room's door "who is it?"

"It's Kaiser" I threw my last cloth in my suitcase.

Kaiser is one of the friends I met here in College along with Sana and Ollie. They became my friends but Sana and Ollie have left to go home a month ago.

Kaiser and I have 2 months of training left before we go home. Kaiser was quite different from Ollie who only made it clear to be just friends but Kaiser was the first guy who approached me to be his girlfriend apart from Kevin's sick proposal.

I turn him down as I wasn't interested at all. I was so invested in school projects and work and dating never appeared in my calendar schedule or my diary.

He then wants to be my friend and here we are together as friends. Just friends with no benefit as the others call it or anything that would hinder our friendship.

I straighten my sweater and went out to meet him outside as I am not letting him in my room.

That's another thing, a rule I made up a few months after settling here: no guy would enter my room and that goes for my guy friends.

"Shall we" he smiles and I nod my head following behind him. There is going to be a festival tonight but I wasn't going to attend it as I will be going back home after the surprise Kaiser wanted to show me.

He took me to a pond at the back of our campus and I could see that he is nervous. Alera was a little bit disappointed as she was ready to go home but Kaiser is making us late.

ADVERTISEMENT

He stops then turns to me "Adda can you close your eyes please." Wanting this to be over with I close my eyes waiting for whatever surprise awaiting me.

"Open your eyes" I quickly comply with it, and found the scene before me beautiful.

Any girl would cry at the moment but I wasn't as I am not in the mood for the treat.

"Adaah, would you do the honor and be my girlfriend?" I let out a heavy sigh.

I would have said yes if there was a tiny bit of my heart beating for him but right now I do not want to force myself into anything.

As much as I am feeling guilty and sad for him but I cannot drag myself into something I never want it. I don't even want to lead him on besides he has a Mate out there.

What happened to me, I did not want to let that happen to anyone else.

A girl, who comes late and finds her mate in the arms of another, no I won't let that happen.

Yeah, Elle told me her story with her mate in the past apart from their newly incarnated life but I never told her mine even though it was kind of similar.

So up until now nobody here on the campus or Daluna Pack knows my mate because I hid the truth well.

I was never an open book who yells to the world:

'Matteo is my fing mate and he broke me. So please I need somebody to take this pain away.'

No, I wasn't like that, I believe in healing myself, and my two best friends and parents at home were enough to be my rock and comfort.

Looking back at Kaiser with flowers in his hand in front of me I sadly smile at him.

"I'm sorry Kaiser but I can never see you in such ways," thinking of telling him the truth but not the whole story I held onto Matteo's ring on my necklace.

ADVERTISEMENT

"I am going back today and the one who made promises, who the moon goddess pair up for me will be there at home waiting for me."

He looks at me with shock "I'm sorry Kaiser, but you know I can never see my friends as a man for me. So please don't complicated things and start looking for your mate"

I turn around and started walking back to the house but his words made me stop.

"What if she's in love with another? What if she doesn't want me? And what if your mate is with another?"

I turn back smiling at him "that's the thing, Kaiser, it's a 'what if?'"

‘What if doesn’t guarantee your mate isn’t waiting for you because what if she is?’

It’s like I have caught him off guard and I knew I was right.

“Stop second-guessing with what if? And Go with where to?”

I turn back and walk back to the campus to collect my suitcase. I went to Elle and Eric’s home only to find out they have gone out shopping.

“Don’t you want to go together with them? I heard it’s an invitation from your pack. All pack’s high ranks are attending it tonight”

I wonder what’s the occasion was and it’s not a bad idea to go with Elle and Eric but then I am not supposed to be home now so no I will go on my own.

“No thanks, Margaret perhaps give them this” I handed her a thank you letter with a card in an envelope then I made my way out of the house.

Clutching on my suitcase handle I smile while waiting for the uber.

Holding onto my necklace I happily told Alera

“I can’t wait to get home.”

Lie To Me Alpha by Veronica Vito

Chapter 50

/ Lie To Me Alpha by VeronicaVito3
: Home and Surprises

Stretching out my arms in front of my home. I smile taking in the view of our house.

After four hours of ride, I am finally here in one piece with no accident on the road or any rogue attack.

I can’t believe nothing has changed.

I walk up to the front door and found it locked. ‘Perfect’ I excitedly giggle while going around and climbing over my room.

“Geez, thanks to the moon goddess they didn’t cut down this tree” I mumble to myself as I made my way up the window.

The window was locked but I use my arm to break it down and finally I was in.

'It's good to be back home I threw myself on the bed and was happy that everything was still the same as I left them to be. I watch the ceiling for a moment thinking of how things are around here before running down the stairs to get my suitcase inside the house.

I locked the door again and made my way to my room where I unpack my stuff and thought of ways to surprise my parents. At the same time, I hope for my mom not to kill me as she has told me to stay there.

Feeling bored by myself at home I decided to go to the mall for shopping and grab something sweet to eat.

Everything there seems a bit changed but I was surprised that it's all shut down.

The shops were close even the cafes. I look around and there was no sign of anyone around here. So I drove to a cafe out of town near the territory.

The cafe is almost closed so I quick my steps and made it there when the lady is about to close it.

I ask the lady if I could still buy some chocolate chips and a cake, unfortunately, she said no and went on to explain.

"Sorry dear but everything is closed down for now even our side. We are all attending tonight's ball for Alpha Matteo-"

My phone rings cutting off the woman and what she is trying to tell me. Looking at the number it's private. I quickly declined it and turn my attention again back to the woman

"So everyone is expected there. I'm sorry my dear but we're close for business now" and she walks back inside closing the door in my face.

ADVERTISEMENT

Sighing in defeat I went back home and chill in my room watching random movies.

Thinking my parents could be here any minute but no they aren't and it makes me wonder where they could have been.

'Why don't we go to the ball, maybe they are there already' Alera says through our link

'And we could surprise them there including Matteo. You know it's like killing two birds with one stone she nervously suggested.

To think again it's not such a bad idea but am I that ready to face him. Alera is insisting on meeting him but for me, I am still nervous when it comes to facing him.

'He promised' Alera reminds me and I found back my courage 'right we're going to do this.'

I look for a dress in my closet finally my eyes settled on my unworn dress that my friends bought on my eighteen birthday. I run my fingers through the royal dark green off-the-shoulder sleeveless dress and thought about whether should I wear it or not.

In the end, I wore the dress and to my surprise, I love how the color suits me even though it wasn't my favorite one but I am amazed by it.

I did a retouch of my make-up and I did my hair in a swept-back hairstyle with gentle long curls down and fix the temples around my ears. I smack my lips together turning myself in front of the mirror before going to the ball.

As I was driving back I felt goosebumps on my body. It's like something is going to happen but I try not to think of it.

When I arrived there I saw the packhouse no longer a house but now turned into a mansion with guards at the gate.

They stopped me "invitation," the guard says without looking up as he was kicking something on the ground.

"Sorry I don't have it with me right now but I'm Adaah Rumanoff, a member of this pack"

The guard eyes swiftly turn up to me "Adaah?" he repeatedly said my name as if he didn't hear me before and I nodded my head in return.

"You may pa"

I drove inside the gate and look back to find the guard looking at me skeptically. I park outside on the other side of the lawn as the place was crowded with cars and made my way inside.

Taking a deep breath the first thing I did was look around for anyone I know.

ADVERTISEMENT

The place was crowded with people but it didn't even take up the whole space as the mansion was really big.

"Adaah?" I swiftly twirl around and find Jay standing there in a corner.

"You're back," he walks my way "and you look amazing" he reaches for my hand and shakes it.

"Thank you...and you look okay" s I just slap myself in my head.

"Did Alpha Matteo know you're here?" I shook my head no and I saw him squint his brow.

'Ahhh so now he's the Alpha,' I thought aside then look back up to Jay again.

"Umm have you seen my parents!" I ask changing the subject

"Nope I don't think they will be here tonight" I furrow my brow.

"I think your mom has gone into" he was cut off by another voice belonging to a female and I find it in my queue to leave.

I continued to look around for my parents in the crowd but I had no luck in it as none of them were there.

'Maybe I should go home' I turn to leave but remember that I have to see Matteo so I stay.

"Adaah" I heard my name and turn to find both of my friends walking towards me with surprise.

They both hug me "oh my you're here and I can't believe it"

"Me too girls I thought you're grounded" I point to Cora

"And you're on vacation" I point to Gia.

"I was grounded for a year but I have to be here tonight since Jem is the beta" Cora slightly laughs

ADVERTISEMENT

"Yeah and I just came back with Ed and was surprised to find out that Matteo" Gia clamp her mouth stopping in midway.

They both exchanged looks with each other with their eyes widened and now they both look at me with worries.

"Oh my Adaah you shouldn't be here tonight?" they both held onto my arms.

I scrunched my brow in confusion "why shouldn't I be here. It's my home and I wanted to surprise my mom and dad here.

Besides I want to see Matteo before I go home tonight" they both gasp and I didn't like the way they look at me.

"Come on Adaah, let's go home to talk, your parents aren't here tonight," Cora tries to convince me but I refuse to go.

“Look we’re both surprised too for tonight but we need to talk at home not here” she looks at me with pleading eyes.

They are sure as hell are hiding something from me.

I look back at Gia who quickly makes a call on her phone.

“What’s going on?” I ask them again

“Addy, we have to get out of here. You will only get hurt, please Addy” they try to drag me by the arm and that is when I saw him.

“Matteo” I whisper pulling away from their arms and watching him in the center getting everyone’s attention.

I slowly walk up to where he is standing. Step by step I nervously went up to him with my hand holding his ring on my neck but his words made me stuck.

My eyes move to his left and found Quinn going up to him with a big smile on her face.

She looks happy as she extends her hand out to him.

‘He lies’ were two words I whisper as I took another three steps back.